BORAH ATTACKS ROOSEVELT IDEA ON U.S. CHANGES

Says Constitution Is Ample for Crises.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—[Special.]—In a radio address broadcast to the country tonight Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], noted authority on the constitution, answered President Roosevelt's proposal of a change in the American form of government to harmonize with the New Deal.

No change in the constitution is required to deal with the problems created by the depression, Senator Borah said. And to prove the dangers of the nationalization scheme advocated by the President the Idaho senator quoted the warning uttered by Mr. Roosevelt when governor of New York that centralization of government would produce government by oligarchy.

Old Powers Still Ample.

"We all appreciate," said Senator Borah, "the serious task devolving upon the general government at this time, but the constitutional powers which have been sufficient to deal with the great emergencies of the past we still enjoy unimpaired. The decision of the Supreme court curtails them in no respect.

"These powers of the national government, under the constitution, are very great—they were designed to be and are equal to all the demands of a powerful nation in distress, if faithfully and patiently employed. They seem to be ample now as they have been at all times to sweep away all obstacles which stand in the way of their constitutional exercise.

"The power to regulate and control interstate commerce is full and complete. It may be that greater care and more patient consideration of measures are required. But the country need not doubt, it seems to me, that the constitutional authority is sufficient to meet the emergency at hand."

Labor Chief for Court Curb.

Contending that industry, since the collapse of NRA, has reverted to exploitation of labor, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, announced that he had called a meeting of that organization's executive committee for June 6 to consider policy. Means of clipping the authority of the Supreme court to declare laws unconstitutional will be a leading subject of consideration.

"The need of the moment," Mr. Green said, "is to reconstruct and repair the damage which has been done as a result of the decision of the Supreme court in so far as it is possible to do so.

"Labor will press for the enactment of the Wagner disputes bill, the thirty hour work week bill, the Guffey coal bill, and social security legislation; but the fundamental principle involved in the decision of the Supreme court is a question which must be and will be considered not only by the American Federation of Labor but by the masses of the people generally. This involves the exercise of the power of the Supreme court to declare unconstitutional laws enacted by congress."

Roosevelt Project Condemned.

The President's nationalization proposal continues the all-absorbing topic of discussion in the capital. For three days there has been heated debate on the question in public and private assemblies, at dinners and cocktail parties, in cloak rooms and locker rooms. The move for a constitutional amendment wiping out state sovereignty has been joined with alacrity by the members of the brain trust and the more ardent New Dealers.

It is being generally condemned as a step toward a dictatorship by the conservatively minded, the angrier of whom accuse the President of encouraging industrial strife, predicting 5 cent cotton and 36 cent wheat, and otherwise rocking the boat with calamity talk for the purpose of precipitating the sort of crisis from which a Fascist government might emerge.

That the President, if he persists in his project of nationalization, will furnish the paramount issue for the presidential election next year is not doubted. He has already furnished a subject for discussion at the "Grass Roots" meeting of Republicans at Springfield next week and for other Republican gatherings seeking to crystallize opposition to the party in power.

Would Realign Political Groups.

The comments of political leaders on Mr. Roosevelt's pronouncement indicate that the issue, if pressed, will work new political alignments. The President would expect to attract to his support union labor, the farmers who favor the AAA, a certain element

DEATH TOLL 125 IN FLOOD AREA OF SIX STATES

Place Property Loss at 17 Millions.

BULLETIN.

Springfield, Colo., June 2.—(AP)—Striking from two directions simultaneously a thick dust storm engulfed southeastern Colorado tonight while residents east of the Rockies counted victims of floods. Louis Morgan, newspaper publisher, called the storm the worst Lamar has seen this spring.

Kansas City, Mo., June 2.—[Special.]—Six western states tonight counted a death toll of 125 from floods and tornadoes which have harassed the area during the last several days.

Property damage throughout the section was estimated in excess of 17 million dollars as rescue crews sent back the first comprehensive reports from the stricken areas.

Nebraska, hardest hit, counted 86 dead and loss estimated at 12 million dollars. Additional reports from the Colorado flood area put the death toll there at nineteen. Wyoming had seven deaths, Texas five, Kansas at least six, and Missouri two.

New Twister in Nebraska.

Late this afternoon another twister struck in Nebraska, this time in the eastern section, near York, but apparently its damage was confined to farm buildings and telegraph wires. Late today a tornado demolished fifteen farm homes and damaged many others at South Haven, Kas. No one was killed.

Meanwhile the flood waters, receding through most of the Nebraska area which late Friday was visited by the twin disasters of tornado and flood, rolled on into north central Kansas.

Three men were drowned near Concordia, Kas., southeast of the Nebraska area, when the flood stalled their car. A fourth man was swept off an embankment to his death near Scandia, Kas., by an eight foot wall of water. Between twelve and sixteen persons are missing. The Republican river valley thereabouts was engulfed by the flood, but most of the populace, forewarned, had fled to the hills.

Farther west in Nebraska, near Ogallala, the South Platte and North Platte rivers started running banksful again, flooding a few homes. Engineers, however, were confident there would be no serious damage.

Rescuers Set to Work.

At dawn today rescue crews set to work in the stricken Nebraska area to count the dead, aid the suffering, and mitigate the possibility of disease in the territory.

Out of their reports came a general picture of the worst catastrophe in the history of the huge river valley. At least 710 families are homeless, Red Cross officials announced after an incomplete survey.

Hundreds of persons still are missing, and Dr. J. W. Willis of McCook, relief work leader, clung to his estimate that the death toll may reach 250. No estimate has been made of the number injured.

200 Mile Flood Zone.

The flood zone extends for 200 miles across the southern section of Nebraska, with fingers of it dipping down into Kansas. Across this area flood torrents raged from a mile to three miles in width, carrying with it men, women, children, homes, and live stock.

Bridges, highways, and railroad tracks were destroyed or damaged at hundreds of places as the floods of the river and its tributaries tore into eleven counties.

Nebraska National Guardsmen, Red Cross workers, U. S. war department motor boats, and airplanes took part in the rescue work today. Many refugees were removed from housetops, trees, and debris left marooned in the flooded area.

Rescue crews late today reached the stranded Burlington train—the Aristocrat—and removed seventy-five passengers to safety. The train had been marooned for two days near Benkelman.

With the start of the flood there Friday afternoon, a tornado struck McCook and the vicinity and tore through four counties.

17 Dead in McCook.

McCook was believed to be hardest hit of the Nebraska area, with 17 persons dead and numerous others missing. Property damage there was estimated in excess of a million dollars. An army flyer who flew over that

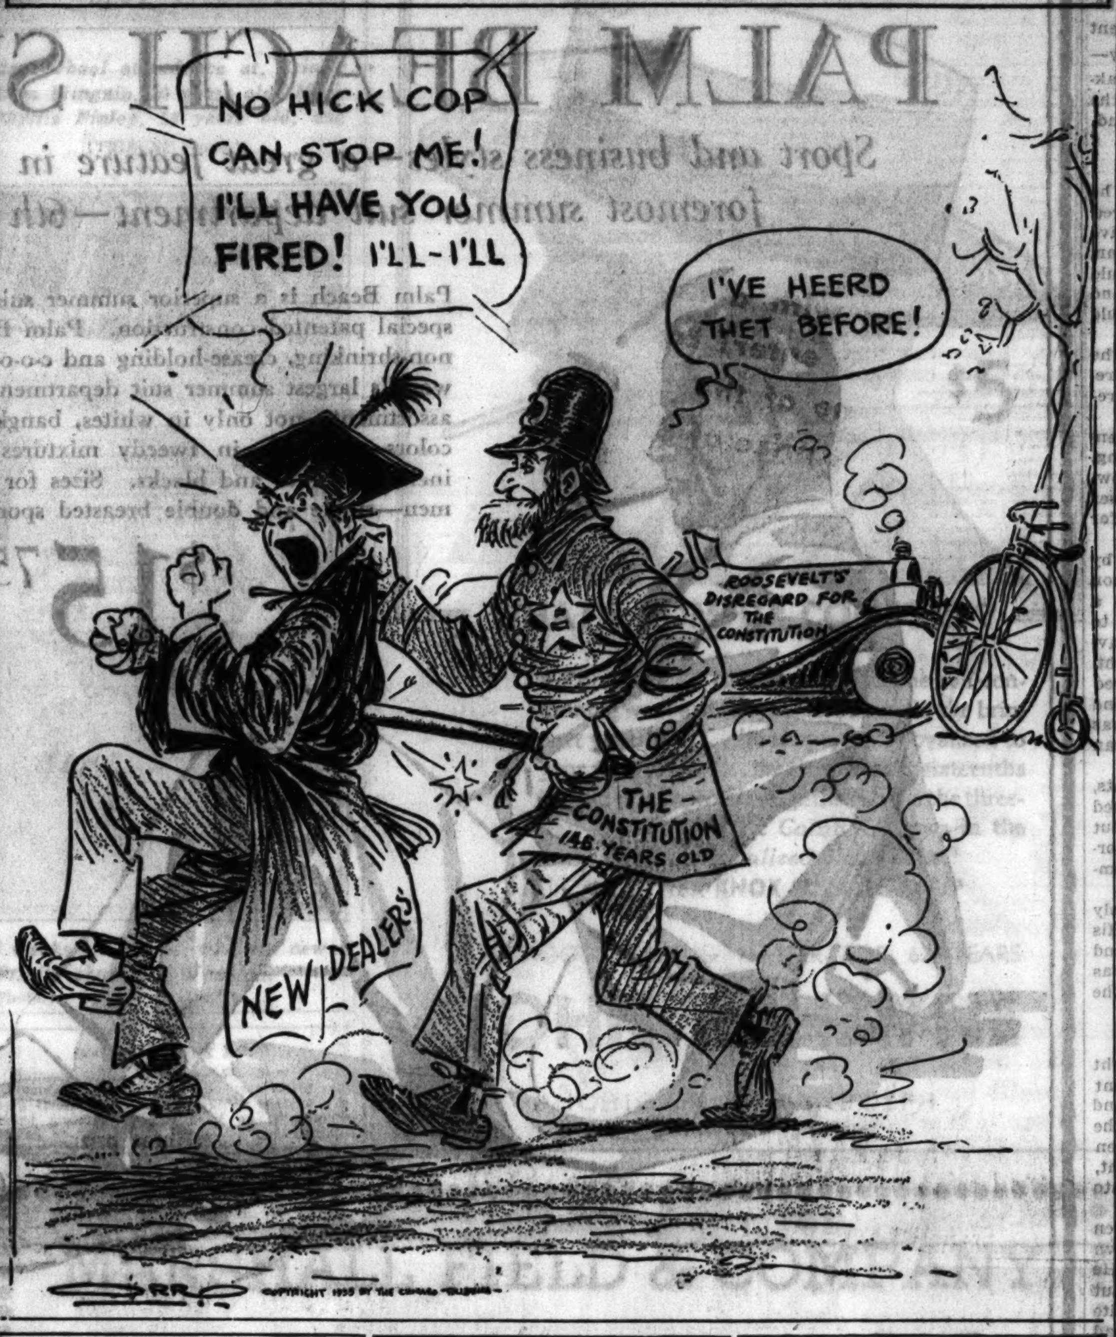
PINCHED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING



Finds His Own Brother Slain in Store Theft

A boy, 17 years old, was shot and killed yesterday when he scuffled with the owner of a grocery over the storekeeper's refusal to sell him a bottle of whisky because it was not yet 1 p. m., the legal opening hour.

While the invader's body lay on the floor of the University Grocery, 1143 East 63d street, a young man pushed his way through the group surrounding the slain boy and identified him as William Coughlin, 7403 Dante avenue. He said the youth had lived in his neighborhood.

Police took the identifier as a witness to the Woodlawn station. There a policeman recognized him, despite a patch above an injured eye, as Charles Coughlin, 23 years old, brother of the shooting victim. The policeman who knew Charles investigated a street shooting last April in which Charles and another man were slightly wounded.

Account of the Shooting.

According to police information, William Coughlin and another young man entered the grocery about 12:40 yesterday and asked Peter Moozikz, one of the owners, for a pint of liquor. When Moozikz protested he could not sell it until 1 o'clock, Coughlin struggled with him while the other customer seized a bottle of whisky from the window display and fled.

Dan Guskos, 28 years old, 6253 Greenwood avenue, co-proprietor of the store, heard the commotion, seized a pistol and ran forward from a rear room. Coughlin, according to the storekeepers, turned on Guskos and hit him with a bottle. Guskos fired five shots. One struck the youth in the back and another in the forehead, killing him.

Doubts Grocers' Identification.

At the Woodlawn station Moozikz and Guskos identified Charles Coughlin as William Coughlin's companion who had fled with the whisky, but Lieut. Arthur Patton believed the grocers mistaken. He pointed out Charles' discolored eye and the adhesive plaster patch of several days' standing on his forehead. The storekeepers noted no such distinguishing marks on the young man who ran away with the whisky. Coughlin produced also an alibi which was corroborated by his father, James, a locomotive engineer for the Illinois Central railroad. Charles was held, however, for further investigation, as were Moozikz and Guskos.

The slain boy had been attending night classes at the Englewood High school. His mother said he was a good boy, but that he had been drinking a lot recently and that he was not at home at all Saturday night.

RATTLESNAKES HELP EVANGELIST TO STIR CROWD DURING PRAYER

St. Charles, Va., June 2.—(AP)—Three big rattlesnakes refused to bite the Rev. George Hensley, holiness revivalist, who says his "faith cure" is healing a previously bitten arm. An excited throng shouted and prayed at his open-air services today.

Today's services were held under a grove of cedar trees, before a crowd estimated at 1,000, at Ramsey. Hensley opened a cage with his right hand, holding his already bitten left hand quietly at his side. He took out three large snakes. He showed they did not bite. The Rev. Oscar Hutton of Wise county, the Rev. Connelly White and Bell Edmonds of Evarts, Ky., Told Lawson and Loyd Scott of St. Charles took the rattlers in their hands. Each snake was carried through the crowd, amid shouting and praying for such "miracles of faith."

None of the snake carriers was bitten and the shouting became tremendous.

One of the snakes was 4½ feet long with eleven rattlers. The other two were three feet long with five rattlers each.

Hensley warned the snake carrying was "very dangerous for spectators and visitors who did not have faith."

WIFE OF O'BRIEN, EXCHANGE CHIEF, CRITICALLY HURT

Mrs. Clara O'Brien, 54 years old, wife of Michael J. O'Brien, 121 Lake avenue, Highland Park, president of the Chicago Stock Exchange, was critically hurt and three other persons were injured last evening in an accident in which four automobiles collided on Mannheim road, half a mile south of Grand avenue. At Oak Park hospital, physicians said internal injuries endangered Mrs. O'Brien's life.

State highway police said the accident occurred when Glenn Jensen, 22 years old, whose home is near the scene of the accident, stopped his southbound car in Mannheim road to make a left turn into his own driveway. Another southbound machine, driven by Mrs. Marion Williams of Chicago Heights, struck Jensen's automobile, the police said. The impact pushed Jensen's car into the lane of northbound trafic, where two northbound machines smashed into it.

One of these, according to police, was the car in which Mrs. O'Brien was riding. It was driven by her son, Hayes, who was not hurt. Mrs. Williams was held on a charge of reckless driving.

President of Uruguay Shot by Political Foe

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, June 2.—(AP)—President Gabriel Terra was fired upon while attending the Maronas race course today and was wounded slightly. Bernardo Garcia, former Nationalist deputy, fired the shot.

The shooting occurred after the races as President Terra and visiting President Getulio Vargas of Brazil were entering the race track buffet for a reception.

An officer charged on Garcia, a leader of the opposition to President Terra, and wounded him in the head with a saber.

Arm Is Jarred.

Witnesses said that although Garcia fired from a distance of only a few paces, the bullet went astray because a bystander struck Garcia's arm. Doctors announced that the bullet only scratched the surface of President Terra's leg.

A number of women, including the wives of the two presidents, screamed as the shot was fired and President Vargas' daughter fainted. The crowd stampeded and almost trampled down the Brazilian president, but police restored order quickly.

Garcia was arrested and hustled away to jail. Officers said he attempted to commit suicide, but that the saber cut prevented him from doing so.

Leaves for Home.

President Terra recovered his calm quickly, proclaimed his wound inconsequental, and departed with his party of guards for his home.

The attempt on Terra's life followed upon a series of incidents marring Vargas' visit and arising from political bitterness resulting from the March, 1933, coup in which Terra dissolved the state council and assumed sole power.

The bitterness has been intensified by a recent attempt at an uprising which was crushed by Terra forces.

IRON LUNG KEEPS GIRL, 11, ALIVE IN SLEEP SICKNESS

Shirley Strattan, 11 years old, became ill of measles on Wednesday in the home of her father, Abram G. Strattan, 1415 Wildwood lane, Highland Park. Strattan is an insurance broker at 1 North La Salle street. On Friday night Shirley's malady developed into encephalitis [sleeping sickness], which affected the brain cells that govern breathing. Now the child is being kept alive in the Evanston hospital by use of a respirator, or "iron lung."

Irked Because He Can't Greet French Liner

Boston, Mass., June 2.—[Special.]—Babe Ruth, baseball's most glamorous star of all time, quit the Boston National league club today and announced that he was retiring voluntarily from the game in which he has made more than a million dollars.

Two hours later Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, announced that he had given Ruth his unconditional release.

Then Ruth, upon learning that he had been fired, decided that he hadn't retired at all, but would take a 60 day vacation before considering any other offers which any other club might force upon him. But he made it clear he is through with the Braves as long as Fuchs has any connection with the club.

That relations between Ruth and the Braves' front office were not of the best has been known for some time. On May 12 Babe threatened to leave the Braves, but Judge Fuchs induced him to remain.

Wants to Welcome Liner.

The latest breach was due to Ruth's request to attend the welcoming celebration aboard the French liner Normandie in New York on Tuesday, but Fuchs informed the Babe that he'd have to stay in Boston.

In announcing the unconditional release of Ruth, Judge Fuchs declared, "I think that it will be the best for both Babe and the Braves."

When told that Fuchs was giving him his unconditional release Ruth exclaimed, "Unconditional? That's great, I was going to ask for it anyway. Getting the release means I'm not going on the voluntarily retired list."

"For the present," continued Ruth, "I'm going to take a 60 day vacation. I'll leave Boston tomorrow morning for New York. Following my vacation, should I receive any offers to continue in baseball, I shall talk them over with the clubs desiring my services."

Take Turns Slinging Mud.

The separation of Ruth and the Braves was attended by considerable name calling on both sides. Ruth referred to Fuchs as a "double-crosser," while Fuchs used the word "imbecile" in announcing Ruth's release.

"Manager Bill McKechnie told me he couldn't have Ruth come and go as he pleased," Fuchs declared; "that he couldn't expect to have any discipline on the team under those conditions. You notice that as soon as Ruth made his announcement the Braves returned to their old form and started winning.

"I never had any trouble with Ruth until I turned down his request to go to New York to help welcome the Normandie. Nobody but an imbecile would act as Ruth did under those circumstances."

Can Play with Haverhill.

Ruth said tonight he would be willing to play an exhibition game in Haverhill, Mass., tomorrow, but Fuchs ruled this out.

"We'll get along without him. He's not a member of the club now. If he doesn't want to disappoint the fans at Haverhill, let him go up there and

SEARCH PUSHED IN BAD LANDS ON OREGON BORDER

Fear Abductors in Mystery Plane.

Seize Karpis Gangster

A mysterious prisoner rushed out of Chicago last night by department of justice agents in a chartered airplane was recognized at the airport as Volney Davis, exconvict pal of Alvin Karpis. The destination of the plane was kept secret, but it was believed bound for St. Paul, where Davis is under indictment as one of the actual kidnapers of Edward G. Bremer, millionaire banker. There were reports, however, that the prisoner was being taken to Kansas City. Five members of the Karpis gang were convicted of the $200,000 kidnaping there last week. Karpis, under indictment in the case, is being sought also for the $200,000 abduction of George Weyerhaeuser, boy heir to a Tacoma, Wash., lumber fortune. Davis, also wanted in the Tacoma case, was reported to have been captured here Friday. This would seem to eliminate him as a Weyerhaeuser suspect. Details on page 2.

Pendleton, Ore., June 2.—(AP)—A motor car load of hard riding suspects in the George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping apparently slipped through the guard lines of a formidable police army in Oregon's bad lands today, but the great man hunt continued with an ever widening scope.

Squads of state police and deputy sherifs searched the area all day, but returned to Pendleton tonight, reporting the sedan that thundered across the border from Washington last night apparently had eluded them.

This morning a mysterious car raced through Holdman, in the bad lands area north of here, and was followed about twenty minutes later by six automobile loads of heavily armed officers while a mysterious airplane droned overhead.

Naval Planes in Air.

The Holdman car turned out to be one on duty in the hunt. The airplane was not identified, but it became known that naval planes from the Sand Point station in Washington had been cruising over the area on a separate mission.

Previously it was reported the kidnaping gang might seek to escape by air with their $200,000 ransom. Oregon police disclosed they had been watching an airplane once reputedly owned by Jack [Legs] Diamond, late New York gangster. It was said the plane had been moved into Oregon recently from Los Angeles.

State Police Sergeant B. J. Staats said:

"From all indications I believe it entirely possible we were after the right men. But I am almost convinced they did not stop in the hill country, but went on through Pasco or Walla Walla [in Washington].

More Police Are Called.

Staats said additional state police were being brought northward from La Grande, to continue patroling the 1,500 square mile suspected area.

It was in the same area that William Edward Hickman, kidnap murderer of Marian Parker of Los Angeles in 1927, was trapped and taken back to California to hang.

Highways of Oregon and Washington still were watched by armies of police and sherifs.

Federal agents continued work on the case. One of their moves was the broadcasting of descriptions of three suspects over the California state police teletype "purely as a precautionary measure." Plans were disclosed to broadcast serial numbers of the ransom money.

The manner in which the suspected automobile outran Oregon officers and then got away when the officers had begun to think they had it bottled up was unusual.

Enter State at Umatilla.

The car, a big tan sedan supposedly containing five of six men, dashed into the state near Umatilla.

A sherif's patrol car gave chase. The sherifs speeded up their car to 91 miles an hour, but the mysterious machine outdistanced them so fast that the officers didn't get the license number nor any view of the occupants.

"I cannot imagine any men of the type we were led to believe we were seeking staying holed up for any length of time in this county," said Sherif Bob Goad of Umatilla county.

"If they were the kidnapers I believe they have managed in some way to slip out to other points," he said, "probably during the placing of our dragnet immediately after the car was spotted yesterday."

The sherif added: "We are very eager to find whoever was in that car!"

Tonight, as last night, all main highways bounding the wasteland area, were patroled by police, despite the suggestion the suspects already had slipped outside the district.

Sherif Goad said he did not consider it "feasible or necessary to obtain an airplane survey of the rugged country."

It was regarded as certain that in the vicinity of Cold Springs, the tan automobile was headed southward into as wild and rugged a type of country as there is in Oregon. Although main highways are few in that region, there are innumerable sideroads and trails.

There would have been adequate opportunity, too, for the kidnapers to have escaped by plane should they have made that arrangement and planned a rendezvous in the desert country. Shortly after midnight a plane, not on regular schedule and still unidentified, passed over Pendleton from the northwest.

Six Men in Gang.

The army of official searchers had many clews, and an endless stream of reports on which to work as they sought the snatchers.

First was the statement of 9 year old George, that six men belonged to the gang which seized him May 24 as he walked homeward at noon from his school.

Three of the men called each other "Harry, Bill, and Alvin—who must be that fellow Karpis," George said, adding his belief to a widespread unofficial feeling that the notorious midwest kidnap gang was involved.

A second important fact on which the justice department agents were known to be working was the $200,000 fund, a huge stack of federal reserve currency in $20, $10, and $5 bills.

It was known federal operatives have prepared a list of the serial numbers on these bills, a job which kept a large staf at work in Washington, D. C.

Then there was the ransom note received by George's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weyerhaeuser Jr. of the wealthy Tacoma and St. Paul lumber family. It was a typewritten message setting forth the gang's demand for $200,000 and outlining procedure for the family to follow in announcing its readiness to pay the money.

Federal Agents Start Search.

With return of the boy to the arms of his parents yesterday morning, the government men for the first time came in the open in their investigations. At their headquarters, in a downtown office building, agents came and reported only to leave a few minutes later to investigate another angle of the case. Telephones rang incessantly as the agents set about solving the country's latest major crime.

George Weyerhaeuser was kidnaped on a Tacoma street as he walked home from school for lunch.

Most of the time he was carted around the state, George said, he was kept in a trunk containing air holes.

JOY IS SHOWN BY FAMILY OF KIDNAPED BOY

Normal Life Is Resumed by Weyerhaeusers.

Tacoma, Wash., June 2.—(AP)—The home from which plucky little George Weyerhaeuser was missing for a week in the hands of kidnapers today underwent a metamorphosis.

Window shades, down for a week, were raised and curtains drawn back to allow sunlight to enter. Gone was the feeling of despair and suspense that had gripped all activities for the seven days George was held captive before his release yesterday.

There was no one peeking from behind curtains today—the family went about its normal activities casually—even a bit joyfully. They had breakfast together, grouped around the table, with George, sitting at one end, the center of interest.

Children's Laughter Heard.

He tossed his curly head as he talked, and occasionally he gestured after the manner of a thoroughly alive 9 year old. The other children, Ann, 13; Phillip, 10, and Elizabeth, 2, could be seen playing about the house and at times their childish laughter could be heard outside.

The pluck of young George was the talk of Tacoma today as general rejoicing was expressed for his safe return.

In several churches, pastors mentioned his return with thanksgiving. There was little mention made, however, that the wealthy Weyerhaeuser lumber family had paid $200,000 for release of the boy.

There was nothing to indicate by George's actions yesterday afternoon or today that he had been kept a closely guarded prisoner, forced to ride in a trunk when the gang traveled and to sleep in a closet at night.

Yesterday, when the family allowed him to go out in the garden behind the house to be photographed, he was every inch a happy, well, American boy.

With hands in his trousers pockets, he swaggered just a little as he walked before the battery of cameramen. But there was no appearance of importance in his manner—just boyish embarrassment at so much attention.

One of his stockings hung loosely with wrinkles around his ankles. His sturdy body, flashing dark eyes, and outdoor complexion were proof he was a boy who, in the parlance of the street, could "take it."

Obeys Camera Men's Requests.

He squinted his eyes as the sunlight fell on his face, shining from a recent scrubbing. He smiled, waved and turned from one side to another as the camera men instructed, and then, when a friend of the family said, "All right, George," he walked calmly back into the house.

While the crowd of newspaper men and women still milled about the lawn he came out on the back porch. He gave none of them even a glance, but went directly to the cage of white mice, there, to see how his pets had survived the week he was unable to care for them—that, now, was something really important.

VOLNEY DAVIS, KARPIS' OUTLAW PAL, CAPTURED

Volney Davis, ex-convict, lieutenant of Alvin Karpis and indicted with him in the $200,000 Bremer kidnaping, is believed to be the mysterious prisoner who was hustled out of Chicago by airplane yesterday under a heavy guard of department of justice agents.

The destination of the plane, a specially chartered ship, was kept secret, but it was reported to be bound for St. Paul, where Davis is wanted for trial as one of the actual kidnapers of Edward G. Bremer, millionaire banker. There were reports, however, that the prisoner was being taken to Kansas City.

Five other members of the Karpis gang were convicted of complicity in the kidnaping by a federal court jury in St. Paul two weeks ago. Karpis, the gang chief, is still at large and is being hunted as a suspect in the $200,000 kidnaping of George Weyerhaeuser, boy heir to a lumber fortune at Tacoma, Wash.

Blow to Tacoma Theory.

Volney Davis was also identified tentatively as one of the Weyerhaeuser kidnapers, but his capture here would tend to eliminate him as a suspect.

Melvin Purvis, local head of the department of justice operatives, made the customary refusal to "either affirm or deny" that Davis, who escaped federal custody in a spectacular break at Yorkville, Ill., last February, has been retaken.

However, newspaper men at the Municipal airport identified the slight, nattily dressed prisoner as the hoodlum Davis.

Indications were that Davis was captured by government men last Friday near the corner of Thomas street and Waller avenue, in a carefully laid trap.

On that day Austin police received a report of a shooting at that corner. When they arrived they found only a crowd of spectators, who told them the story of what had happened.

A man, riding in a coupe bearing Georgia license plates, pulled up at the corner, and alighted from the machine. In a moment, witnesses said, some seven men leaped from places of concealment. Their quarry started to run but a single shot in the air brought him to a halt. He was then driven away by his captors in the automobile which he had been driving.

Excitement At U. S. Offices.

There was a considerable flurry of excitement yesterday on the nineteenth floor of the Bankers' building, where the department of justice offices are located.

Volney Davis gained his first notoriety in 1923, when he was sentenced to the Oklahoma state prison for murder, where, it is believed, he first met Karpis. Davis escaped from the prison in 1925, but was recaptured.

On Nov. 3, 1932, he was granted a "leave of absence" until July 1, 1933. This was extended an additional year, and since that time he has been listed as a fugitive.

Davis was captured early in February in Kansas City, and was being brought to Chicago by airplane. Near Yorkville the plane was forced down, and Davis and his captors went to the Hotel Nading.

While one of the agents was phoning, Davis persuaded the other to buy him a glass of beer. The prisoner then dashed the beer into his guard's face, leaped from a window and escaped.

O'LEARY FACES COURT TODAY IN DILLINGER PLOT

Arthur O'Leary, former investigator for Attorney Louis Piquett, and Dr. Harold Bernard Cassidy, both of whom were witnesses for the government in Piquett's trial for harboring John Dillinger, will appear for sentence today in the court of Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward. Both pleaded guilty to hiding and aiding the former public enemy. Piquett was acquitted by a jury. It is expected that the two men will again testify against Piquett when he is tried on a charge of harboring Homer Van Meter, slain Dillinger lieutenant.

TRAFIC CRASHES KILL 7 IN COUNTY OVER WEEK-END

Hit-Run Driver Hunted in One Fatality.

Automobile accidents claimed eight lives in Cook county yesterday, seven of them in crashes over the week-end, bringing the 1935 trafic toll for the county to 382. Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 308 persons had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits and 6,373 had been injured.

George Rogaz, 47 years old, of 1316 West Division street, was killed by a hit and run automobile in front of 1314 West Division street. Witnesses said that the death car, a yellow coupe, contained two men and two women. Rogaz was identified by a brother-in-law, Thomas Zbiegien, 1418 Cornell street.

Mrs. Sarah Hess, 48 years old, 5540 North Artesian avenue, was killed yesterday morning when her husband, Oscar Hess, foreman of a local freight division of the Pennsylvania railroad, lost control of his automobile and it crashed into a trolley pole at Crawford and Foster avenues. Hess was slightly injured.

Hold Driver for Inquest.

John Eschenback, 51 years old, died in the Frances Willard Memorial hospital yesterday of a fracture of the skull incurred Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile as he crossed the street in front of his home at 704 South Cicero avenue.

The Fillmore street police are holding Michael Pulvino, 5718 West 63d street, driver of the car, for the inquest to be held today.

John Majewski, 24 years old, 2218 North Lockwood avenue, was killed yesterday when the automobile in which he was riding collided with another at Waveland and Albany avenues. Stanley Ogorek, 26 years old, 5225 School street, driver of the car in which Majewski was riding, and Raymond Bergbreiger, 24 years old, 4342 North Francisco avenue, were slightly injured.

Dies of Injuries.

Joshua Mason, 68 years old, 2846 North Spaulding avenue, died yesterday at the County hospital of injuries incurred Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile driven by Louis Butkiewiecz, 3528 Scott street, Franklin Park. Butkiewiecz was not held by the police when he said Mason walked from behind a car parked at the curb in front of Mason's home and stepped directly in front of his car.

An unidentified, poorly dressed man about 60 years old was killed yesterday morning by the automobile of a hit and run driver that struck him as he was crossing Lake Shore drive at Ohio street while he was on his way to the lake to fish.

Leo H. Jewell, 23 years old, Apple River, Ill., was held by the state highway police yesterday after his automobile collided with another at Elmhurst road and Touhy avenue, Des Plaines, resulting in the death of William B. Faulkner, 35 years old, 2540 West 58th street, a gasoline station attendant, and the injury of five others, including himself.

The others injured, none seriously, are Mrs. Faulkner, widow of the man killed; L. I. Van Antwerp, 31 years old, 2941 South Artesian avenue; Miss Mary De Lire, 23 years old; and Miss Helen Scace, 22 years old, both of Warren, Ill. The latter two were riding with Jewell.

Dies in Head-On Crash.

Fletcher Stabely, 22 years old, 233 Prairie avenue, Highwood, was killed yesterday when the car he was driving and another automobile going in the opposite direction in route 59-A, crashed one mile south of Mundelein in Lake county. William Summers, 19 years old, 239 Evalition street, Highwood, riding with Stabely, was injured.

Eric H. Strand, 31 years old, 2954 Elston avenue, Chicago, driver of the other car, his wife, Ruth, 29 years old, August Ohlberg, 55 years old, and Folke Ullenius, all of the Elston avenue address, also were injured, but not seriously. Stabely's car turned over twice.

Injured Woman Dies.

Mrs. Mary Keyser, 73 years old, 1717 North New England avenue, died yesterday in the West Suburban hospital of injuries incurred April 12, when she was struck by an automobile driven by William C. Matzdorf, 39 years, 5243 Ludlam avenue, at North Kedzie and Lawrence avenues.

Matzdorf, a beauty shop operator, was notified by the Albany Park police to appear at the inquest today at the Hartman undertaking rooms, 3021 Lawrence avenue.

R. H. Bieze, 10953 South Park avenue, secretary and treasurer of the Yellow Cab company, and his wife, Jane, were shaken up and three other persons were injured last evening when two cars crashed head on at 190th street and Regal road. The accident occurred when the machine Bieze was driving collided with another car which was passing a motor truck.

Ten Per Cent of Roll

With seven sets of twins in his congregation, the Rev. F. M. Millett, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, Wheaton, claimed a record yesterday among the parishes of his church. Twins constitute ten per cent of the membership of the church's Sunday school. John and Jacqueline Williams, six weeks old, the newest twins in the congregation, are the children of Mr. and Mrs. William Williams. Mr. Williams is tenor soloist in the church choir.

SAFE CRACKERS GET $2,500 FROM STORE IN LOOP

Burglars who cut through the ceiling, then dynamited the safe, escaped with about $2,500 in currency last night from the Baileys, Inc., army goods store at 25 West Van Buren street. The cracksmen apparently gained entrance to a vacant room above the store, and police found a hole about three feet in diameter cut through to the army goods establishment. Frank Grosberg, 401 Fullerton parkway, owner of the store, estimated the loss.

FAMILY OUTING ENDS IN TRAGIC DEATH OF BABY

Anton Konecny, his wife, Anna, and their three young daughters left their home at 2413 Kirkland avenue yesterday in the family car for a Sunday's outing.

With a picnic lunch, and all the equipment for such an affair, they drove to the forest preserve district in the vicinity of Mannheim and Joliet roads.

For several hours the children played about under the trees, ate their lunches, then all decided to go home. Baskets and coats were piled in the car, and Konecny backed the car out to reach the road. He had gone only a short distance when he suddenly said:

"Where is the baby?"

He meant the youngest daughter, Florence, 16 months old. She wasn't in the car. Konecny halted the machine and got out. He saw Florence lying in a puddle of mud.

The wheels of the car had passed over her. She was pronounced dead when they reached the Berwyn hospital.

MOTHER AND TWO SONS DIE UNDER PASSENGER TRAIN

Mrs. Gertrude Patton LaVoe, 31 years old, 444 Indiana avenue, Hammond, and her two sons, George, 10 months old and Lloyd, 4 years old, were killed yesterday when they were struck by a Chicago bound Michigan Central passenger train at Oakley street and Hohman avenue in Hammond. The mother was leading the older boy and carrying her infant son when she arrived at the crossing, witnesses said. She waited while an east bound freight train passed and then crossed behind it to step into the path of the passenger train.

SWEITZER FACES OUSTER UNLESS HE PAYS TODAY

Courtney Armed with Quo Warranto Law.

State's Attorney Courtney and his assistants who were assigned "to take proper action" regarding the $414,129 shortage in the accounts of Robert M. Sweitzer as county clerk, indicated yesterday that quo warranto proceedings might be instituted to remove Sweitzer from his present office of county treasurer unless the money is paid back today.

Today is the deadline set by county officials for Sweitzer to comply with the demand of County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, but there were reports that Sweitzer would seek more time. Mr. Sweitzer himself refused to say yesterday what he would do today, but he reiterated his assertion: "Everything will be all right," and added that he was not looking for any loopholes.

Spend Week Studying Law.

Assistant State's Attorneys Hayden Bell and Leslie Salter were looking up the law all last week on Sweitzer's obligations to the county after twenty-four years of service as county clerk. It was learned they had studied decisions in quo warranto cases through which public officials have been ousted from office.

While Mr. Courtney declined to reveal his plans he declared everything would depend on Sweitzer's answer today to the demand of Mr. Flynn. The county board last Monday granted a request by Sweitzer that he be given time to have his own accountants go over the report of the firm of R. L. Pearce & Co., employed by Flynn. Sweitzer was directed to return today for a showdown.

When he does so, Mr. Courtney said, county officials will be in a position "to take proper action."

Illinois Statutes Cited.

The laws, as they appear in the statute books, pertaining to Sweitzer's rights and obligations, were cited. Section 108 of chapter 120, Smith-Hurd revised statutes, contains this paragraph:

"The county clerk shall, at the expiration of his term of office, pay over to his successor in office all moneys in his hands received for redemption from sale for taxes on real estate. [As amended by act approved May 3, 1873.]"

Section 4 of article 4 of the Illinois constitution of 1870 reads:

"No person . . . who has been or may be a collector or holder of public moneys, who shall not have accounted for and paid over, according to law, all such moneys due from him, shall be eligible to the general assembly, or to any office of profit or trust in this state."

The Law on Quo Warranto.

Section 1 of chapter 112 contains the following:

"In case any person shall . . . unlawfully hold or execute any office . . . or any public officer shall have done or suffered any act which by the provisions of law, works a forfeiture of his office . . . the attorney general or state's attorney of the proper county . . . may present a petition to any court of record . . . for leave to file an information in the nature of a quo warranto. . . ."

Section 128 of chapter 46 declares that an elective office may become vacant by the removal of the elected official from office or through his failure to give or renew his official bond, and it provides that such an office may be filled by the proper authority, "court or county board."

Release of Surety.

Section 10 of chapter 103 provides that a surety company may be released from a bond given in behalf of any state or county officer by giving notice in writing, and that if such officer "shall not within ten days after receiving such notice, or within a further time, not exceeding twenty days, as the court, officer board shall allow, give a new bond with sufficient security, approved as required by law, his office shall become vacant, and the vacancy shall be filled as provided by law."

The prosecutor's office declared that quo warranto proceedings require the holder of an office to show by what right or warant he holds office, and provide summary means under the statutes quoted above for the removal of an official from his office.

Thinks Ample Time Given.

Mr. Courtney believes, it was said, that Sweitzer has had sufficient time for any reasonable inspection of the Pearce audit and to make known any objections he has to its findings, and that all there is left for Sweitzer to do is pay or refuse to pay and set forth his reasons for any refusal.

The nineteen surety companies that are now on Sweitzer's $3,000,000 bond as county treasurer are expected to have representatives at today's proceedings before the county board, and his surety as county clerk will be represented. In the event of the withdrawal of any of the nineteen companies Sweitzer would be under the necessity of furnishing other surety or facing automatic removal from office, the officials asserted.

NIGHT FLYING TERROR ATTACKS YOUNG COUPLE

A vicious night flying bird swooped down on a Lake Bluff couple last evening as they strolled at Mountain avenue and Sunrise road in the north shore community.

The feathered raider left deep talon marks on the head and neck of Morris Wright, 22 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Wright of 550 Center avenue, Lake Bluff. Wright and his companion, Miss Fern Tittle, 714 Prospect avenue, fought off the bird and fled to safety.

The couple were walking under a large tree at about 9 p. m. at the head of a ravine, 50 feet above the lake, when there was a whirr of wings and the bird struck Wright on the head from above. He flailed the air with his arms, but the bird raked him twice more.

Wright said he and his companion were so flabbergasted by the attack that their impressions of the bird, dimly seen in the dark, were hazy, but they judged it had a wing spread of about two feet.

His neighbors figured that the bird, being able to see and launch its attack in the dark, probably was an owl which they had disturbed.

The young man said he would visit the scene in daylight and seek a solution of the mystery.

McClelland Barclay's Ex-Wife Wed in 1934

Hollywood, Cal., June 2.—(AP)—Helene Barclay, former wife of McClelland Barclay, artist, and Gregg Toland, motion picture cameraman, today claimed something of a record for secret marriages in this movie capital. Mrs. Barclay revealed that she and Toland were married at Santa Fe, N. M., Sept. 23, 1934.

LICENSE VANISHES WHILE GUESTS WAIT, BUT THERE'S WEDDING

Pasadena, Cal., June 2.—(AP)—The fashionably attired wedding guests were assembling in All Saints' Episcopal church, but the bridegroom was in his room on his hands and knees hunting—not for the traditionally lost wedding ring—but for the marriage license. The bridegroom, Robert D. Fletcher, 23, American Airways weather forecaster, has been living in a dormitory of the California Institute of Technology, leading to the suspicion that a college prankster was to blame. Just when it seemed the wedding must wait a duplicate license was obtained and Fletcher was married to Miss Elsie Walker. Today they were honeymooning.

FIRE DESTROYS RAILROAD DOCKS; LOSS IS $750,000

Erie, Pa., June 2.—(AP)—A raging fire, which firemen said may have been of incendiary origin, tonight destroyed two Pennsylvania railroad docks and ninety loaded box cars. The loss was estimated at $750,000.

All equipment and tracks adjacent to the loading docks also were lost, but after a four hour fight firemen were able to save cargoes of nearby docks.

One man was arrested by Police Chief George J. Christoph and an investigation was started by the chief, District Attorney Mortimer E. Graham, and Pennsylvania railroad police.

Included in the lost cargoes were forty-six cars of soap, valued at $140,000, twelve cars of canned beans, and thirty cars of miscellaneous freight.

THERE'S NO MYSTERY NOW About Keeping Your Hair

No tonics, oils or heat . . . but thorough scientific circulatory massage. Hundreds of tiny, fingerlike cushions stimulate action of blood stream within the scalp.

You relax on a comfortable lounge. Treatments are given by expert attendants in complete privacy.

The health and thickness of your hair depend upon one simple fact . . . within the scalp are the roots and glands that control the appearance of your hair.

Let them dry up, choke or starve, and your hair will gradually disappear. Keep them healthy, and nature will do the rest . . . and that is exactly what the Gro-Flex Treatments do.

Gro-Flex goes straight to the cause of most baldness. It works deep down into the scalp . . . clearing the pores of dried skin and other obstructions. Stimulating the vital glands that feed the hair. In a sensible, logical way, the conditions that actually control hair health are corrected and a thick, luxuriant growth of hair normally returns.

You will enjoy the Gro-Flex Treatments. They are based on an entirely new principle of thorough, gentle mechanical massage. No heat, oils or liquids are necessary. Little time is required.

Visit a Gro-Flex Shop today for a demonstration. Get the facts about the low cost of scientific hair promotion. See how easily your own hair can regain its former vigor.

BIDWILL PROTEST MEETING TONIGHT ON NORTH SHORE

C. Wayland Brooks Will Talk in Winnetka.

BY PARKE BROWN.

North shore suburbs tonight will swell the rising chorus of protest against the Democratic ouster of Arthur J. Bidwill, Republican, as state senator from the Seventh district.

At a meeting in the Winnetka community house at 8 o'clock, C. Wayland Brooks, former ace prosecutor, will present once more the case for the people against the Democratic majority at Springfield which last month unseated Bidwill without going into the evidence concerning his election.

Brooks, an attorney, known as a powerful speaker, is expected to rip into the systematic propaganda of the Patrick A. Nash machine leaders in which they present claims to the public that a senate subcommittee of the senate committee on elections heard all the evidence before acting in the Bidwill case.

Recounts Steam Roller Technique.

The Democratic defense now being circulated by a powerful organization is that the subcommittee examined all the tallysheets of all the 300 precincts in the Seventh district and established errors that showed that Charles F. Baumrucker defeated Bidwill.

John F. Tyrrell, attorney for Bidwill, charges that such statements are gross distortions of the facts. He says that the subcommittee looked at a few tally sheets in a few precincts—usually one tally sheet instead of two—which were submitted in Baumrucker's behalf. These, he said, did show errors, the correction of which gave Baumrucker a lead over Bidwill.

But, he adds, when he offered to submit many other tally sheets where the process of correction would have benefited Bidwill, the Democratic senators refused to look at them. He also demanded that the subcommittee seek the best evidence of the vote by recounting the ballots themselves. And this the Democratic senators refused to consider.

Resent Dictatorial Methods.

The meeting tonight was called by the Tenth [Congressional] District Young Men's club, of which Ervin D. Hintzpeter is chairman.

"Residents of the north shore as well as other parts of the district," said Hintzpeter, "irrespective of their political affiliations, are incensed at the dictatorial manner in which they have been deprived of their right to choose their own representatives."

Among those invited to attend are Representative Berenice T. Van Der Vries, Representative Frank E. Foster, County Commissioners William Busse, H. Wallace Caldwell, and William N. Erickson, Judges Oscar Hebel and William V. Brothers, and the presidents of villages in New Trier, Northfield, and Niles townships.

CRASH FATAL TO YOUTH.

DIVORCES GILBERT

Virginia Bruce, screen actress and fourth wife of John Gilbert, who Saturday obtained a final decree of divorce from the filmland matinee idol.

IGOE SEEKS NEW OFFICE FOR STAF AS PROSECUTOR

Michael L. Igoe, who becomes United States district attorney today, succeeding Dwight H. Green, a Republican holdover, said yesterday he had no plans to announce nor program of prosecutions to discuss. Igoe said he would enter upon his new duties with a clean slate and all his future actions would be with a proper regard for his oath of office, his responsibility to the government and his obligation to the citizenry.

The new prosecutor said he would seek new quarters for himself and his staf, as the present suite of offices in the United States courthouse is inadequate. He will also make a survey of the staf personnel, but has no one now in mind to be his first assistant.

JOHN GILBERT'S FOURTH WIFE GETS DIVORCE

Los Angeles, Cal., June 2.—(AP)—John Gilbert, film actor, for the fourth time was free of marital ties today.

Virginia Bruce, screen actress, court records showed, has just obtained her final decree of divorce. She charged cruelty. She recently was quoted as saying her marriage and divorce would aid her career.

Superior Judge Dudley S. Valentine approved a property settlement giving her $92.31 a week alimony for three years and $150 a month for the support of her daughter, Susan Gilbert, now 21 months old, until she reaches her majority. Gilbert had paid these obligations in a sum of $42,500, the decree showed.

Gilbert and Miss Bruce were married Aug. 10, 1932. Soon after their separation a little more than a year ago, she returned to film work and has been featured several times since.

Gilbert has appeared little in pictures since the advent of the talkies.

His third wife was Ina Claire, actress. In 1929 they eloped by airplane to Las Vegas, Nev. They were divorced in 1931.

His second wife was Leatrice Joy, early film star. Married in 1923, they were divorced two years later. She married again.

Gilbert's first wife, married in 1922, was Olivia Burwell. She was neither a stage nor screen star. They were divorced the same year.

SHOOTS DRINKING PARTY GUEST.

Casimir Radzwics, 45 years old, 1921 Blue Island avenue, was shot and wounded in the arm by Peter Evnonoff, 45 years old, 1811 South Ashland avenue, in a quarrel during a drinking party yesterday morning in Evnonoff's home. Both were arrested.

DEATH TOLL 125 IN FLOOD AREA OF SIX STATES

area yesterday estimated its fatalities alone would reach 50. He planned another flight, dropping notes to request stranded refugees to paint the figures of the known dead on large panels so an accurate check would be possible.

The flyer, Lieut. Arthur Strunk of Fort Crook, said Cambridge also was "badly hit," and that at Trenton, where rain, flood, and tornado came on the heels of a dust storm, the dead probably would be 18.

Death Lists Prepared.

The death toll at Benkelman was placed at 17 by County Attorney Victor Westermark, who reached McCook by plane. Death lists also were being prepared at Miller, Stratton, Orleans, Holdrege, Franklin, Curtis, Max, Parks, Alma, and Trenton.

Food for the territory was a pressing problem, as rail communications and telephone and telegraph lines generally were unrestored. Observers expressed the opinion, however, that McCook stores has sufficient canned goods for its own immediate needs.

A cruel trick of nature in sending a surging flood through the region that last year was a "primary" drouth area was believed responsible for many cases of dead and missing.

Warnings of the impending flood were reported to have been disregarded by many who did not believe the Republican river, which last year dried up to creek size, could attain the latitude of a Mississippi.

FLOOD DEATH STORIES

Benkelman, Neb., June 2.—(AP)—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pettit and their six children were recovered from the attic of their wrecked home on the banks of the Republican river six miles west of here late yesterday.

The house collapsed and fell into the torrent while rescuers were working frantically to release the imprisoned Pettits. Rescuers later said that ten minutes more would have sufficed to save the family.

The building tipped into the water and disappeared from sight. When the waters receded, the house was found in a deep hole washed by the current.

Aged Couple Rescued.

An aged couple named Ferguson was rescued from an island south of Benkelman yesterday. They had drifted 12 miles down the South Fork river on the roof of a house. The roof finally lodged in trees near the shore.

An aged man was picked from a precarious perch in a treetop yesterday, where he had clung since 6 o'clock Friday morning.

Another couple, named Faler, together with a son and daughter, who lived along the south fork of the Republican river, disappeared with the wreckage of their home Friday morning and have not been heard from.

A boy named Courtwright, 15, was drowned when the filling station he operated, about 5 miles south of here, was washed away. Eli Courtwright, an uncle, also is missing.

The 4 year old daughter of Archie Burke of Parks was drowned Friday when the family tried to flee their doomed home.

Flood Remakes Terrain.

The widest stretch of the flood waters was at Benkelman, where the north and south forks of the Republican river together with Bigtimer creek made an inundated area five miles wide.

A party from Kansas crossed the river and reached here today. It reported vast amounts of wreckage along the south fork, including many homes, much household furniture and dead livestock.

Complete new channels were cut through meadows by the river, and sand covers the grass from six inches to a foot in depth.

FLOOD AND TORNADO'S PATHWAY OF DEATH

Aerial view of raging waters of the Republican river near Arapahoe, Neb., in flood and tornado swept area centering at McCook. Two men were rescued from mill in the forground after being marooned for hours. Relief officials have estimated that more than 100 persons have perished in six states scourged by the torrents. Fumes of Wine Arrive Before W.C.T.U. Building

Yonkers, N. Y., June 2.—(AP)—Wine flowed freely in front of the Women's Christian Temperance union headquarters today.

A truck loaded with 450 gallons stalled on a steep grade before the building, rolled backward, hit the curb and overturned. Many of the glass containers were shattered.

Lloyd Larson of 1201 Jackson boulevard, Chicago, the owner and driver, was imprisoned in the cab until the truck was righted but escaped injury.

ESTIMATE 40,000 MET DEATHS IN INDIAN QUAKES

SIMLA, India, June 3 [Monday].—(AP)—The roll of death throughout the Indian area afflicted by earthquakes rose today to an unofficial estimate of 40,000 victims.

The unofficial compilation of total deaths, made at this mountain town and summer capital of India, included 26,000 at Quetta, where the shocks were continuing. Military authorities threw a guard around the city, fearing an outbreak of disease.

Volcano Erupts.

LONDON, June 3.—[Monday.]—(AP)—A Daily Mail dispatch from Quetta said today a volcano eruption 40 miles from Quetta, simultaneous with earthquakes which left the "garden city of India" in ruins, is believed to have taken an additional toll of hundreds of lives.

Amelia Earhart Makes Her First Parachute Jump

Prospertown, N. J., June 2.—(AP)—Amelia Earhart made her first parachute jump here today, in a device which naval and department of commerce officials said would be valuable for student instruction. The famous woman flyer was raised to the top of a 115 foot tower and made the descent in a parachute which had been held open, guided to the ground by cables.

FALL ON STREET FATAL.

40 MAROONED ON TRAIN IN FLOOD REACH CHICAGO

Forty persons, marooned in the flood area of western Nebraska when a Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad train was held at Benkelman, Neb., finally arrived in Chicago last night. The train left Denver last Thursday and was due here on Friday. All the passengers were in good health and spirits and regarded their experience as a lark.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hoek, Hollanders on their way to Amsterdam from the Dutch East Indies, with their boy, 4½ years old, who had never seen his native land, said the only thing that bothered them was the necessity of using candles when the electric power gave out on the train.

After staying in Benkelman for about twenty-four hours, with the tracks washed out both in front and behind them, the passengers were taken by bus to Ogallala, Neb.; by Union Pacific railroad to Omaha, and from Omaha to Chicago on the Burlington.

Many Die in Worst Flood of 35 Years in Foochow, China

FOOCHOW, China, June 2.—(AP)—The worst flood in 35 years engulfed this city today, causing a heavy loss of life. Rains in northwest Fukien province sent the Min river roaring over its banks. Boats were being used on Foochow's submerged streets.

TRAIN KILLS MAN OF 85.

Moline, Ill., June 2.—[Special.]—Charles Van Halle, 85, of East Moline, was killed by a Rock Island freight train last night in East Moline.

DR. DAFOE WINS HONOR ON KING'S BIRTHDAY LIST

John Masefield Awarded Order of Merit.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 3 (Monday).—King George's silver jubilee and 70th birthday honors list, remarkable for its length and widespread recognition of services, was announced today. The list includes obscure workers, clerks and policemen, along with distinguished public figures and leaders in medicine, science, art, and literature.

About fifty honors of varying degrees go to Canada, and Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, gray haired general practitioner of Callander, Ont., who attended the births of the world famous Dionne quintuplets and brought them through their first year, gets the Order of the British Empire [O. B. E.].

Masefield Gets "O. M."

John Masefield, poet laureate of England and one time porter in a New York saloon, was among three made members of the highest ranking Order of Merit. The others were Ralph Vaughan Williams, composer, and Sir Frederick Gowland Hopkins, scientist.

The list failed to foreshadow the nature of the imminent cabinet reconstruction, but general reports were that when the government is revamped it will be accompanied by a special honors list.

Heading the titles list is Lord Bledisloe, former governor general of New Zealand, who receives a viscounty. There are six new barons, including Edward Charles Grenfell, a J. P. Morgan partner and director of the Bank of England. Grenfell's elevation removes him from the house of commons, where he has served since 1922.

Rewards Old Servants.

Other baronies were conferred on Sir Frederick Ponsonby and Sir Clive Wigram, marking the king's gratitude for the long and faithful services of his treasurer and private secretary; on Sir Arthur Balfour, Sheffield steel master; Sir George Ernest May, chairman of the import advisory committee, and Sir William James Peake Pason, public benefactor of Somerset county.

Maj. Clement Richard Attlee, deputy leader of the Labor party in the house of commons, was made a privy councilor, as were Maj. Leslie Hore-Belisha, minister of transport, and Capt. Robert Croft Bourne, deputy chairman of the house since 1931. Several party whips in the house were rewarded with "O. B. E." commanderships and knighthoods, as were eight prominent trade union leaders.

"Met" Director Named.

The stage was represented by Seymour Hicks, famous actor manager, who gets a knighthood, as does also Leonard Woolley, noted archeologist and excavator of Ur. Nine baronets were named, 144 persons were mentioned for work in connection with the jubilee celebration, five women were made Dames of the British Empire. Appointments as colonels of regiments went to the king's son, the duke of Gloucester; his daughter, the Princess Royal, and his daughter-in-law, the duchess of York.

A number of "O. B. E." honors go to Britons and Canadians living in the United States. These include the Rev. Jedidiah Edmead, minister of the Church of the Crucifixion, New York City; Edward Johnson, new director of the Metropolitan opera of New York; Merchant Mahoney, first secretary of the Canadian legation at Washington, and John William Collins, New Zealand trade and tourist commissioner.

HEART DISEASE FATAL.

Mrs. Mary Smith, 75 years old, a widow, died of heart disease yesterday in her home at 2106 Ainslie street.

PICNIC TIME IN THE FOREST PRESERVES

COL. LAWRENCE LEAVES BOOK TO PUBLISH IN 1950

LONDON, June 2.—(AP)—The late Col. T. E. Lawrence [Lawrence of Arabia] left a manuscript recording his life in the Royal Air force, it was disclosed tonight, with instructions that it should not be published before 1950.

The manuscript, entitled "The Mint," was described as "of forceful character" containing comment on the Royal Air force which made immediate publication impossible.

King George Is Recovering from Chill; Goes to Chapel

LONDON, June 2.—(AP)—King George was much better today and it was announced at Buckingham palace he is throwing off the effects of a slight chill which has kept him indoors since Friday. He attended services in the chapel of the palace with Queen Mary this morning. The king has not decided, however, whether to attend the trooping of the colors ceremony at the Horseguards parade tomorrow in celebration of his 70th birthday.

Keep Chicago Safe Group to Meet at Noon Today

SECOND GENUINE JUNE DAY BRINGS SUMMER SPORTS

Chicagoans made the most of the balmy June weather yesterday. Despite showers just after noon, they swarmed to the beaches, to the parks and the highways. There were dozens of picnics in the county forest preserve areas, and summer sports were in full swing on land and water.

The temperature rose from 66 degrees at 6 a. m. to 78 at noon. A brief downpour and cool breezes from the west swept over the city and depressed the mercury as low as 71 degrees at 2 p. m., but the column rebounded to the day's maximum of 80 at 4 o'clock. The rain totaled .17 of an inch.

Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said that today would be cooler, with fresh breezes from the west and northwest. He expected skies today and tomorrow to be overcast.

1,093 More Italians Sail to Africa; 1,500 Go Today

NAPLES, June 2.—(AP)—The steamer Nazario Sauro sailed for East Africa today bearing 1,050 soldiers and officers and 43 Black Shirts. The Cello is scheduled to leave tomorrow with 1,500 soldiers and a carload of war materials.

BORAH ATTACKS ROOSEVELT IDEA FOR U. S. CHANGES

Calls Constitution Ample for Nation's Needs.

of business which profits from price fixing and production control under the NRA and the left wing of the Republican party. On the other hand, he would split his own party, alienating such conservatives as Chief Justice Pattangall of the Maine Supreme court and former Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby, who are already seeking fusion with the Republicans, and the southern Democrats, who, except for a lapse into national prohibition, always have resisted any encroachment upon state rights.

A stubborn fight in the Democratic national convention against the renomination of the President and the adoption of a nationalization platform is a certainty if Mr. Roosevelt presses the issue.

Borah Cites Other Presidents.

Senator Borah in his speech tonight said the philosophy of Brig. Gen. Johnson, Prof. Tugwell, and Donald Richberg may supplant the philosophy of Presidents Washington, Madison, and Jefferson, but the "'oxcart' should, and will, hold a high place at the bar of history."

"The only thing that I shall urge is that in the matter of the change the people be consulted," Senator Borah continued. "The constitution should not be changed by the Supreme court. It should not be changed in Washington. It should be changed by the people alone."

Then Senator Borah paid his respects to the critics of the Supreme court decision without mentioning the President.

"A decision of the court based upon the theory that the court could consider anything other than the terms of the constitution itself would create a complete judicial oligarchy," he said. "It would leave the question of the extent of power to the determination of those exercising power—a complete definition of despotic power.

Cites Civil War Case.

"In rejecting the doctrin that an emergency justifies a disregard of the plain terms of the constitution the Supreme court announced no new doctrin. Sixty-nine years ago a man, a civilian, was tried by a military court and sentenced to death. He appealed to the Supreme court, claiming he was entitled to be tried by a jury.

"The argument was made that the great civil war was an emergency of such a nature that the court would be justified in disregarding the provision of the constitution which guarantees the right of trial by jury. The court rejected this vicious doctrin, saying: 'No doctrin involving more vented by the wit of man than that any of its [the constitution's] provisions can be suspended during any of the great exigencies of the government. Such a doctrin leads directly to anarchy or despotism.'

Change Too Far Reaching.

"If any such power is to be given the court, or to the congress, or to the executive, let those who urge that such powers be given come forward with a proposal in the way of an amendment to the constitution. A change of this stupendous moment should not be made by the court through strained and unnatural construction, or by the congress through disregard of its constitutional obligations.

"Under the riotous power given the executive in the national recovery act to make rules and regulations with the force of law, marvelous things have happened. Over 5,000 laws have been promulgated by the executive departments, the violation of which would constitute crimes.

Mass of Executive Order.

"Over seventeen thousand rules and regulations have been promulgated, the violation of which might not constitute a crime, but which regulated and controled personal conduct. These rules and regulations, or laws, are to be found in some ten thousand pages of printed material. The cost of administering these laws has been, it is estimated, at over 41 million dollars, all of which must be paid by the people.

"Men have been charged with the violation of laws of which they had no knowledge and could not, as a practical matter, secure knowledge concerning them.

Hits Executive Lawmaking.

"The Supreme court declared that this was carrying the matter too far; that such information ought to be provided in the law passed by congress which would at least indicate to the citizen the limit of authority on the part of the executive department. The Supreme court held that the congress must at least specify rules and standards by which the executive departments were to be guided, limited, and controled.

"The criticism of the decision means nothing less than that the law making departments should include the executive department. If the people of this country want the executive departments to have unlimited power to make laws for every conceivable activity of the citizen, violation of which would send a man to jail, they at least should have an opportunity to pass upon the question.

Drafts "Awful Example."

"No such power should be established by the courts or by the surrender of duty by the congress. Let us have an open proposal by way of a constitutional amendment submitted by those who want such power.

"I undertook to frame an amendment. I wanted to get a full view of its hideous legal and moral aspect. My draft reads as follows:

"'The legislative power is hereby vested in the congress of the United States and in the different executive departments which may be created from time to time.'

"That is brief, but I believe it will accomplish all those seem to desire who are dissatisfied with our present constitution.

Cites Roosevelt vs. Roosevelt.

"When governor of the state of New York our President declared that the great strength of our government was due to the basic fact that we had 48 laboratories in which the people could acquaint themselves with and work out their policies—that this responsibility was indispensable to a self-governing people.

"Upon another occasion the governor of New York, now our President, addressing the nation over the radio said, 'the preservation of this home rule by the states is a fundamental necessity if we are to remain a truly united country. . . . To bring about government by oligarchy masquerading as democracy it is fundamentally essential that practically all authority and control be centralized in our national government, the individual sovereignty of our states must first be destroyed. . . . We are safe from the danger of any such departure from the principles upon which this country was founded just so long as the individual home rule of the states is scrupulously preserved and fought for whenever they seem in danger. Thus it will be seen that this home rule is a most important thing—a most vital thing if we are to continue along the course on which we have so far progressed with such unprecedented success.'

States' Rights Well Presented.

"The integrity of the state so outlined and defended by the man who was soon to become our President and to be entrusted with the duty of preserving our free institutions is the same doctrin embodied in the recent decisions of the Supreme court, now so sadly misunderstood or so unjustly denounced. I am glad to join with the President in saying that there is no such thing as a federal union after the states have been whipped and bullied into cowardly submission. I go further and say that as long as the Supreme court rigidly preserves the rights of the states under the constitution, it will deserve and, I venture to believe, it will have the respect and support of the people of this country, and upon reflection the commendation of the highest of our officials.

"If the people wish to wipe out state lines and consolidate the Union into one unbroken empire they have the power under the constitution to do so. No one else has. Those who feel, therefore, that the states should be shorn of their power in whole or in part owe it to the people to submit their proposals to the people in the way of a definite amendment. That is the American way to meet this issue.

Says Court Lacked Option.

"The assailment of the court is wholly without justification in this particular instance. The court could not have decided otherwise under the constitution. The attack is really upon the constitution itself and that can only be remedied through a constitutional amendment.

"One can sympathize with the President, with his almost dread responsibility in dealing with this great emergency. Abraham Lincoln, the truest child of democracy ever born under the American flag, it will be recalled, in a special message to congress put the query whether the power necessary to save the republic might not be of such nature as to destroy the republic. With great responsibility in a great emergency must necessarily come impatience with opposition in the effort to meet that responsibility. But what can be said in justification of the chirping satellites who hope to win favor and make sure of their salaries by decrying the handiwork of Washington, Jefferson, and Madison, who because they have not the patience or the ability to frame a statute within the terms of the constitution seek to cover their failure by talking loud and constantly about an outmoded constitution and inadequate institutions?

President Extends Clemency.

"I see in the morning paper that the President has ordered to be dismissed some 500 cases pending against persons for supposed offenses under the rules and regulations of the codes. It was fine to have acted promptly in this matter. The President will hardly be able to realize the relief this will bring to those persons and to millions more who have stood in fear of violating some rule or regulation of which they had no knowledge or of receiving letters threatening them for doing something which seemed of right to an American citizen.

"These are the things, this everlasting fear and mortal dread of the truly law abiding American citizen, which would have brought the National Recovery act to ruin sooner or later had the court not spoken. It is useless now to go into details, but the record is at hand and the annoyances which have been unnecessarily visited upon millions of American citizens were working to the utter breakdown of the law."

Can't Rule from Capitol.

"Before we fully make up our minds, therefore, to govern permanently 130 million people from Washington in all their local affairs of daily life, from the farmer's wife marketing her chickens to the discretion of the husbandman in his planting and sowing, let us bear in mind that these things cannot be done, cannot even be overseen by a President.

"It is not humanly possible. These things are done by thousands of burocratic ascaridae whose glory is the display of arbitrary power. Let us bear in mind that in the prolific mucous of delegated power are laid and hatched these ravenous insects as fatal to the liberty of the citizen as the locusts to the field of the toiler. I rejoice that the President is putting an end to these activities and is giving rein to the initiative, the personal aims and ambitions, the judgment of the citizen touching his own personal affairs. The value of this in the matter of recovery cannot be overestimated.

"In conclusion, I do not wish to be understood as contending that the constitution is a sacred document never to undergo amendment. Neither do I wish it to be inferred that the decisions of the Supreme court are above the consideration and criticism of the people. But I do wish to be understood as contending that the great underlying principles of the American constitution are indispensable to a Republican form of government—that to strike at these underlying principles is to strike at the life of a representative democracy.

"I do not forget either in these days that hardly had the constitution been adopted before there were those who declared it unworkable, inadequate, and a failure. There has never been a time of stress in our history when there were not those who were fully prepared and anxious to write a much better constitution and give us a more progressive form of government.

"In spite of doubts and fears against all emergencies, and in spite of the efforts of impatient critics, the work of the combined views of Hamilton and Jefferson lived on. Under it the nation has grown in strength and grandeur. The people have advanced in all things which contribute to responsible citizenship."

U. S. SUPREME COURT HAS 5 DECISIONS FOR TODAY, THEN IS MOVING

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(AP)—Five decisions, coming somewhat like legal popguns after the nation jarring blasts of the last week, tomorrow will mark the farewell of the Supreme court to the chamber which has been its home for almost a century.

Since 1859, the justices of the highest court in the land have sat in the same one-time senate chamber which once echoed to the voices of John C. Calhoun, Daniel Webster, Henry Clay and others, famous for oratory and political skill.

Of the decisions handed down in that chamber, however, few are considered likely by lawyers to create more of a national stir than those the court has handed down on New Deal legislation.

In the Scottsboro cases recently, the court ordered a retrial in Alabama, because no colored persons were on the juries that indicted or tried five colored men for rape. It was in 1857—just two years before the court moved from other quarters in the capitol into its present chambers—that the Dred Scott case was decided.

In 1801, under tall, gaunt framed Chief Justice Marshall, the court first assumed the power of declaring acts of congress unconstitutional.

GOVERNORS PLAN TALK ABOUT NRA ACTS IN STATES

Some Would Save, Others Scrap Chief Parts.

Kansas City, Mo., June 2.—(AP)—Revival of the NRA by state action is a moot question for the annual conference of governors June 13-16 in Biloxi, Miss.

Gov. Olin Johnston of South Carolina urged plans for salvaging "good features" of the act.

"There wasn't a good feature in it," commented Gov. Eugene Talmadge of George.

Gov. E. W. Marland of Oklahoma, who demands loyalty of state employés to President Roosevelt under threat of dismissal, said:

"I think the governors should explore the possibilities of an interstate compact to carry on the basic principles of NRA."

Others Discuss Decision.

Other executives took up the idea with varying degrees of warmth.

Terming the recent Supreme court decision against NRA "probably as important as the Dred Scott decision," Gov. Harry W. Nice of Maryland has announced he will suggest that Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York call a conference to decide what to do about it. His suggestion was wired to all governors.

Gov. Ed Johnson of Colorado dispatched telegrams to the governors of 11 western states advocating a regional conference in Salt Lake City to "make plans for carrying on."

Ohio's governor, Martin L. Davey, said "both labor and industry should coöperate to save all the good that has been accomplished, but preservation of states' rights is of vital consideration."

Ohio Governor's Stand.

Gov. Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota announced he would draft legislation to revive NRA in his state.

Gov. George C. Peery of Virginia said he was looking over the situation with his cabinet.

"I regard the NRA as dead," Gov. Hoffman, New Jersey, Republican, said, "but through application of the anti-trust laws, voluntary codes of fair practice, interstate compacts and wholesome competition, there can be accomplished all that is required to insure fair dealing to labor, the small business man, the farmer, and the consumer."

Fisherman Drowns; Kerner Son Helps Recover Body

David Vincent, 38 years old, 6408 North Clark street, was drowned yesterday morning in Channel lake, near Antioch. Wind capsized a rowboat in which he and three companions were fishing. The body was recovered several hours afterward by Antioch firemen, aided by Otto Kerner Jr., son of the attorney general of Illinois, whose summer home is on the lake.

M'CARRAN LAUDS SCUTTLING OF NRA IN SPEECH HERE

Postal Workers Hear Fiery Senator from Nevada.

Senator Patrick A. McCarran of Nevada, a Democrat, told more than 1,000 postoffice clerks and letter carriers at a meeting in the Palmer house yesterday that the nation is facing a battle to preserve its constitutional form of government. The champion of labor in the senate announced that in the fight he would be an "American first and Democrat afterward."

Senator McCarran said the Supreme court decision voiding the National Industrial Recovery act opens the way to restore sound constitutional government and put individual effort in its place as the mainspring of economic advance in America.

Sees Liberty Threatened.

"We started this government upon a sound foundation, upon a sound organic law, and your life and mine depends upon the perpetuity of that law," said the blond, freckle splotched westerner. "When they start to tear it down, God knows how soon your liberty and mine may be challenged."

Senator McCarran, who several months ago introduced a bill in the senate for an investigation of the administration of the NRA, did not mention President Roosevelt by name, but said, "I care not how sincere or purposeful the man may be who seeks to destroy the constitution of this country or stray beyond its limits, the fact that he is checked by an organic law that protects human liberty is a glorifying thing."

Approves Soldier Bonus.

Senator McCarran expressed his approval of a soldiers' bonus bill, declaring that while the government was "throwing billions of dollars about indiscriminately it could afford to pay its debt to the soldiers."

Following his speech, the Nevada senator left for Washington. The postal employés' meeting was sponsored by the Chicago Post Office Clerks' union. President E. C. Hallbeck of the Chicago union and national officers of the union were present.

Boy, 15, to Undergo 83d Blood Transfusion Today

New York, June 2.—(AP)—Fifteen year old Harold Pfleger, who has undergone eighty-two blood transfusions in a fight against a combination of blood and bone diseases, was told by his physicians today that he is going to get better. The eighty-third transfusion is set for tomorrow.

FLEET DRILLS 7 DAYS ON RETURN TRIP TO COAST

Battle Force Assembles East of Hawaii.

ABOARD BATTLESHIP PENNSYLVANIA IN MID-PACIFIC, June 2.—(AP)—The most powerful and efficient coördinated fleet the American navy ever had at sea assembled east of the Hawaiian Islands today for the final phase of current Pacific operation—a test of speedy combat ships.

Dawn tomorrow will signalize the beginning of seven days of the most spectacular tactics of the six weeks' operations.

Cluverius to San Diego.

The "problem" phase of the maneuvers as a whole was completed before the fleet reached Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, last week, leaving the ten days for the return journey to San Diego to be devoted to this highly important tactical drill.

Rear Admiral Wat T. Cluverius took the train base force independently from Pearl Harbor toward San Diego, leaving 92 combat ships to work out the high speed exercises unhampered by the slower supply ships.

Operate Two Forces.

Tomorrow these vessels in the test will be divided into two commands. Admiral Harris Laning will operate one unit consisting of the battle force of 12 battleships, seven light crusers, four aircraft carriers, 23 destroyers and five world-cruising submarines. Vice Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn will operate the scouting force of 12 heavy cruisers and the remainder destroyers.

This operation tomorrow will be the first time the full power of the aircraft on the carriers and the planes catapulted from the combat ships will have been in the air at one time.

Rumanian Vets Strike for Free Railroad Passes

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 2.—(AP)—Two thousand war veterans decided today to go on a hunger strike until the government grants their demands for a bonus in the form of free railway passes. Their attempt to insure 100 per cent effectiveness of the strike by remaining together in a meeting hall, however, was frustrated by police who dispersed them.

Russians Execute Freight Cashier, 4 Others for Thefts

MOSCOW, June 2.—(AP)—The cashier of a railroad freight station and four other persons, convicted of banditry and embezzlement, were executed today here and in Leningrad.

Hitler Seeks Navy Deal; Will Let Britain Rule High Seas

BERLIN, June 2.—(AP)—Joachim von Ribbentrop, elevated to the rank of ambassador extraordinary, went to London today to assure the British they would have a free hand on the high seas so far as Germany is concerned.

JOACHIM VON RIBBENTROP.

With Rear Admiral Schuster and two assistants, Von Ribbentrop will begin Tuesday to unfold to the British der fuehrer's paper, Navy, for which he is seeking Britain's blessing.

Von Ribbentrop, Hitler's expert on disarmament affairs, is also expected to discuss in London a proposed air pact.

Hitler, by his own public announcement, has no intention of renewing the former kaiser's era of challenging Great Britain's sea power.

Germany's naval proposals, it was indicated, will follow the lines Hitler laid down in his reichstag speech May 21. In the air the Nazi leader wants parity with the strongest western power—France—and presumably proposes mutual assistance in case of an attack from the air.

A copy of the proposal is being sent to London. It is said to contain suggestions for outlawing bombing attacks against civilian populations.

Although the proposal calls for limitation of air fleets, Nazi officials say that they think the result will be an agreement among the powers not to build further than they have already done and that it will not mean the scrapping of planes already built. While Germany officially claims to have air parity now with Great Britain [and some experts doubt she is that far along], she is still well behind the French strength.

BEG NAZIS FOR RELEASE OF 41 REBEL PASTORS

BERLIN, June 2.—(AP)—An urgent plea for release, or at least for lawful treatment, of oppositional pastors held in concentration camps was addressed to Minister of Interior Wilhelm Frick today by two church organizations.

The petition of the Saxon Protestant Clergy association and the Reichsbund [Reich Union] of Evangelical pastors asserted 24 pastors are being forced to do hard labor in concentration camps, 17 are being held elsewhere, 23 have been expelled and 22 denied the right of free speech.

"All these are honorable men of high standing, enjoying the confidence of their communities," the petition said. "Pastors have citizens' rights and can only be deprived of their liberty by proper legal procedure. A solution of the conflict between the church and the state can never be achieved by the methods hitherto employed."

King Carol, with a Strong Guard, Visits Bessarabia

BALTI, Rumania, June 2.—(AP)—King Carol, heavily guarded by soldiers and police, continued a tour through Bessarabia today with Crown Prince Michael, Premier George Tatarescue, and other cabinet members. The king received a cordial but not tumultous reception as he mixed with the population, most of whom saw him for the first time.

The Streamliner

CITY OF PORTLAND

CUTTING one full business day from present train schedules, America's first streamline Pullman-equipped train goes into regular service June 8 between Chicago and Portland. Inauguration of service of this splendid new "liner" of the rails—which broke all cross-continent records in its sensational dash from Los Angeles to New York last fall—adds another thrilling chapter to the history of North Western-Union Pacific's pioneering ventures in the field of transportation progress.

The train is completely air-conditioned from its luxurious diner-lounge car forward to the coach-buffet car aft. The three Pullman sleeping cars are of radically different design than any ever before constructed. Everything about the train is new, smart, designed for perfect travel comfort—at high-speed—in utmost safety.

FILIPINOS MEET AMERICAN TRADE MISSION IN CHINA

Try to Link Up Economic Interests in East.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 2.—A delegation of Filipino political leaders headed by Felipe Beuncamino Jr. here from Manila to meet Manuel Quezon, returning home from Washington, plans a unique meeting here which will include Frank Murphy, governor general of the Philippines and two former governors, Francis Burton Harrison and W. Cameron Forbes.

Harrison is on his way to Manila to attend ceremonies inaugurating the Philippine commonwealth, while Forbes has been in China several weeks heading the American economic mission investigating the United States trade situation.

Links Far East Program.

The Philippine delegation, includes Beuncamino, Representatives Thomas Oppus and José Angara. Murphy and Quezon are together on a ship which arrives tomorrow.

The Filipinos' object in arranging the conference of Quezon, Harrison, Forbes, and Murphy is an effort to link up the Philippines with the American economic and financial program in the far east.

Three members of the economic mission at present in Manila are Thomas Y. Wickham of Chicago, vice-president of the Chicago board of trade; H. M. Bixby of the Pan-American Airways of St. Louis, and Dr. Lewis Jones of the American Cyanide corporation.

Aviation Chief Defense.

The Filipino delegation has been here several days investigating Chinese aviation development. Members state that the Philippine commonwealth has planned to make the aviation branch the chief arm of the republic's national defense.

Beuncamino states that assurances have been received that Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staf of the American army, is planning to visit Manila this fall.

LONG WAY TO GO AND HER TIME IS GETTING SHORTER

Carpinteria, Cal., June 2.—(AP)—Twenty-five pioneer stage drivers and their wives feasted at a barbecue here today, swapping yarns about hellish roads and high water, and Black Bart, the road agent.

"Bart was quiet and businesslike," said Mrs. Delia Rawson. "He'd say, 'Do as I tell you or this gun will talk.' My stage was never held up by him, but I carried him as a passenger a time or two and he held up other stages operated by my father."

Back in the roaring gold rush days of the '70s they called her "Singing Delia Haskett" because she sang to the passengers as she drove. Now she drives a car.

"As I was coming over from San Dimas to the reunion," said Mrs. Rawson, "a highway patrol officer stopped me and asked if I didn't think I was going pretty fast.

"'Young man,' I told him, 'I am 76 years old, and if I'm going to see everything I want to see before I die I'll have to drive fast.'"

HITLER CHIEF TELLS CATHOLICS CHILDREN MUST BE NAZI-TRAINED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 2.—Baldur von Schirach, master of the youth of Germany and whose mission is to make Nazis of all German children, today openly threw down the gauntlet to the Catholic church. He demanded that Catholic leaders turn over the children of their organization to his control.

The entire membership of Hitler Youth, which includes all German youths except small Catholic groups, were ordered to listen to Von Schirach's broadcast which was the first of the weekly "consecration services" to be held by Nazi chieftains at almost the same hour as services are held in many Christian churches.

"Men who as members of the Catholic Center party played politics with the Socialists now direct Catholic Youth. The youth of Germany will never forget that the Centerists cooperated with the Socialists," Von Schirach declared.

COST OF RELIEF GOES UP WHILE U. S. ROLL DROPS

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(AP)—A decline in the nation's relief rolls during the first weeks of spring today was reported by Harry L. Hopkins.

The relief administrator said the number of families on relief rolls during April was 3.6 per cent below the March figure.

The April total was given as 4,26[illegible],423 families, as compared to 4,419,600 in March.

Despite this drop, emergency relief costs gained nearly 1 per cent between the two months. The April cost was $189,295,204, against $188,049,481 for March, a gain of $1,245,723.

New York state, with the greatest number of families on relief, showed a decrease of from 483,685 in March to 461,200 in April, a drop of 4.6 per cent.

Illinois relief families decreased from 321,001 to 313,960, or 2.2 per cent, and California's from 198,338 to 191,199.

SWISS VOTE DOWN SOCIALIST 5 YEAR RECOVERY PLAN

Riot in Geneva Precedes Heated Balloting.

BERNE, Switzerland, June 2.—(AP)—Swiss voters rejected today a Socialist five year recovery plan to combat the depression after rioting in Geneva in which a score of women and children were injured.

Policemen last night charged a Fascist parade during fighting between Fascists and Socialists and the women and children were trampled. Several Fascists were arrested.

Similar to Late NRA.

The proposed constitutional amendment would have provided a program which had features similar to America's late NRA. It was defeated by a vote of 566,000 to 426,000.

A majority of cantons voted against the "initiative" resolution, which was designed to give the national assembly powers to prevent a reduction in salaries, to keep farm prices from falling and to fight unemployment without submitting the measures to the public in referenda, as now provided by law.

A Danger to Budget.

Leading the government opposition to the Socialist proposal, Minister of Finance Meyer termed it "state socialism" and said it would have made the depression worse by increasing the budget without providing funds to meet it.

Officials said the safety of the Swiss franc against devaluation was strengthened by the result.

The program was defeated by 18 cantons with only four voting for it. Approximately 84 per cent of the registered voters cast ballots.

'SPIDER SUICIDE' YOUTH IS DYING OF SLEEPING POTION, NOT VENOM

Worcester, Mass., June 2.—(AP)—The black widow spider suicide attempt of Stephen Liarsky, 26, took a strange turn tonight with a statement of police and physicians that he was dying of an overdose of narcotics, and not of a spider bite.

William P. Finneran, superintendent of detectives, announced that Rose Castagnaro, 21, of Westerly, R. I., a student nurse at a hospital, had told him she unwittingly supplied 125 tablets of the drug, a sleeping powder, to Liarsky when she visited him Thursday.

Coincidentally, Dr. Arthur Thibodeau and Dr. Huston K. Spangles, in charge of the case, said Liarsky was dying of the narcotic and not from the virus of the spider.

Liarsky, a wanderer, was found unconscious in his room here yesterday. Nearby in a perforated cardboard box was the spider, which he had imported from California. A postal card bore the information that the spider's bite was deadly and that there was no known cure for it.

A note gave as his reasons for suicide that he had no job "and no one in this world except a woman I love terribly—and she is too good for me."

Liarsky has been unconscious since he was found.

Religious Teaching Put Up to Parents in Russia

LENINGRAD, U. S. S. R., June 2.—(AP)—The Supreme court ruled today that relatives or others who teach religious rites to children without consent of their parents were subject to a year's imprisonment and confiscation of property. The decision was interpreted as intended to destroy the influence of grandparents and others of older generations over children whose parents have abandoned religious beliefs.

AUSTRIAN CHIEF GIVEN LOYALTY OF STARHEMBERG

Prince Denies Ambition to Be Dictator.

VIENNA, June 2.—(AP)—Vice Chancellor Ernst von Starhemberg punctured rumors that he is already Austria's dictator or planning to assume dictatorial powers by publicly pledging loyalty today to Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg.

Speaking at a huge rally of his Heimwehr (Fascist home guard troops) in historic Schoenbrunn palace, the handsome prince declared:

"We pledge our steadfast loyalty to Chancellor Schuschnigg. He can rely upon our loyal obedience."

But Prince von Starhemberg by no means renounced the Heimwehr dream of a 100 per cent Heimwehr government for Austria, asserting: "Austria's future is Heimwehr!"

Later more than 40,000 Heimwehr troops marched through the streets of Vienna, a tangible reminder to the populace that Starhemberg's private army, at least numerically, is superior to the regular Austrian army.

The public, however, failed to respond to a published appeal to put out flags on private houses in recognition of Heimwehr achievements for the fatherland and showed little enthusiasm along the line of march.

The parade carried its own cheering section of juvenile Heimwehr—many truck loads of boys and girls shouting "Hail Starhemberg!"

WALKS BEFORE CAR, KILLED.

Logansport, Ind., June 2.—[Special.]—Mrs. Pearl Currens, 68, was killed last night when she walked into the side of a moving automobile after alighting from a bus.

LAW TO SUPPORT ICKES' HANDLING OF CASH FOUGHT

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(AP)—Opposition to legislation designed to validate acts of Secretary Harold F. Ickes in allocating funds for various reclamation projects tonight was reported to be shaping up in the house.

The legislation, slated to be submitted to the house this week, also was designed to plug a loophole made when the Supreme court declared Secretary Ickes lacked authority to undertake the Parker dam project in Arizona.

A group of Republicans and Democrats, led by Representative Frank Carlson [Rep., Kas.], are planning to fight the legislation, already through the senate. It has been approved by the house flood control committee, but a minority report is to be filed tomorrow in a move to stay action.

FRENCH REDS FIGHT POLICE.

ROUEN, France, June 2.—(AP)—Communists today fought gendarmes who were defending a parade of Nationalistic Patriotic organizations commemorating the burning at the stake of Joan of Arc 504 years ago. Many blows were struck but nobody was seriously injured.

FRANCE JAILS 3 NAZI CYCLISTS; TOO NEAR FORTS

METZ, France, June 2.—(AP)—Three Nazis bicycling in French territory near the defense works around Sarreguimines were arrested and jailed today by French mobile guards. In an effort to halt increasing frontier incidents the government has redoubled its watch.

The Nazis, two of whom were dressed in uniforms of Storm Troopers and were armed with the customary poniards, told military authorities they lost their way and thought they were still in the Saar.

A German civilian plane, piloted by a [illegible] doctor with an industrialist of Freiburg as a passenger, landed at the Saareguimines airport today. They said they thought it was Saarbrücken. They were permitted to return to Germany. A young German student flyer was fined a week ago for landing on French territory.

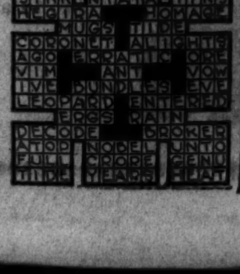
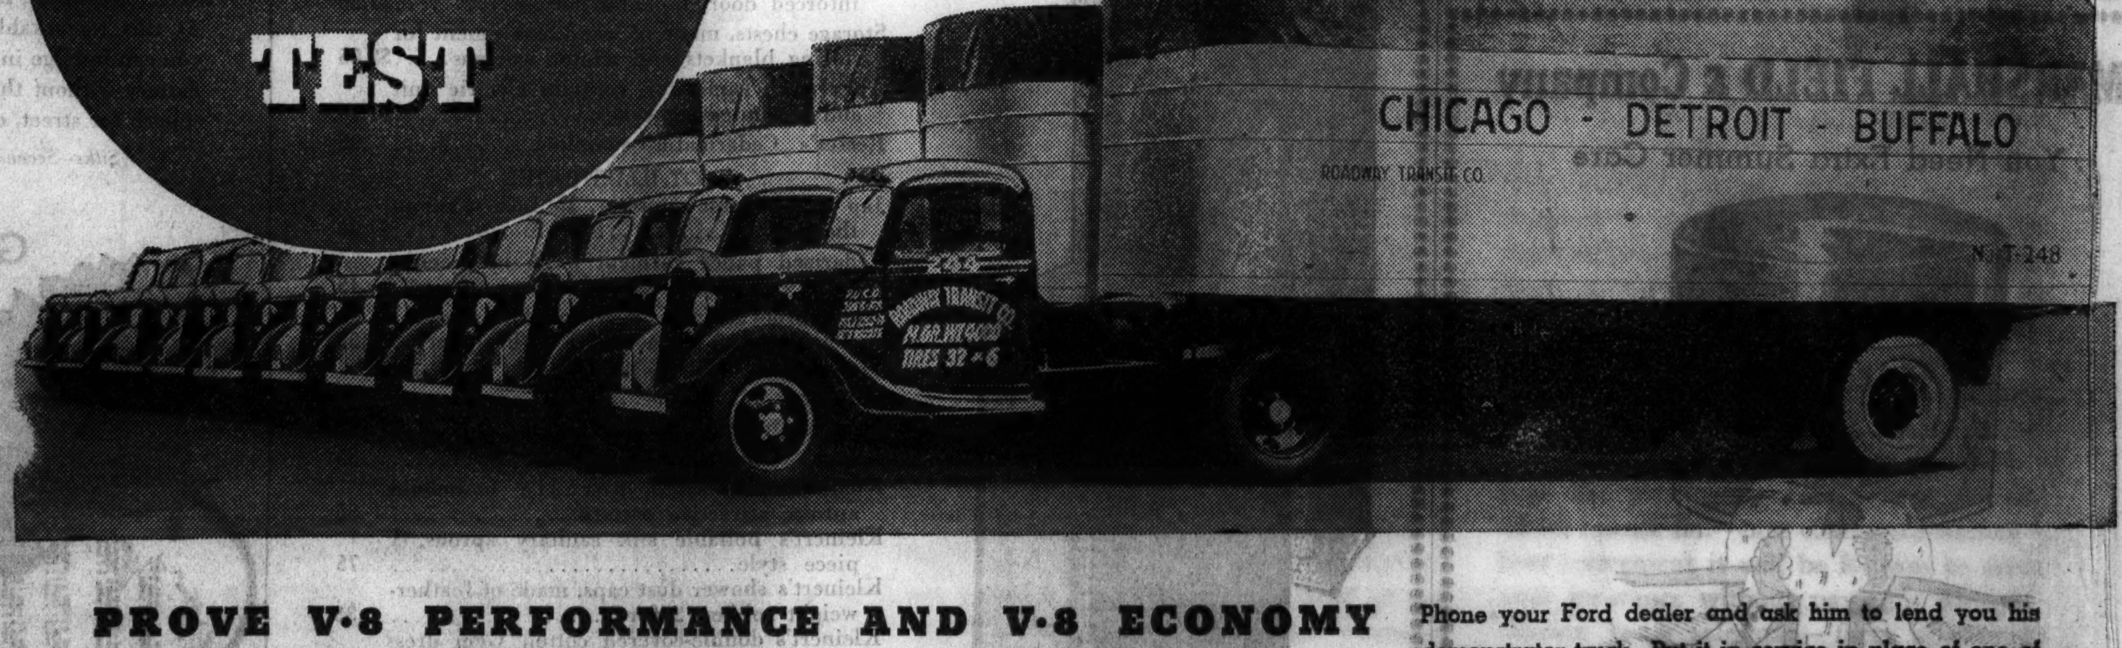
SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



MAKE THIS "ON-THE-JOB" TEST

Whether you own ONE Truck or a FLEET like this



PROVE V-8 PERFORMANCE AND V-8 ECONOMY WITH YOUR OWN LOADS OVER YOUR OWN ROUTES

The Ford V-8 Truck is its own best salesman . . . and it always has been. When the V-8 engine was first introduced, operators who bought Ford V-8 Trucks and tried them out became quickly convinced that Ford had built a truck that met MODERN trucking requirements. As a result, many of the biggest operators in the country changed to Ford V-8 Trucks, as their equipment became due for replacement, and started saving on operating costs.

Today, there is no need to BUY a Ford V-8 Truck to find out what it will do for you. It makes no difference whether you are in the market for ONE truck or a whole FLEET . . . you can TRY a 1935 Ford V-8 Truck without cost or obligation. Ford dealers are so proud of V-8 Performance . . . so confident of V-8 Economy . . . that they are inviting responsible truck operators to make their own "ON-THE-JOB" TESTS under their own operating conditions.

Phone your Ford dealer and ask him to lend you his demonstrator truck. Put it in service in place of one of your present units and see for yourself how it performs with your own loads, over your own routes. Keep your own time sheets, your own records of fuel and oil costs. Compare V-8 Performance and V-8 Economy.

Get the facts from your Ford dealer about the exclusive Ford low-cost Engine Exchange Plan and other parts exchange privileges. Then ask the DELIVERED price of the body type you plan to buy. You will agree with those thousands of satisfied owners who acclaim the 1935 Ford V-8 Truck as "AMERICA'S GREAT TRUCK VALUE."

FIND 2 BRITONS DEAD OF THIRST ON SAHARA SAND

Rescue Two Frenchmen Near Death.

ALGIERS, Algeria, June 2.—(AP)—A searching party found the bodies of an Englishwoman and an Englishman on the scorching Sahara sands today and rescued two Frenchmen near death from thirst.

The woman, Mrs. Knight, the widow of an English aviator who committed suicide recently at Agadez, French West Africa, had slashed her wrist, apparently in an attempt to end her torture from thirst and heat.

A party of four, including Mrs. Knight, Peyton, an English resident of Switzerland, and two Frenchmen, Kneebret and Chaverus, left Agades by truck May 22 for Tamanrasset, Tawarek.

After the quartet were missing four days a searching party left Agadez for them. It found the Frenchmen on the fifth day of the search in a serious condition beside the truck near a dried-up river bed, 30 miles north of Ingessam.

When the Frenchmen were revived they said they had run out of both gas and water. A day later, despite the pleas of their companions, Mrs. Knight and Peyton left the shelter of the truck for the south, hoping to reach Ingessam and bring help.

The body of the woman was found five miles from the truck, her wrists slashed. She had left a note to English friends. Peyton's body was near by. He had died of thirst.

FORT SHERIDAN ARTILLERY OFF FOR CAMP TODAY

The 2d battalion of the 3d field artillery, stationed at Fort Sheridan, will begin its march at 7 o'clock this morning for Sparta, Wis., where it will spend several weeks in training, including target practice on the artillery range near Sparta. The members of the battalion will later act as instructors for the artillery regiments of the Illinois National Guard when they camp at Sparta this year.

The battalion, consisting of 287 officers and men, 205 horses, eight 75 millimeter guns, nine trucks and radio equipment, is commanded by Maj. Alfred Goldman. The first night's bivouac will be at Lilly lake, 24 miles from the fort. The men will be on the march two weeks.

COST OF CHICAGO GOVERNMENT IS DOWN SINCE 1929

Chicago's cost of government has decreased since 1929, city officials found yesterday in compiling statistics that could be used for comparison with figures made public recently by New York City's budget commission. This commission found that in New York the number of employés is greater now and the pay roll larger than in 1929.

Chicago's officials found that the pay roll expense for the corporate, vehicle tax, water, library, municipal tuberculosis sanitarium and miscellaneous minor funds in 1929 was $58,090,000 compared with $45,950,000 estimated for 1935.

The estimated number of employés for 1929 was 24,800, while for 1935 it is 23,950. The estimated average earnings for each employé for 1929 were $2,340 and for 1935, $1,918. This decrease is due almost entirely to the 21 per cent cut in salaries given to the city employés.

FALLS DEAD ON STREET.

John McGrath, 50 years old, 758 West Harrison street, died suddenly of heart disease yesterday while walking with Thomas Lundy, 811 West 53d street, a friend, at Shields avenue and West 55th street.

4 ROB WOMEN'S LODGE IN CHICAGO COMMONS OF $500

Four masked gunmen strolled yesterday afternoon into Chicago Commons, a social settlement at 955 West Grand avenue, threatened four women officers of a fraternal society, and escaped with $500 in dues collected during the day. S. H. Heath, settlement worker, the only man present in the virtually deserted house, was forced to lie on the floor. The robbers apparently were aware of the habit of the lodge women to collect the benefit association's dues in the settlement house. They entered in a body and strode immediately to the room where Mrs. Anna Azzato, 5101 West Washington boulevard, treasurer, and three other women were counting the collections. As they walked out the leader whistled to a fifth gunman, who drove up in the small sedan in which the band departed west in Grand avenue.

North Side Express Bus Service to Be Retained

Express motor coach service, recently instituted between the north side and the loop will be permanent, according to an announcement yesterday by John A. Ritchie, president of the Chicago Motor Coach company. The buses use the outer drive through Lincoln park during the rush hours. The running time of the express buses is thirty-one minutes from Howard street to Chicago avenue and 14 minutes from Wilson to Chicago avenue.

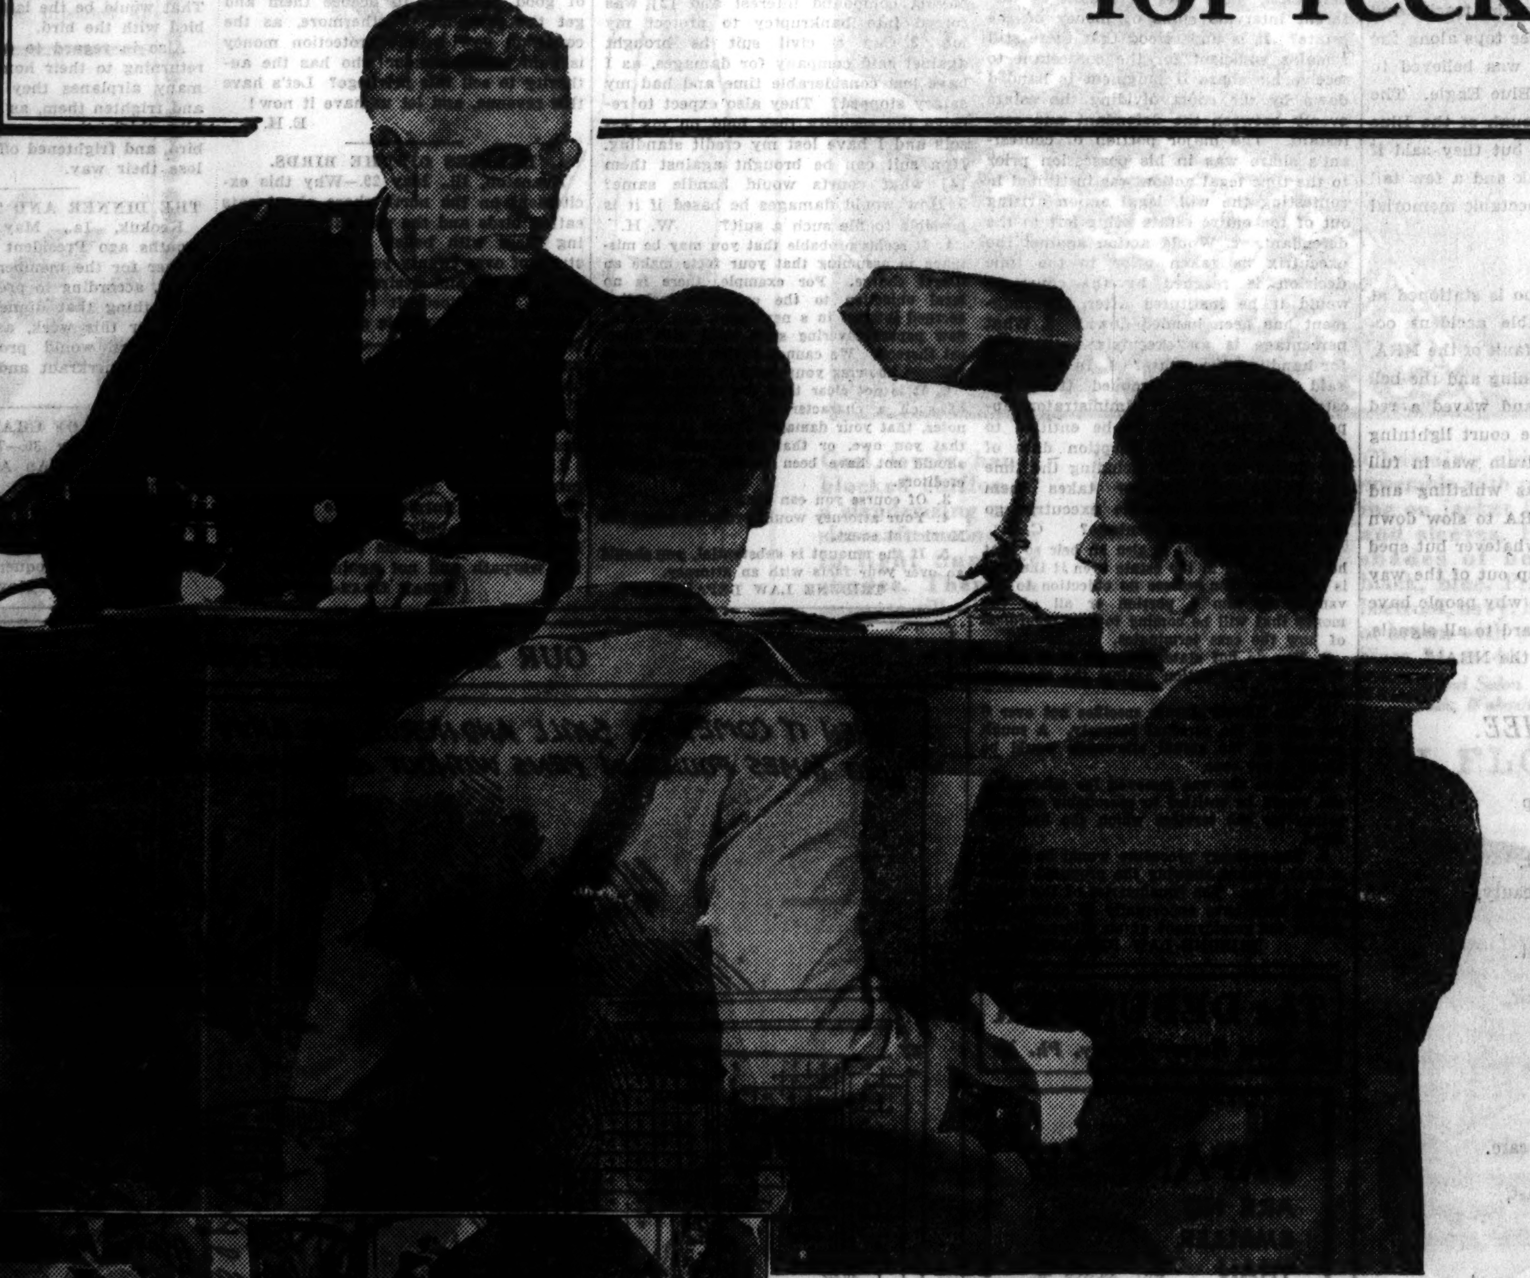
Don't read this if you've ever been arrested for reckless driving!



How careful drivers may obtain car insurance at lower cost

BRIEFLY stated, the Liberty Mutual plan is this: We insure careful drivers—not reckless drivers.

Careful drivers have fewer accidents than reckless drivers; therefore we do not have to pay for so many accidents.

This has saved many millions of dollars. But we do not keep this money. We pass it on to car owners in the form of lower insurance cost.

Isn't that a sensible plan? It means that the careful driver does not have to pay for the accidents of the reckless driver. Besides, it is very easy to handle your car insurance through Liberty Mutual. No bother. No red tape.

Naturally a plan of this kind brings us more applications for car insurance than we can accept. For example, last year in one city we declined to handle the car insurance of more than two thousand drivers. The records of these men show that many of them had been convicted of reckless driving.

If you are a careful driver, the Liberty Mutual will be glad to insure you. We have saved car owners anywhere from $10 to $55 on their car insurance.

We can give you the names of car-owners in your neighborhood whom we protect. They will tell you that it is convenient and pleasant to place insurance direct with our representatives, who are automobile insurance specialists—that when accidents do occur we investigate promptly and pay claims on the dot.

Mail the coupon below for the free booklet which tells all about the Liberty Mutual plan—how it works—how much you save—how the plan guarantees you protection which cannot fail—how claims are settled—how convenient it will be for you to place your insurance without paying a big commission to a salesman—facts about our convenient Deferred Payment Plan for responsible car-owners. Mail the coupon today. No obligation.

REPUBLIC VS. DICTATORSHIP.

"We are the only country in the world," Mr. Roosevelt asserts, "which has not solved this problem," the control of the economic activities of the nation by political government. What countries he had in mind he did not name, but we suggest the soviet régime in Russia, the Fascist government in Italy, the Nazi government in Germany, all examples of the all powerful executives controling the economic life of their respective peoples. This is the solution to which Mr. Roosevelt and his intimate advisers have been directing their efforts and which the Supreme court has tried to explain to Mr. Roosevelt is not compatible with the principles of government on which the American republic is founded. It is not a solution, as demonstrated in Russia, Italy, or Germany, which will incline the American people to imitation and we heartily agree with Mr. Roosevelt that the issue it raises has been clarified by the Supreme court, but we do not agree with him that it is to be determined in five or ten years, but now. Mr. Roosevelt—and his régime—proposes and is on his way to accomplish the abolition of the sovereign states and the concentration of all power in the hands not merely of the central government at Washington but in the President. Mr. Roosevelt demands authority to absorb the legislative powers vested in congress, and his reaction to the Supreme court's exercise of its constitutional duty to declare the law of the land and fulfill its function as the final defender of the constitutional order unmistakably reveals his ambition to subordinate the judiciary to the executive will. Under his system the laws and regulations which in ever increasing variety and number will rule the people of the United States will be made by the burocracy now being created, and the constitutional law making body will be reduced to a mere servant of the executive purpose.

With the states gone the life of the people will be ordered by the burocrats at Washington. Local government conforming to the varied social and economic character of the widely differing regions of the great continent has been the vital force of American social and political welfare and the essential guardian of the people's liberty. Mr. Roosevelt gives a glimpse of the future he would clear the way for when he asks: "Will the government take its hands off any effort to adjust crops and go back to the theory that every farmer is lord on his own land and can raise anything he wishes in any amount he desires?" The answer, if we know American freemen, is yes. While the federal checks continue that answer may be withheld, but when the checks stop coming and the money wrung from industry and agriculture itself is gone it will be heard even at Washington.

Mr. Roosevelt refers to the American system of government as a horse and buggy affair. His own system is as old as the oxcart, as old as tyranny.

Nine American citizens, chosen by five Presidents, and themselves of both party affiliations and varied political, social, and economic opinions, constitute the tribunal whose unanimous declaration of constitutional law Mr. Roosevelt deplores. He is right when he says the issue raised is not a partisan issue but an infinitly deeper issue, a national issue. It is an issue between free government and autocratic government, and it can no longer be smiled off.

NEW DEAL EDENS.

Arthurdale farm at Reedsville, W. Va., was one of the New Deal social enterprises by which it was hoped a number of families living underprivileged lives in Monongahela county would be provided with cheap model homes on sufficient land to permit subsistence crop raising. It was to be Mrs. Roosevelt's contribution to the planned society and was an experiment for which she had great hope. Although several leading letter men of the planned society have lent a hand, the project has been disillusioning and disappointing.

Mr. Ickes lent more than his hand, granting the enterprise money freely. Louis McHenry Howe, the White House secretary, and Rex Tugwell, who at times is No. 1 boy, have been busy with the plans, but what comes out of it is mostly more disappointment. According to the Washington figures an additional $900,000 has been required over the first optimistic estimate, and Mrs. Roosevelt fears that the chief value of the experiment will be found in the lessons it affords of how not to do things.

The planners haven't been able to provide an Eden for satisfied families, although they have spent a great deal more money on each individual than would have been needed to do a great deal more. The houses were all planned wrong and built wrong. They provided discomfort and not comfort. The beneficiaries complain and the planners have their troubles trying to remedy things.

Mr. Tugwell has had a more costly experience of his own on the 5,500 acre experimental farm in Maryland, where he works out agricultural experiments. He has been given nearly 3 million dollars of the PWA funds, more than double the original estimate for buildings. Both Mrs. Roosevelt's experiment and Tugwell's Maryland adventure are small affairs, of course, as compared with the heroic operations of the TVA in the southern Appalachians, which is the New Deal's star adventure in planning the lives of American citizens.

TVA was to be an expanding socialist cell in the body of the American nation. It eventually will be another monument of what the federal government is not founded, authorized, or competent to do in or for a state or a group of states.

FIND THE CRIMINALS.

The return of the kidnaped child to the home of his parents in Tacoma should not abate the efforts of the police authorities to discover the perpetrators of the outrage. The child is said to be unharmed. That merely means that he has not been injured in the ordinary physical sense. But he has had an experience of terror which will remain with him and may have serious and permanent psychological consequences. There are also chargeable to the kidnapers the days of anguish suffered by the parents, to say nothing of the fear spread among all parents by the recurrence of this crime. Finally there is the fact that any kidnaping is a crime. Every effort to discover and punish all the participants in this atrocity should be made, not only for the sake of justice but as a deterrent. The criminals can be discovered. If they are not some one in authority is splitting with them.

HOLDING THE FAITH.

Among Americans who must have read with profound satisfaction and encouragement the three great decisions of the Supreme court expounding and enforcing the constitutional order of the American republic must have been Henry D. Hatfield of West Virginia. Mr. Hatfield, after a long and loyal service to his state and the nation in the United States senate, was retired from office and replaced by a young man who had exploited the conditions of the depression and embraced with enthusiasm the doctrins of the New Deal. Senator Hatfield refused considerations of temporary political expediency and stood loyally by his convictions. To the discredit of a majority of West Virginia voters, a faithful and wise public servant was lost to West Virginia and the nation. His defeat was an honorable one and an example of that weakness of popular impulse against which the farseeing statesmen who framed the constitution sought earnestly to protect the nation and which foreign critics prophesied would be its eventual ruin. But Mr. Hatfield, like others who remained true to their political principles at the expense of defeat, of which Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, one of the acknowledged leaders of the senate, was another conspicuous example, has a reward within his own conscience and in the regard of all his loyal fellow countrymen more precious to his self-respect and to his love of country than any office.

THE BRITISH FAMILY.

A joint committee of the lords and commons of the British parliament has reported adversely on the petition of Western Australia to withdraw from the commonwealth of Australia and be recognized as a self-governing unit. The decision was based on the constitutional incompetence of the home government to interfere with the territorial integrity of a dominion on the petition of a minority and is viewed as further determining the relations of the political units of the British empire within its structure.

In the case of Newfoundland the British government recognized the request of a unit to be relieved of some of the responsibilities of an insolvent home government, and in the case of north Ireland it accepted the will of the people not to become a part of the Irish Free State. In the Australian case it rejects the theory that a part of a unit may secede without the consent of the dominion government and people.

This decision strengthens the principle that the British self-governing dominions are free members of the British empire, or association, or commonwealth of nations. The looser the bond, the closer the tie. The British world should celebrate the 4th of July. The British lost one to learn how to keep the others.

Editorial of the Day

LIBERTY CANNOT BE LAWLESS.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

Whether Edward A. Vandeleur, president of the State Federation of Labor, or his personal representative, Arthur Warren, has a right to walk the streets of the town of Jackson and sleep in its hotel is a matter to be determined by the laws of California and not by the ukase of a self-appointed vigilance committee.

If Mr. Warren had violated any laws or incited any riots he should be proceeded against under the law. If he had not, his right to remain in Jackson and there to conduct himself within the law did not in the least depend on whether a part, or even all, of the citizens of Jackson wished him to do so.

The right of exile is not conferred by our laws on even the government of a town; still less on a volunteer group of its citizens. And it is the business of the law—not of Jackson, but of the state of California—to protect him in his right, within the law, to do in Jackson what these citizens of Jackson do not want done there.

This is fundamental. It goes to the very roots of that "liberty regulated by law" without which there can be no liberty at all. Those who, for a cause which they think is right, resort to methods which are wrong, thereby only invite others to do the same thing.

There are communists in Jackson who have been doing just this—Mr. Warren says, against his protest. They do not care if they thereby undermine the rule of law and the credit of American institutions.

When those on the other side use the same methods they should care. For they do want the rule of law preserved and American institutions continued. The test of their loyalty to this ideal is their willingness to hold themselves to it.

Mob violence is even more dangerous on the conservative than on the radical side, for it then undermines the very cause it seeks to promote.

Let those who have the most to lose by the breakdown of the rule of law be the last to violate it.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

"STATE RIGHTS! State Rights!! State Rights!!!" There's so much said nowadays about "State Rights" whichever way you turn that we seem to be back again in the days before the Civil War. Well, on the subject of "State Rights" I believe that slavery should be wiped out in every state in the Union, and that if any state secedes from the Union it should be forced back, even at the point of the bayonet. But, gosh all hemlocks! what's that? Why, they've fired on Sumter! "Rally 'round the flag, boys, rally once again!" State Rights! That certainly takes us back to '61.

And the continual reference nowadays to Dred Scott is going to teach us some history. People are asking if Dred Scott was a baseball pitcher, a race horse, a football player, a movie actor, a radio announcer, or a new five cent cigar. Oh, none of those things. Dred Scott was a slave who petitioned for freedom on the grounds that he had been taken into free territory and thereby lost his status as a slave. The Supreme court ruled in 1857 that Scott was still a slave; and that was the famous Dred Scott decision which brought on the Civil War, ended slavery in the United States and everywhere else, for that matter, and altogether was one of the great dynamic events in the history of the world. So, besides many other things much more important, no doubt, the head-on collision between the Supreme court and the NRA teaches us a little important history. Important because now Dred Scott's name is apt to bob up in a crossword puzzle. And you had better learn at the same time the name of the great jurist who was chief justice at that time and who wrote the Dred Scott decision. Suppose some fine morning the crossword puzzle said: "HORIZONTAL—Last name of chief justice who wrote Dred Scott decision," and you didn't know it? My, but wouldn't your face be red! Well, his name was Taney—Roger Brooke Taney. Now you know it. But, of course, Laura, you'll forget it in five minutes, but you knew it for a minute or two, anyhow.

THE FACE IN THE POOL.

He had caught a feather of time
From the bird that was called the night;
And strangely it gleamed in his hand,
A slender sickle of light.

He had found a path on the ocean,
A fire at the heart of a rose;
The well at the end of the world
Where the last dream goes.

But these were forgotten and lost
At last in a woodland place,
For he found in a forest pool
An image of a face.

And what was a wing of the night
Or a path to a world unknown,
Beside the need in his heart
To call a dream his own!

JOHN DILLON HUSBAND.

BUT EVEN SO, workmen were still busy yesterday picking up the fragments of the NRA, which tried to cross the tracks last Monday in front of the Supreme court fast express. The NRA débris was scattered for over ten miles down the tracks and a lot of pieces were thrown into tree tops along the way. A wing was found which was believed to have been part of the celebrated Blue Eagle. The workers hardly expect to find enough of the Blue Eagle to make a decent funeral, but they said if they could get a piece of the beak and a few tail feathers they might get up a respectable memorial service.

AND FLAGMAN O'TOOLE, who is stationed at the crossing where the deplorable accident occurred, said: "It was plainly the fault of the NRA, as the red danger lights were flashing and the bell ringing loudly. I also ran out and waved a red flag as a signal that the Supreme court lightning express was on the way. The train was in full sight, and, more than that, was whistling and doing all it could to warn the NRA to slow down or stop, but it paid no attention whatever but sped madly on. I had just time to step out of the way when the crash came. I don't see why people have to speed that way in blind disregard to all signals. Anyhow, it was just too bad for the NRA!"

FOR DJEERZHEE.

When, birdlike,
My heart flies up and up
Lightly,
On some ecstatic moment,
In some sunlit hour of beauty,
It remembers
Neither shadow nor night.

Through that high pure air,
My heart could not
Lift its wings
Were there on them
Any dust of earth,
Any memory of pain or care.

But, with the moment past,
The hour spent,
How violent the fall,
How cutting the swift descent!

Then, for a little while
Earth is good,
And birdlike,
My heart sings,
Remembering
Where to seek its peace and rest,
Remembering the secret curve
Where the thought of you
Is folded feather soft
Beneath its wings!

HAY FEVER PREVENTION.

THE hay fever season is with us and will remain until late autumn. By this we mean the hay fever [protein sensitization] that is due to pollen from grasses and plants. Timothy, meadow grass, wild rye, oats, and the common foxtail are some of the common grass pollens that are most annoying. The pollen cloud affects in a serious way far more people than the dust storms that have been devastating the west.

Hay fever is caused almost entirely by the light pollen that is carried by gusts of wind. The pollen grains are so tiny that they can gain access to closed rooms through ordinary windows. As a rule, pollen particles of flowers are clumped together and insects rather than air carry this heavier substance from flower to flower. It is ordinarily thought that this type of pollen brings on hay fever only when there is a preëxisting inflammation or irritation of the nasal passages. Many a hay fever sufferer has observed that he can mingle with flowers with impunity and remain free from symptoms, whereas as soon as certain grasses burst into bloom the attack comes on.

We are often asked as to the factors that influence the severity of symptoms in hay fever sufferers. Much depends on the weather and on the individual, some persons being more susceptible than others. When hot, dry weather continues for a time, attacks of hay fever will be increased in number and in severity. Such seasons, however, are shorter, as the grass dries and in consequence it loses its pollen producing power. If rains succeed each other by the skilful development of immunity is washed out of the air. In a given season the flowering of grasses may continue for many weeks, particularly if rains alternate with one or two days of sunshine. Such a season, although good for crops, is most pernicious from the point of view of pollen sensitive persons.

Prevention consists in avoiding anything that will add to the congestion of the mucous membranes. Blowing the nose should be performed as gently as possible and only one nostril at a time should be emptied. Anything that improves the general circulation will relieve the discomfort and lessen the local irritation. Symptoms can be avoided in susceptible individuals only by insuring freedom from pollen. All sufferers cannot journey to northern resorts or go on an ocean voyage. Approximately five miles from shore pollen in the air has been reported as negligible in amount. Nevertheless, pollen has been known to be carried several hundred miles at high elevations. One observer has found pollen at 14,000 feet through the use of a collecting device stationed in an airplane. Visiting the seashore is of value only when the wind blows toward the land. Pollen-proof rooms can be constructed, and air filters installed in windows have proved helpful.

Immunity may be acquired in many cases through the injection of pollen extracts. In certain instances this method fails to give results because the particular pollen that causes the irritation is not used. Because of the specific nature of the reaction to the grass substance it is necessary to build up an immunity with an extract of the protein that causes the irritation. For example, if the symptoms are caused by timothy, the use of such pollen extracts as rye, oats, and other grasses will not give relief. To be most effective the injections should be given prior to the opening of the pollen season, and individuals may be tested for sensitivity by carefully conducted skin tests.

The nasal mucous membrane itself may be rendered less sensitive to pollen by the method known as nasal ionization—a plan proposed by Franklin in 1931—which impregnates the nasal mucosa with zinc. This is carried out by means of a mild electric current.

With careful attention many hay fever sufferers can expect relief if not cure by the skillful development of immunity and the employment of properly humidified dust [pollen] free rooms.

EATING GRASS.

F. O. S. asks about the advisability of eating grass baked with cookies, pancakes, etc.

REPLY.

Grass contains no mineral or other matter that is not found in the numerous food vegetables. The cow requires several stomachs to digest grass. Man has but one. Who wants to be a cow? You will recall that Nebuchadnezzar was "driven from man, and did eat grass as oxen." [Daniel iv., 33.]

WALKS ON TOES.

Mrs. P. writes: My 2½ year old daughter walks on her toes and her knees go way back like a crippled person. I had her examined and the doctor said her tendons were short and suggested arch support shoes. My husband is a spastic case and he got that way when he was 2½ years old. He walks on his toes and swings his body from side to side. Will you tell me if this condition is inherited?

REPLY.

A careful examination will disclose whether there is any sign of spastic paralysis. Massage and physiotherapy will assist in lengthening the tendons if they are too short. Training in walking, holding the feet flat on the floor, is advised. This condition is not inherited. There is a possibility that this is an imitation habit.

INCREASING HEIGHT.

J. W. writes: You stated that there is little one can do to increase the height. By spending a few moments each day performing a variety of spinal stretching movements I have increased my own height something over one inch in two months and have hopes for considerable additional increase.

REPLY.

You have not actually increased your height. You have, however, been able to acquire a better posture. Through the development of the muscles of the back, shoulders, and vertebrae a more erect posture may be achieved.

DISPOSITION OF ESTATE.

Chicago, May 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.] — 1. What action can be taken by a lawyer for a contestant of a will against the executrix, the latter not being under bond, and who, with the permission of the lawyer for the defendant, gave said defendant at different intervals sums of money of the estate? It is understood that there still remains sufficient for the contestant to receive his share if judgment is handed down by the court dividing the estate evenly between the defendant and contestant. The major portion of contestant's share was in his possession prior to the time legal action was instituted in contesting the will, legal action arising out of the entire estate being left to the defendant. 2. Would action against the executrix be taken prior to the time decision is reached by the court or would it be instituted after the judgment has been handed down? 3. What percentage is an executrix entitled to for handling the estate? 4. In the event said executrix is removed from the estate and a public administrator appointed, would she still be entitled to her share from the inception date of her duties up to and including the time the public administrator takes them over? 5. How does the executrix go about securing her percentage? C. R.

1. If the defendant is also an heir so that he would share in the estate even if the will is set aside, then we see no objection to advancing to him a portion or all of the money that will be coming to him regardless of how the case terminates.

2. You do not state sufficient facts to indicate that any action against the executrix is waranted.

3. The Illinois statute specifies not over 6 per cent of the personal property. A rough average of the actual allowance would be about 4 per cent.

4. Unless she was removed for misconduct she would be entitled to reasonable compensation for the services which she had rendered.

5. The ordinary procedure would be to file a final account showing the proposed allowance of fees. The beneficiaries of the estate would then have opportunity to object. We advise the employment of an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

INTEREST ON LOAN.

Chicago, May 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have filed bankruptcy, but have found out since that [1] it is unlawful for a small loan company to charge compound interest. I have been paying compound interest and [2] was forced into bankruptcy to protect my job. 3. Can a civil suit be brought against said company for damages, as I have lost considerable time and had my salary stopped? They also expect to receive the security they hold on my assets and I have lost my credit standing. If a suit can be brought against them [4] what courts would handle same? 5. How would damages be based if it is possible to file such a suit? W. H.

1. It seems probable that you may be mistaken in assuming that your facts make an illegal charge. For example, there is no legal objection to the creditor's including accrued interest in a new total, and drawing new papers covering such total with interest thereon. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing your facts in more detail.

2. It is not clear that the compounding is of such a character as to invalidate the notes, that your damages exceed the amount that you owe, or that your claim, if any, should not have been turned over to your creditors.

3. Of course you can sue.

4. Your attorney would probably select the Municipal court.

5. If the amount is substantial, you should go over your facts with an attorney.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

Dr. Tadasu Misawa measured nearly a million Japanese children and concluded that the environmental conditions (food and living habits) were chiefly responsible for the small stature of the Japanese people.

The favored classes in Japan are practically the same height as similar classes in Europe or America. Japanese children born and reared in America are much taller than their Japanese ancestors. This is due to improved living conditions, especially food, and shows that environment, rather than race, is the determining factor in stature.

PARK SALARIES.

Chicago, May 31.—It is rumored the Chicago park district anticipates further cuts in the pay roll. If they would cut where cuts are due and in the same proportion as they cut those who have always borne the burdens, namely, civil service employés with seniority and high efficiency rating, then the park funds could be reduced more than 30 per cent without injustice to any one. But if they continue to do as formerly, cutting certain departments and certain persons and boosting certain others and hiring certain others who are no more necessary to the service than ears on a foghorn, then their budget will in the aggregate, as during former cuts, be enormously increased instead of decreased. Is it not about time that a little fair play and good sportsmanship was exercised in these matters? Let us hope.

MADGE DUNN.

LICENSING HANDBOOKS.

Chicago, May 29. — It was a great pleasure to me to see an article in this morning's paper that Mayor Kelly is backing legislation which would permit the licensing of handbooks.

This to me shows good judgment by our mayor. Furthermore, I think it is just good common "horse sense."

When it is estimated that about 7½ million dollars is paid yearly for handbook protection, why wouldn't it be reasonable to expect this city to benefit to the extent of 5 million dollars? This vast amount would incidentally be a benefit to our taxpayers, and I happen to be one.

Another thing, handbooks, like card playing in homes, cannot be stopped—we will have them, so isn't it just a matter of good judgment to license them and get the revenue? Furthermore, as the condition now is, the protection money is paid and I wonder who has the authority to sell this privilege? Let's have this revenue, and let us have it now!

ENEMIES OF THE BIRDS.

Evanston, Ill., May 29.—Why this excitement on the north shore about cats eating birds and the necessity of annoying them with bells? From a careful study of over twenty years of song birds their habits and desires for a peaceful abode, I noticed it was the tricky squirrel and the purple grackle—a worse enemy to deal with—and made war against them. I have seen the squirrel eating both flesh and eggs out of my martin houses, and know as a real fact they will destroy robin and other bird nests of eggs and flesh.

I have lured red cardinals and crested grosbeaks into my garden in Wisconsin, to see a purple grackle eating the flesh of my only nest of grosbeaks last summer. Needless to say I am on the warpath and not against cats.

SUSAN GRAY-LORENZEN.

THE ROBBER CROW.

Chicago, May 28.—I write to register my approval of Bob Becker's campaign to lessen the crow population. I was attracted by twelve or fifteen robins who, with loud and angry cries, were excitedly flying about and through a large elm. Drawing nearer I discovered a crow standing over a robin's nest, apparently eating the eggs. The crow was on guard, for the robins harassed him from every side. As I watched, unable to aid, the head of a baby robin appeared over the edge of the nest. The crow snapped him up and flew away with the little bird dangling from his bill, amid the sorrowing and angry cries of the robins, leaving me feeling very helpless and angry, wondering what, if anything, remained in the nest, how many of our much loved birds he had already robbed, and how many would yet suffer the same fate. So, go to it, Bob Becker. Rid us of the robber crows.

MILLIE HUFF.

QUIN'S ITALIAN TONGUE.

Chicago, May 27.—In today's TRIBUNE some one is trying to "rub it in" to Quin Ryan for mispronouncing the names of the Italian Golden Glovers. For goodness sake give Quin a "break." The majority of his listeners didn't know the difference anyhow, and after all what's in a name? W. T. MCDEVITT.

TRY THIS ON THE WOODPECKERS.

Valparaiso, Ind., May 29.—I have noticed articles in your paper in regards to birds pecking on tin. I had the experience, especially with yellow hammers. I always slip out of the house with a broom and get as near the point he is as possible, unseen by the bird, and toss the broom where he is and let out a yell. That would be the last I would be troubled with the bird.

Also in regard to carrier pigeons not returning to their homes. There are so many airplanes they meet the pigeons and frighten them, as the pigeons naturally think them some big destructive bird, and frightened off their course they lose their way. C. A. SAGER.

THE DINNER AND THE DECISIONS.

Keokuk, Ia., May 29.—About two months ago President Roosevelt gave a dinner for the members of the Supreme court, according to press reports. It's a good thing that dinner was not scheduled for this week, as the members of the court would probably have been served sauerkraut and bologna.

A MEMORY OF CHATEAU THIERRY.

Chicago, May 30.—The scene was a lonely hillside. An American flag was waving in the breeze. The flag was mud stained, faded and tattered. Beneath it were eight white crosses. To me no other flag has ever looked so beautiful or had a more eloquent message.

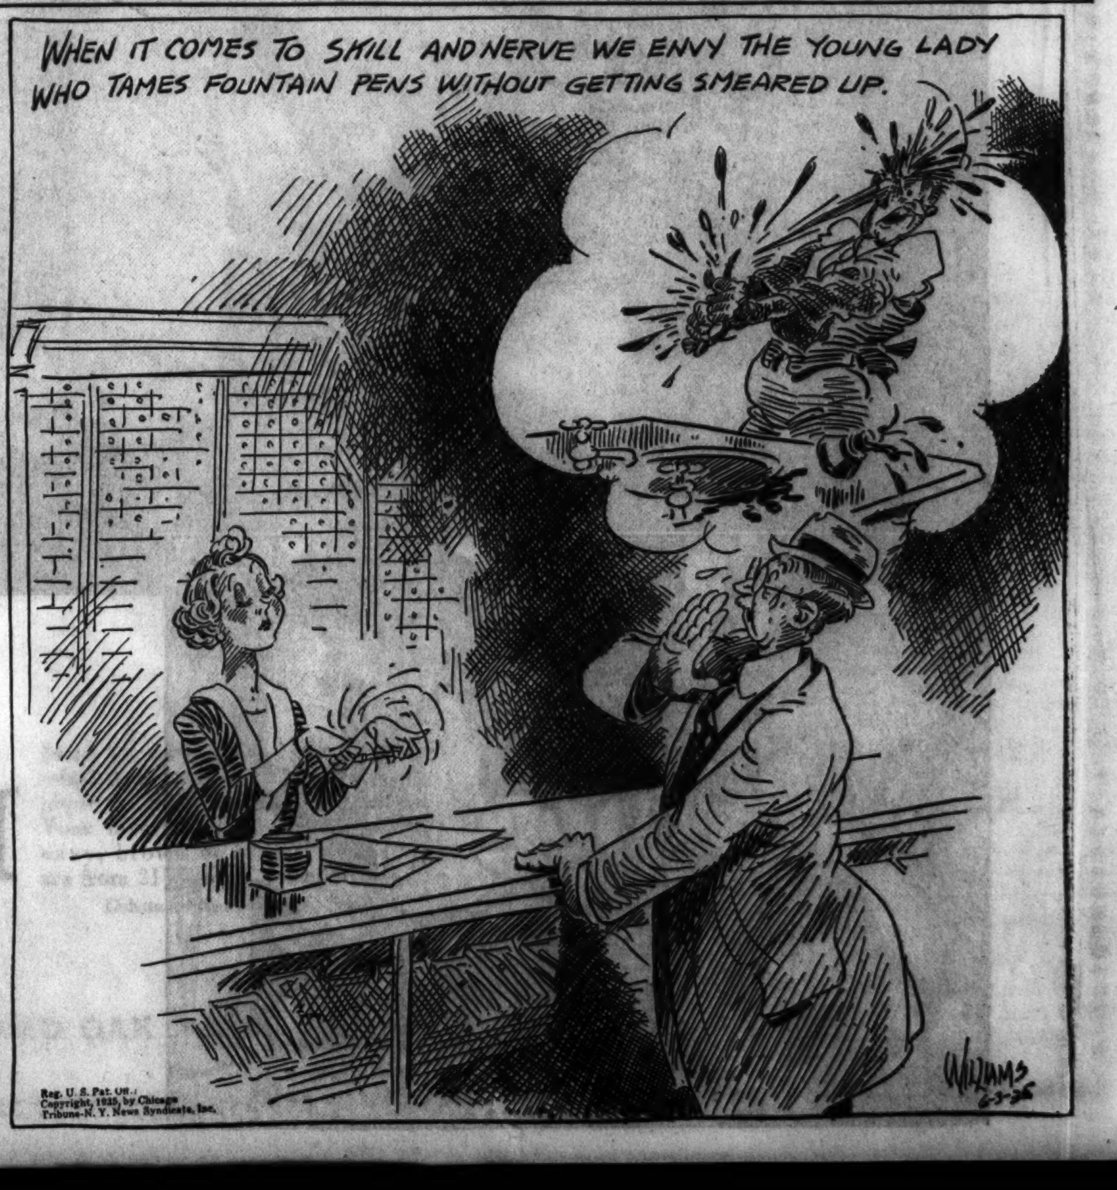
OUR SECRET AMBITION



PLAN 2 MONTHS OF NIGHTLY PARK CONCERTS HERE

Symphony Orchestras and Bands Will Play.

Free symphony and band concerts every night in Grant park from July 1 through Sept. 2 have been announced by the commissioners of the Chicago Park district. The seven weeks' series, which the commissioners anticipate will attract 25,000 people nightly, is the most extensive ever offered for Chicagoans and summer visitors to the city.

Funds for presenting the concerts were raised by Commissioner James C. Petrillo of the park board. The series was planned as a part of Mayor Kelly's program to provide high standard recreational service in the parks.

Orchestras to Take Part.

Five to eight concerts each will be given by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, the Woman's Symphony orchestra, the Civic Opera orchestra, and the following bands: Bohumir Kryl, Armin Hand, Thaviu's, Cavallo, Max Bendix, George Dasch, Glen Bainum, and Victor Grabel.

Programs will be announced from week to week and the musical fare will vary according to occasion and guest artists available. Opera, concert, and radio artists will participate.

Stock, DeLamarter, and Papi.

Symphony conductors will be Dr. Frederick Stock, Eric DeLamarter, and Gennaro Papi, and for the Woman's Symphony Ebba Sundstrom. All concerts will be given from the Grant park bandshell, directly north of Field museum.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the park district, commended Petrillo's work in arranging the series and heralded it as being "of distinct cultural value and a great influence in fortifying Chicago's position as the great summer capital of the midwest."

NORMANDIE SETS RECORD DAY'S RUN WITH 748 MILES

ABOARD S. S. NORMANDIE AT SEA, June 2.—(AP)—Fog which cut the speed of France's giant liner Normandie during the night cleared today and officers expected her to reach Ambrose lightship on her maiden New York voyage at 10:30 a. m. [Chicago time] tomorrow.

The vessel again smashed a record, making 748 miles from noon Saturday until noon Sunday, averaging 29.92 knots. Her average from Southampton is 29.5 knots. The Normandie from noon Thursday until noon Friday established a short-lived record, covering 744 miles at an average of 29.76 knots. Officers held bright hopes of breaking all records for an Atlantic crossing.

Except for five hours of fog the weather has been excellent. The foghorn boomed last night as the obscurity forced some reduction in speed for several hours. Passengers on the maiden voyage were excited when a young whale spouted off the bow at noon. Mme. Albert Lebrun, wife of the president of France, presided at gala night last night.

BILL FOR MORE ARMY AIR BASES WILL BE PUSHED

House to Act Wednesday, Its Sponsor Says.

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(AP)—A measure to add half a dozen powerful air bases to the nation's defenses today was scheduled for house action Wednesday. It was said to have the approval of President Roosevelt and the state department.

Representative Wilcox [Dem., Fla.], author of the bill, said house leaders had assured him it would be brought up Wednesday. He does not believe a recent international flurry had jeopardized its chances for passage by the house.

Secret testimony of ranking army generals, during hearing on the measure, appeared in a committee report to the effect there was a "camouflaged" provision for a base near the Canadian border and that in an "emergency" the United States must be prepared to seize British and French islands near American shores. President Roosevelt quickly thereafter censured the committee for making this testimony public.

Claims Roosevelt Approval.

Since that incident, Wilcox said he has been advised definitly by the White House that the President wants the bill enacted and by the state department that it considers no modifications necessary.

The war department would be directed under the pending legislation to consider these areas in picking out sites for the strategic bases:

Atlantic northeast, Atlantic southeast, and Caribbean, southeastern states, the Pacific northwest, Alaska, the Rocky mountains.

In addition, the measure would authorize "such intermediate stations as will provide for transcontinental movements incident to the concentration of the general headquarters air force for maneuvers."

For Great Lakes Base.

That was the language referred to as camouflaged to permit construction of a base in the Great Lakes area. Wilcox said he had offered to alter the "camouflaged" provision, but the state department told him it was not necessary.

To any sharpshooting at the bill the floor, because of that proviso, Wilcox is prepared to fire back figures about Canadian air bases. He contended that five of the six dominion bases are within eighty-six miles of the American boundary.

"But that does not mean anything," he asserted, "because we are friendly with Canada and always will be."

Relief Fund for Airport.

A $58,759,000 work relief application was made by the commerce department today for an airport program which it said "will do as much for the development of the airplane and for general flying as the hard surfaced roads did for the automobile."

These seven headings embraced work the commerce department wanted to do:

Completion of airports started by the CWA on city owned land.

Standardization and modernization of existing city owned airports.

Establishment of new airports in cities of 10,000 population and over.

Construction of seaplane ramps and service facilities.

Preparation of airports for radio approach landings, known as blind flying.

Removal of hazardous conditions at established airline terminals nad airmarking.

Secretary Roper said no work will be done on rented land nor will the government purchase land. Cities must supply the sites.

"Blind flying" projects were planned at Newark, N. J.; Pittsburgh, Columbus, and Cleveland, O.; Indianapolis, Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles.

News of The Tribune Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

Prepare for Visitors.

June 2, 1935.

WORKERS at THE TRIBUNE Experimental farm near Wheaton are laying gravel paths around the test plots to take care of hundreds of visitors from city and farm this summer. A four foot gravel path is being built around field A and across the plots so that the crops may be examined at close range even when the ground is soft.

It will be several weeks before many of the rare crops are up high enough to be identified. Flax and corn are about the only test plot crops that have broken through the ground. Some of the tender crops are yet to be planted.

All of these crops are expected to be up high enough to be interesting for visitors who attend THE TRIBUNE horse and mule pulling contest to be held at the farm on June 15. Over a nearby canal a new brdge has been built leading from the contest field to the meadow where the pulling contest is to be held.

Illinois hybrid No. 13 was the first of the three strains of corn to come up. They were all planted about the same time. The young plants broke through the ground the latter part of last week.

Peanuts, crotolaria, and pyrethrum seeds were planted in the plots last week.

In planning the week's work Carl Henderson, farm manager at the Wheaton place, said he expected to plant rice in field A tomorrow if the weather proved favorable.

John Rawlings, flockmaster, is giving the new Corriedale ewe special care while she is becoming accustomed to her new home. The ewe came from A. C. Gould's flock, kept on his farm near Beechwood, Mich. She already has been clipped and will not be turned into the shearing pens when the fleeces are removed this week from other ewes in the Wheaton farm flock.

Men at the farm find this to be a good time to remove dead wood from the trees in the pastures. Dead limbs are easy to find at this time of the year after the green leaves have come out and before the trees are covered with heavy foliage. Along with the task of removing the dead wood the workers often find it necessary to patch the trees by filling the cavities with a concrete mixture.

One of the jobs this week will be to harrow corn in the big fields in advance of the first cultivation. The fields will be repeatedly harrowed and rolled until the corn is about three inches high. Mr. Henderson says this keeps the weeds from getting ahead of the young corn and leaves the ground pulverized like an onion bed.

2 Shot Dead in Clash of Spanish Socialists, Guards

SCATTER STEEL PLANT PICKETS AT CANTON, OHIO

Canton, O., June 2.—(AP)—A cordon of police and deputy sherifs scattered union pickets today to permit workers of the United Alloy company and the Stark Rolling mills to return to work, despite a strike marked by three days of violence.

Observers said that nine automobile-loads of employés entered the United Alloy plant this morning. Both concerns are subsidiaries of the Republic Steel corporation. Officials of the plants would not say how many are working.

No violence marked the return to employment of the workers, who voted, 2,723 to 164, yesterday in favor of returning to work.

To Reopen Lumber Mills.

Seattle, Wash., June 2.—(AP)—Lumber mill whistles—strike silenced for many weeks—were ready today to sound the signal which will send thousands of men tramping back to work in the Pacific northwest tomorrow.

In the Longview, Wash., Portland, and Astoria, Ore., districts an estimated 12,000 men of the 40,000 affected by the strike were prepared under terms of agreements to start the mills and logging camps going.

10 PERSONS HURT AS AUTO DRIVER SLEEPS AT WHEEL

Indianapolis, Ind., June 2.—(AP)—Ten persons were injured, one seriously, near here early today when Henry S. Nichols, 23, of Pontiac, Mich., fell asleep at the wheel of the car he had been driving all night. The automobile left the road and crashed into a culvert.

Junior Otalions, 12, son of Mrs. Vina Otalions of Carriers' Mills, Ill., is in a serious condition with probably a fractured skull and a broken right arm.

Those cut and bruised were Nichols and his wife, Mrs. Jessie Nichols, 21; their son, Jackie Nichols, 2; Mrs. Otalions, her daughter, Beradien, 9, and two other sons, Harold, 14, and Oscar, 16; Ruth Mertes, 16, Eldorado, Ill., and Frankie Allen Mosley, 5, Eldorado, Ill.

TONG ROBBED OF $11,000.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 2.—(AP)—Seven orientals, carrying revolvers, robbed the headquarters of the Four Families' association here today of $11,000 in currency. The Four Families is one of the most powerful tongs on the Pacific coast. Within a few hours after the robbery four Chinese were arrested.

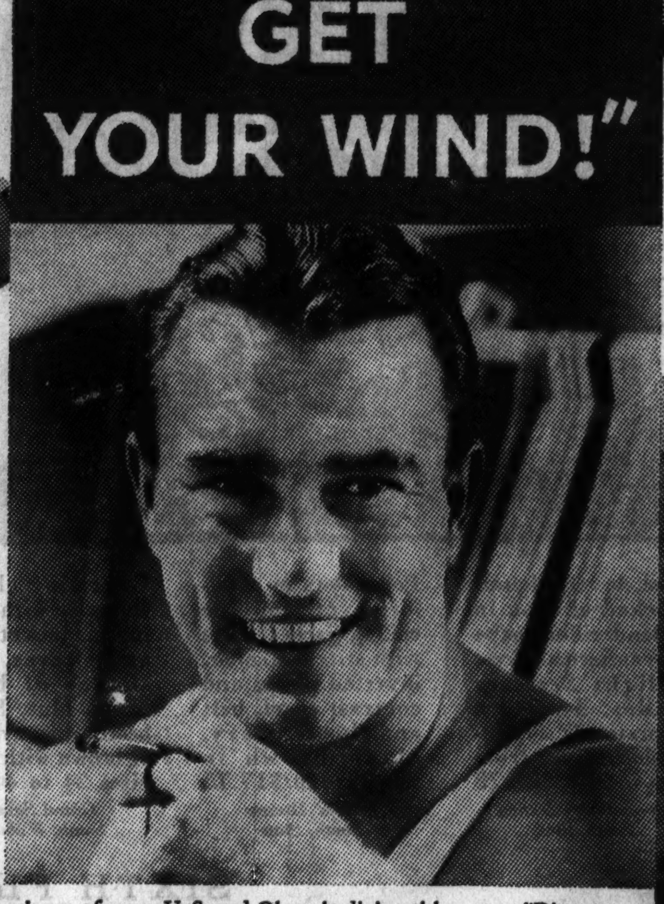
ATHLETES SAY:
"THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND!"



PETE DESJARDINS, winner of many U. S. and Olympic diving titles, says: "Divers and swimmers like a mild cigarette that won't get their wind or upset their nerves. That's why I prefer Camels—they never get my wind or jangle my nerves."

Read these reports from star athletes approving Camels

When athletes agree upon one cigarette, its mildness is placed beyond question. For they must be sure about mildness!

Pete Desjardins says: "Camels are so mild that I can smoke as many as I like and still keep my wind in perfect condition."

Pepper Martin, fleet-footed St. Louis Cardinal, says: "Camels are mild—don't cut down on my speed or wind." And Pepper is backed by Leo Sexton, Olympic shot-put record holder; Craig Wood, the golf star; Reggie McNamara, the "bike" racer; Susan Vilas, of swimming fame—to name only a few of the outstanding athletes who say they smoke Camels all they please, without disturbing their wind or nerves.

More enjoyment for you in this mild cigarette!

You'll find you can smoke Camels all you want! They are gentle on the throat. And athletes say that Camel's costlier tobaccos don't tire their taste—don't upset their nerves or get their "wind."

IT'S JUST AS IMPORTANT TO YOU to keep "in condition" as it is to any champion. Smoke Camels all you wish. Athletes say Camels never upset the nerves, never get the wind.

SO MILD! YOU CAN SMOKE ALL YOU WANT!

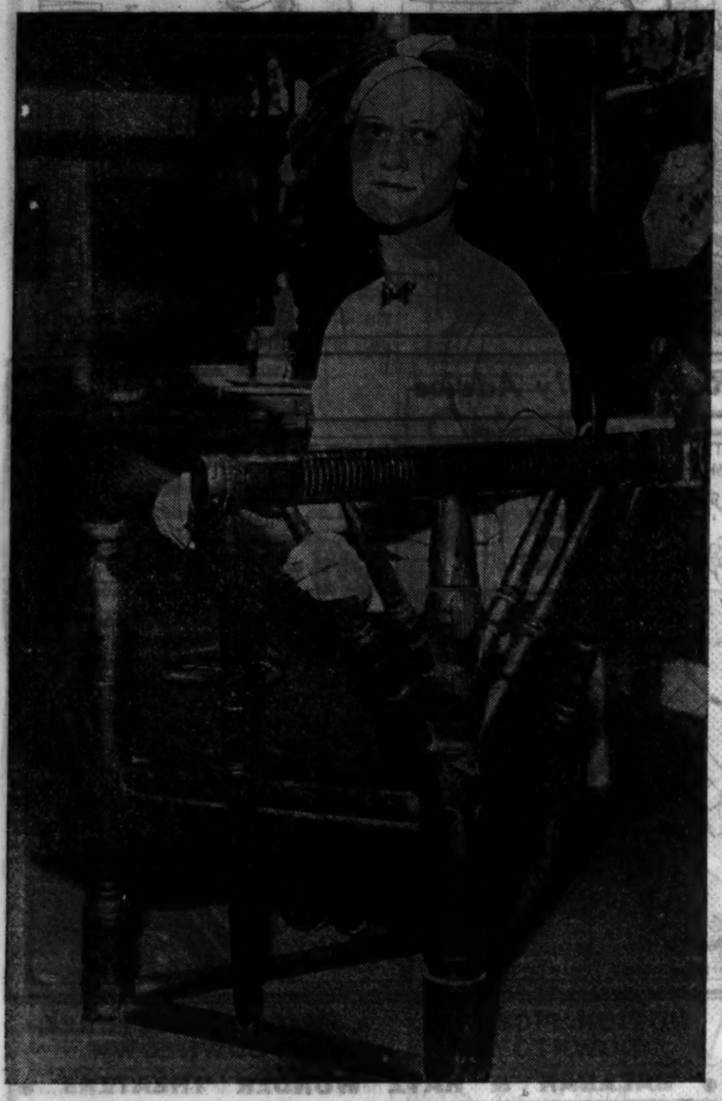
Alumnae to Show Antiques



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss True Kimball is pictured sitting in a chair of the period of Henry VIII., which will be a part of the antique exhibition and sale sponsored by the Chicago Rockford College club. The event opens Wednesday.

It seems quite fitting that a benefit exhibition for ancient Rockford college, one of the oldest women's colleges in America, should be one of antiques. Perhaps that was the thought behind the planning of the event, which will be held at the Woman's club of Evanston from Wednesday through Saturday.

Proceeds of the affair, which will contain fine displays of everything from prints to pewter, will go toward erecting a new recreation auditorium at Rockford college. Mrs. James M. Hobbs of Glencoe is in charge of the exhibition.

Among the north shore residents interested in the event are Mr. and Mrs. John Quincy Adams, Mrs. Emery Cobb Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Robert de Golyer, Dr. and Mrs. Newell Clark Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. H. Earl Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Herrick, Mrs. Andrew MacLeish, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. McCulloch.

Two Plays End Chicago Runs Next Saturday

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The summer season of theatrical and allied amusements opened "officially" or technically with the arrival of June. The Chicago stage, however, is content to announce closings rather than premières. "Hollywood Holiday" will leave the Selwyn theater next Saturday night after a run of seven weeks, and "Mary of Scotland," with Helen Hayes as heroine, will end a prosperous month at the Erlanger on the same date. These eliminations will leave "Three Men on a Horse" at the Harris, and "Laburnum Grove" at the Grand Opera house, to sustain the tradition of summer playgoing in Chicago as long as they are able. The latter play will move into the Selwyn, which is better suited to this type of comedy.

The three stars of "Hollywood Holiday"—Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, and "Skeets" Gallagher—will start back to Hollywood a week hence to resume their interrupted motion picture activities. Next fall they will reassemble to act "Hollywood Holiday" in New York. Helen Hayes, who recently decided to abandon the films and concentrate on the drama, will go into summer retreat to recuperate from an arduous tour. She has not yet found a vehicle for next season, but will begin to search for one as soon as she rallies from the fatigue of a long course of "one-night stands" in "Mary of Scotland."

The only definite prospects for summer drama in this area at present are the four productions which Ben Guy Phillips has announced for the North Shore Drama festival in Glencoe. This will start June 24 with the revival of Barrie's "Mary Rose."

Café amusements, in town or on the suburban motor routes, will attract more attention than the stage during the next three months. The Empire room of the Palmer house began its summer season last week with a new cabaret program headed by Veloz and Yolanda, who achieved a national vogue by their long runs in Chicago during the two World's Fair summers. Their third première was a gala occasion, attended by an enthusiastic assembly of first-nighters.

As ballroom dancers this graceful and romantic pair hold a position which matches that of Vernon and Irene Castle of twenty years ago. They have admirable technique and creative imagination in the dance, and they are personalities with glamor and charm. Their current program, containing three new inventions—"Dream Dance," "Chicago," and "Veyolanda"—represents their admirable art at its peak.

Cardini, who is generally regarded as the most adroit and impressive of contemporary sleight of hand tricksters, also figures importantly on the Empire room bill. His subtle and surprising manipulations with cards and lighted cigarets are done with gloved hands—the last touch of virtuosity in legerdemain. The Abbott ballet girls, in new ensemble numbers, complete the troupe. The dance band, under Veloz and Yolanda management, is directed by Shep Fields, and terpsichorean amateurs speak well of it.

Shaw's "Candida," in modern dress, was staged at the Jewish People's institute playhouse at the week-end by a group of clever semi-pros, with Riette Kahn in the title rôle and Albert Kahn and James Wands Riley as the two victims of Candida's Victorian vampirism. The performance will be repeated tonight and Tuesday night.

Society Busy Laying Plans for Vacations

Many Former Residents to Return for Visits.

BY JUDITH CASS.

Unless it is school graduations or weddings, there is no more engrossing subject at present than vacation plans. Most families are discussing preparations for holidays that range from complete tours of Europe to several weeks in a north woods cabin, while a number of former Chicagoans are making their vacations a visit home.

One of the latter is the Countess Ruggero Visconti di Modrone, the former Edith Fairbanks, who arrived yesterday with her titled husband to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks, at their home at 1500 Lake Shore drive. They crossed from Italy, where they have a villa near Milan, on the Conte Grande, reaching New York early Saturday. The length of their visit here is indefinite, but it is certain to be crowded with gayety, for Countess Visconti was popular in Chicago society before she married and went abroad to live.

Former Martha Morse Expected June 15.

Another titled Chicagoan, the former Martha Morse, who is now the Baroness Wolfgang B. von Peccoz, is coming back for a visit in Lake Forest on or about June 15. She is traveling to this country with her mother and father, the Charles H. Morses, who have been abroad for an extended stay in and about Munich, where the Baron and Baroness von Peccoz live. When they arrive here, the Morses' other daughter, now Mrs. William S. Covington of Seattle, is planning to come east with her family so there will be quite a reunion at the handsome house of the Morses on the shore in Lake Forest.

On the same boat on which the Count and Countess Visconti crossed to this country, Mrs. Ernst Freund and her two daughters, Nancy and Emmy Lou, are embarking today in New York. They will be gone until it is time for Nancy to enroll at Sarah Lawrence college as a freshman and for Emmy Lou to enter Dobbs Ferry. The Freunds have elaborate plans for cruising all around the Mediterranean, then spending several weeks on the continent and finally ending up in Copenhagen for some brilliant social events to which they have been especially invited.

Mrs. F. Goddard Cheney and Daughter to Sail.

In New York this week waiting to embark next Saturday on the Conte di Savoia are Mrs. F. Goddard Cheney and her daughter, Eleanor, of Winnetka, who expect to spend most of the summer abroad. When they return Miss Cheney will, no doubt, be making plans for her marriage to Robert Baxter Graves. Their engagement was announced last New Year's eve.

Mrs. Harry Spencer Brown is sailing Wednesday on the City of Norfolk to have a visit with her daughter, the Countess de Gramedo and the countess' two children, Consuelo and Master Jean, who live at Ranville, France. A visit of the same nature is taking Mrs. Americus F. Callahan over to England this coming week-end. Mrs. Callahan will be with her son and daughter-in-law, the Samuel Miller Callahans, and their children for most of the summer.

When Mrs. William de Burgh Whyte and her daughter, Joan, embarked Sat-

Good Morning!

KIND: Serio-pathetic comedy drama.

ACTING: Excellent.

DIRECTION: Good.

SETS, SCENERY, PHOTOGRAPHY: Satisfactory.

STORY: Silly. Built on the whiskered plot of a faithful, rabbity employé who is turned down when he asks for a raise, but, through a series of extraordinary circumstances, is enabled in the last reel, to make his boss eat humble pie. The film's one really amusing situation occurs in the sequence when, on Christmas Eve, a barful of joyous male celebrants sing "Three Blind Mice."

As is customary with this particular plot, Old Faithful has been engaged for years to a girl whose loyalty and devotion never waver, and who—in the last reel—is rewarded for believing in her man.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Not much, I fear. Audiences are too familiar with the general layout.

See you tomorrow!

Colors of Lilac Are Being Used in Accessories

Costume Jewelry Also Takes to Violet Shades.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The lilac color wave has reached nearly every corner in every shop in town. You can find lilac tinted wool bathing suits; you can find lilac shades in all the newest twin and separate sweaters; linen blouses in all tones from deep, dark purple to the loveliest of pale mauve and last, the good looking new costume jewelry in this different and very popular violet color.

Earrings, long and short necklaces, clips and bracelets are available. They are perfect contrasts for your all white suits and street clothes as well as the desired harmony with lilac tinted chiffons or prints that have lots of lilac tones combined with other pastels.

Pastel tinted patent lether handbags are new . . . in every luscious tone you may need for summertime—yellow, green, violet, pink, blue, and deep red. Various shapes and styles are obtainable. Because they can be kept clean with ease [just a swish of a damp cloth] they are the best buys for tub cottons, linens, and summer sheers.

Price tags are modest and you can buy two or three without that guilty feeling of being extravagant.

If you like frills you'll buy the typically feminine handbags of pastel organdy. They are picturesque and appealing trifles for all your party clothes of organdy, flowered chiffons, nets, and lace. They are small, made of rows of tiny ruffles or plaitings and come in yellow, pale green, pink, pale blue, white, and rosy red.

The fashion photograph shows carefully matched white costume accessories for all dark summer street ensembles. The dashing hat is of white waffle piqué with a contrasting headband of black velvet. The unusual front brim shades the eyes and slants down at the right side. The crochet mesh gloves fit as smoothly as kidskin. The large white wooden bead pouch bag [easy to keep spotless] completes this smart trio of new white accessories for navy, brown, or black costumes. All obtainable in a Chicago shop.

Shane Leslie Lauds American Standards in Notre Dame Talk

Notre Dame, Ind., June 2.—[Special.]—Shane Leslie, noted Irish critic and writer, today told 540 graduating University of Notre Dame seniors in his commencement address that they are "beginning life in a land where standards are still immeasurably higher than in Europe."

"There one in ten has a car," he said. "You do not realize the perfection of American telephones until you have tried to call across the street in Europe. Your trains are more comfortable, and distribution of the best food is amazing. The standards of living for the great middle class in the United States are fully as high as can be attained by the most affluent in Europe. Your material civilization seems complete.

"I think your track team could have beaten Oxford and Cambridge this year," he said. "I have put aside names of six students who, I prophesy, will be amongst the foremost American writers in ten years. Our universities are largely in the past, yours are in the future. Your student body is more efficient all around."

Last week in drawing class in one of the grammar schools the children were told to draw a crosier in the hand of a shepherd who watched over his flock.

Crook—Raconteur—June Note—Knitters—Eyeful.

"Color his robe and put a crook in his hand," the teacher told her pupils, after informing them they were to draw a shepherd.

A little girl named Mary Blish handed in the most interesting drawing. The Good Shepherd stood by his flock, hills rose in the distance, and the scene was suggestive of peace and love. The shepherd's hand was held aloft, and in it he clutched a crook, a kicking, writhing public enemy, holding a gun.

Well, I have had opportunity to change my mind. The other day I saw an old gentleman calmly knitting a bouclé skirt in the midst of a group of chattering women in the knitting department of a State street store."

That knitting professor at Indiana university, by the way, knitted a three piece suit for his daughter as well as one for his wife. He took up swimming about two years ago, hitherto having been too busy with an erudite volume he was writing on the history of musical instruments to indulge in athletics. That summer he could swim just the length of a pool. Last summer he swam two miles across a lake in Wisconsin.

Young Count Giovanni Cardelli, who is at the moment in Chicago with his mother, Countess Cardelli, has just completed a book on Verdi. It is a biography that deals with both his life and his music, and the dark eyed young man who chose a composer from the country of his father as subject for his first book delved into all that has been written about Verdi in French and German as well as in Italian. It is surprisingly little, he said, considering how many operas Verdi wrote and his important place in musical history.

Count Cardelli, who will lecture on Bellini before the Drama league shortly, wants to do a biography of Garibaldi, he said.

Savine Honored by Orchestra; Plays 4 Roles

Proves Himself Composer with Message.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Alexander Savine appeared in the several capacities of composer, arranger, conductor, and guest in a concert given in his honor by members of his orchestra in Thorne hall, McKinlock campus of Northwestern university, last night. There was further assistance in the course of the program by the Croatian singing society, Zora, directed by George Benetzky, the Serbian singing society, Branko Radichevic, in groups of songs, and by that brilliant pianist, Moissaye Boguslawski, who played a Chopin group.

The orchestra was a comparatively small but positively able organization, and Mr. Savine, in addition to being a spirited conductor, displayed himself as a composer with something to say. In a work called "Menada" he has written good melodies, set with agreeably acidulated sophistication that goes under the name of the modern idiom, all with excellent taste and pleasing results. That he knows his orchestral colors thoroughly was evident in his arrangements. Here, though the program gave him credit for only one, he introduced Debussy's "Claire de Lune," Rachmaninoff's Prelude in C sharp minor, and Wolfe's "De Hallelujah Rhythm," three strikingly different manners, but all effective. The program closed with a work based on themes from his comic opera, "The Diplomat."

"The American artist has lost a champion of his cause. For Herbert Witherspoon was an American," said Dudley Buck in his address during the memorial service for Mr. Witherspoon at the Chicago Musical college yesterday afternoon. Mr. Buck emphasized Mr. Witherspoon's untiring efforts for American musicians, his organizing ability, and his capacity for friendship.

The service was held by Xi chapter of Phi Mu Gamma, the national allied arts sorority of which Mr. Witherspoon was an honorary member. The musical portion of the program was supplied by Silvio Scionti, pianist, who played two Brahms numbers, and Maria Matyas, contralto, who sang the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria."

Berenice Holmes presented and appeared with her Junior ballet and the somewhat older concert group at the Goodman theater yesterday afternoon. The program was an elaborate one, including Ravel's "Ma Mere l'Oye," five numbers of Chopin's "Sylphides," Strauss' "Hussar and the Hussy," and a long list of divertissements. There was prolonged and deserved applause for a group of mazurkas by Chopin and Saint-Saëns in which Miss Holmes appeared with the Concert Group, a highly schooled and colorful presentation.

THE SLEEPING CHILD

By Alice Grant Rosman.

SYNOPSIS.

The girls of the Chevening family of Fendon Edge, near London, are pursuing careers. Pauline producing plays. Eleanor is studying medicine. Jenny, the youngest, runs a hat shop and changes fiancés now and then. Audrey, an orphaned cousin, with a talent for design, has for 15 years been as a daughter to Anne and George Chevening, the girls' parents. Audrey becomes engaged to Miles Buchanan. Miles has been forced, through adversity, to shut up most of the Priory, his inherited home. He and Geoffrey Burton are partners in a stock breeding venture. Anne Chevening had been in love with Audrey's father, Hector Chevening. Her parents had broken up the romance and persuaded her to marry his cousin. Later Hector, a victim of the war and penniless, had brought his wife and child to visit the Chevenings, at George's invitation. Anne still loved Hector and felt he still loved her. Shortly after they left Hector shot his wife and himself. Neighbors had heard them quarrel. Audrey was in the next room, apparently asleep. No one ever spoke to her of the tragedy, which Anne fears she may have caused. She loves Audrey as her own child, but her sense of guilt is a barrier between them. When the engagement is announced gossip begins. Miss Dorset, Miles' aunt, has stated that Audrey's father was killed by the Turks. Miss Fell, village gossip, calls Audrey a cuckoo in the nest. Both remarks are overheard by the rector's two demon children, who repeat them to Audrey. Audrey receives a begging letter from a man signed Uncle Bert, recalling his friendship with her mother. The letter recalls to Audrey's memory the tragedy and quarrel preceding, which she had not slept through and which had been about a man in her mother's life. Geoffrey Burton has become a woman hater since the desertion of his faithless wife. Audrey goes to the Priory to look over the linen supply.

INSTALMENT XXXVII.

A PROBLEM OF HEREDITY.

They had reached the upper landing, where on a long table Miggs had spread out the linen as though for a charity bazaar, but Audrey passed it with a hasty glance, flinging off her hat, and went over to the window seat to look out, reminded of her aunt, of the letter to "little Audy," and all the distressful questions she had wanted to put to Miles, things so alien to this happy nonsense, that her heart was leaden at the thought.

Miles, unaware of her change of mood, followed her, and she knelt on the seat peering out, put his arm round her and kissed the top of her head.

To have her here alone in the quiet of the old house made the moment perfect, and that she should feel as he did about their marriage seemed almost too marvelous to be believed. Yet as he looked out at the shabby garden he thought of all his plans to make both outside and inside a little more fitting for her before she came to him, feeling certain, as he had felt before, that she did not realize what she was giving up. He had been too long responsible to be irresponsible now, though his desire for her made it hard at moments like these, and he set himself to think firmly of the bulbs he had sent for, which would be running through the grass out there in the spring, and the rooms indoors at least brightened by fresh paint to welcome her.

"Tell me about Nell," she said suddenly. "I knew she came, of course. She thought I was going to be here and called for me, but she must have been quite mad to think Geoff would take her to the dance. Still, why was he upset, Miles?"

She looked up at him anxiously, recalling with disquiet her own talk with Eleanor and all she had hinted but had not said. She had a vague idea that by way of this incident she might reach the right moment to voice her problems.

In face of what she suspected of herself, Miles' words took on a sinister significance.

At a distance it had seemed so simple to talk to Miles, but now she found it difficult, wanted it over, wanted to put it off, could not find words.

Miles told her briefly what had occurred, and his own particular rage because with Burton away he would have double work to do over the week-end, neglecting her.

"I've had to lend him the car and find him a job to keep his mind occupied until Mabel is safely out of the neighborhood," he said. "Curse the woman! I'd been planning to kidnap you on Saturday and go off somewhere for the day."

"Never mind, there will be other Saturdays, darling Miles," she said. "Nell has no feeling for anyone. She thinks feelings are a sign of a low intelligence and love is sentimental, but you'd think she would have let Geoffrey alone, instead of flinging Mabel at his head. . . . Poor old Geoff, he must have been terribly fond of his wife."

"Yes . . . worthless little cat she is, too."

Audrey, who had been leaning back against his shoulder, looked up at him consideringly.

"O, I don't know. Perhaps she couldn't help it. She may have thought she was in love with Geoff until she met the other man."

"What's that?" exclaimed Miles indignantly. "A nice sentiment to throw in a fellow's face. If that's how you propose to treat men, Miss Chevening, I shall go out and look for a nice deep pond."

"Darling, I wouldn't. You know I wouldn't. I'm certain I could never love anyone but you, but the right people don't always meet. Scores of girls marry because they don't want to be left or because they allow themselves to be persuaded."

"Yes, that's true, and I daresay Geoff was persuasive enough, for he seems to have been hard hit, poor devil," admitted Miles. "Still, that doesn't let the lovely Mabel out, you know. It wasn't another man with her, but any man."

"Really?" asked Audrey faintly.

"O, lord, yes. Burton is well rid of her, if you ask me. . . . Far as that goes, he knows it. By jove, it was a piece of luck there were no children."

Audrey drew away from him and somehow stood up, moving to the table and turning her back to hide the wave of color that she felt breaking over her face.

"I'm hot," she said in a voice that sounded hoarse in her own ears, and caught up her hat and fanned herself. "I should have worn a thinner dress. O, dear . . . I suppose we must get to work."

His words had cut her to the heart. Miles, of course, was merely taking the normal view that the children of such a marriage are to be pitied and are besides a complication, but to the girl in her distress of mind and in face of all she knew and suspected of her own situation, what he had said took on a different and sinister significance.

If Miles thought there would be danger to the children of such a woman as Mabel Burton, what of herself, who was surely in the same position? Was unfaithfulness hereditary then? How could she find out? And what on earth was she to do?

She had no experience to guide her, though she and her friends had lightly discussed eugenics and argued the right of anyone to transmit madness, tuberculosis, or any other such malady to their children. They had discussed sex, too, being of their day and generation, deciding that in a general way men, while often unfaithful themselves, resented a like frailty in a woman, though there were certainly some women who could not help it and were made like that.

Now that old vague fear which had beset her on the morning of her engagement returned to her as a premonition, and all the other incidents which had opened her eyes to the past became contributory to it. She was too frantic for logic or common sense, could only, with an immense effort, still her whirling thoughts as Miles brought her a chair and pushed her into it gently, saying:

"There you are, lady of the house. Linen? I can show you an excellent line."

"I'll take all you have," said the lady of the house, and she drew out a notebook from her jumper pocket to write down the list as he called the items. She bent her head over the little book, as though intent to get the business over, and managed at last to pull herself together and answer his nonsense in the same spirit.

But by and by when the gong summoned them to tea and they went downstairs, it was less easy to hide her face from Miles, and he was immediately concerned by her look of strain and exhaustion.

He wanted to take her by car, but she said she would enjoy the walk, so he went with her through the wood.

She did not go in at once when he had left her but hid behind the trees, looking after him with wistful eyes. She had been able to ask him none of her questions, after all, for if he felt like that about Mabel Burton, it was clear that he could know nothing of her own parents, might even shrink from her if he knew, would never have loved her, would not dream of marrying her. Terror possessed her at the thought that perhaps she was seeing him for the last time, and she began to run after him frantically, but he had gone too far, and she turned back, seeing it was no use, and flung herself down on the bracken, burying her head in her arms.

Fear is perhaps the most fatal of all human weaknesses, and Anne's fears had inevitably defeated her anxious care for her lover's daughter, so that the girl, caught in a net of doubts, ignorance and half knowledge, now saw in every remembered incident between them suspicion of some mysterious evil in herself which filled her with terror and shame.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Fatherly Advice

New Styles in Belts Require Slim Waistline

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Have you not noticed, girls, how belts are taking on a distinction, or, as they say in the swank dress places, an importance, of late? I hear that early fall styles are going to feature the dress belt even more importantly. I've seen some fancy ones already that give more than a hint of the early demise of the dress belt of like material to the dress, narrow and inconspicuous. All of which might seem as if I were stealing the fashion editor's stuff, but not so.

Where the dress belt dictators go we must go, too. In fact, to do it up rightly, we should get there before them with the waistline upon which a decorative belt might be adjusted.

A correspondent asks a question about waist measurements which perhaps more of you would like to have answered, too. She asks if there is any waist measure standard by which one may judge what one's should be approximately. To which I answer that there is. First, you should obtain your ideal bust measure, according to your height, on which I can give you a key. For 5 feet in height, the ideal bust measurement is 30 inches. For 5 feet 1 in height, the 31 inch bust is about right. Five feet 2 bust measure, 32. And so on. For every added inch in height an inch more bustline measurement is the standard.

Now, to determine the waist measurement all you have to do is to subtract eight inches from your ideal bust measurement. If you are 5 feet 4, say, your bust measure would be 34 inches. Subtract 8 and you have a waistline of 26 inches.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A little gift of exquisite beauty that will enchant any bride is a bottle of a very beautiful perfume in a white, crown shaped bottle encrusted in gold. It has all the richness of Russian royal jewels and it is beautifully set off by its white box—a chaste, lovely thing of gleaming white satin with a small gold crown design in the center of the top.

And perhaps the best thing about it is that the perfume outdoes the package, which is saying plenty!

You aren't restricted in your choice to just one scent. You may select one of three, but making the selection will be difficult. Our personal preference is for the one that's slightly smoky—or at least seems that way to us. There isn't a suggestion of actual smoke, of course, but the fragrance has a sweet haziness about it that suggests a delicate altar incense.

The majority of women will probably prefer one of the other two. One is characterized by particular élan, but with no sacrifice of the luxurious note. The other is characterized by definite sweetness, although it isn't at all cloying.

The crown bottle in its virginal setting of white satin and velvet contains one ounce, which should last any bride a goodly time. You'll find it in several shops around town.

Many Former Residents to Return for Visits.

urday on the Britannic to return to their home in London, they were accompanied by Mrs. Whyte's brother, Frederick T. Vaux. Mr. Vaux expects to spend considerable time with his sister and her family because of the recent death of Mrs. Vaux.

Other Chicagoans to Depart for Europe.

Crossing to England on the Aquitania, which leaves New York next Friday, Mrs. Callahan will be on board ship with several Chicagoans. Miss Peggy Hambleton is sailing on this same boat with her sister, Mrs. F. Stanley Rickcords, and her niece, Anne Rickcords, to spend most of the summer abroad. Plus a maid and an automobile, Mrs. Robert B. Gregory is going with her granddaughter, Miss Betty Durham, daughter of the Raymond Durhams of Winnetka. Mrs. Gregory and Miss Durham will make their headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, where another of Mrs. Gregory's daughters, Mrs. Arthur Sweetser, and her family live.

It is purely pleasure that is taking the Noel Flints over to England. They are now on the high seas, having sailed Saturday from New York, and they will be away all of three months, spending most of this time in the British Isles.

Motor trips plus the desire to hear as much music as possible in Europe's music centers is taking Miss Frances Whedon and her debutante niece, Miss Frances Jeffrey, over on the maiden voyage east of the handsome new Normandie. The report is that there will be more than 35 Chicagoans crossing to Europe on the Normandie, several more than made the first trip in this direction.

Miss Whedon left for the east more than a week ago, going first to Rochester, N. Y., to visit and then proceeding to Poughkeepsie to join her niece, who is a Vassar student. Upon their return in the fall, Miss Whedon plans to take a house in Lake Forest.

Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine and Daughter Sail June 29.

A north cape cruise is what Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine and her daughter, Jane, are planning with keen excitement. They will sail June 29 on the Kungsholm, but before this they will drive to Ashland, Mass., to open their summer home there. Miss Valentine will make a quick trip back to Chicago to be present at the wedding of Theodora Shaw and John L. King on June 27 and then will return east.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernhard M. Kirstein of 124 Greenleaf street, Evanston, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Brach, to James W. Alsdorf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Alsdorf of Winnetka, this morning. The romance, which was told to a few intimate friends last night at a buffet supper at Miss Kirstein's home, is a whirlwind affair. It was only three months ago that the young couple were introduced. Miss Kirstein has just finished at Roycemore and Mr. Alsdorf is a graduate of the Wharton School of Finance of the University of Pennsylvania.

Chicagoans who attended Miss Wright's school in Bryn Mawr will have a grand reunion at the Casino at noon today when the Alumnæ association holds a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Jerrold S. Cochran of Philadelphia, president of the association.

Mrs. James Lawrence Houghteling of Winnetka, who was Laura Delano back in her school days, is in charge of arrangements. Assisting her are Mrs. Stuart J. Templeton of Lake Forest, Miss Honore White, Miss Jean McArthur, Mrs. Augustus Knight, and Miss Susan Badgerow.

Among the others expected at the luncheon are Mrs. Robert J. Dunham Jr., Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, Mrs. John T. Pirie Jr., Mrs. Jay N. Whipple, Mrs. James N. Rawleigh, and Miss Charlotte Chandler.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart will be back in New York today from a Memorial day cruise to Bermuda. They sailed last Wednesday on the Kungsholm, the same boat on which they made a cruise to the North Cape a couple of summers ago.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, who went to the orient in February, are arriving in Vancouver tomorrow on the Empress of Japan, so they should be back at their Lake Shore drive house within a few days.

CHILD'S DRESS.

This clever dress for a small girl originally was made from a red and white tablecloth. The skirt was cut in one piece, using the border for the bottom, and had a seam at one side. The little waist, cut with a square neck, back and front, had shoulder ties of the border. The French panties, the same back and front, were cut out of two corners. The miniature views should make every detail clear. Crinkly cottons, plaid gingham, and printed dimity are other suitable materials.

The pattern, No. 3323, comes in sizes 2, 4, and 6 years.

BY MARY MEADE.

Today we are stepping aside to let our readers pass along some of their favorite recipes and cooking suggestions.

The first of these unquestionably is one of the best vegetable combinations we've eaten in many a day. The dish, according to its donor, E. R. S., is a French vegetable stew, commonly called "ratatonille" in France.

To quote: "Cut an eggplant in large dice and do the same with Italian squash. (Summer squash will do.) Slice three onions, quarter four fresh tomatoes (or use an equal amount of drained canned tomatoes), dice a stalk of celery, and chop a small, sweet red pepper. Any other vegetables, such as string beans or small lima beans, may be added. Cover the bottom of a large pot roast kettle with cooking oil. Put in the eggplant first, cook covered for a few minutes, then add the rest of the vegetables. Season with salt, pepper, thyme, and a clove of garlic, cover, and allow to cook slowly. Serve in small baking dishes, covered with grated cheese, and reheated under the broiler for a minute."

Sound good? It is! While we're on the vegetable theme, here's a suggestion from Holland, Mich., sent by Mrs. M. D. She writes: "My two children are fond of spinach cooked as the Dutch cook it in the Netherlands. Cook the spinach as usual, drain, and chop finely. Then stew it in a small amount of milk until almost dry. (This may be omitted if desired.) Take from the heat and just before serving add a generous piece of butter, a dash of nutmeg, and one or two rusks crumbled finely."

"Here's the way to take the curse off spinach—servie it with stewed tomatoes on top," writes a man in Aiken, S. C.

Now back to the Dutch Almond Squares, the recipe for which Mrs. M. D. also sent for you. They're made like this: Make a pastry of one cup of flour, a half cup of butter or lard and butter mixed, and water to make a stiff paste. Roll half of this and use to line the bottom of an 8x8 cake pan. Spread with a mixture of four teaspoons of almond extract, two egg yolks, 1½ cups sugar, six tablespoons water, and eight tablespoons flour. Cover with the rest of the pastry, pinch the edges and corners together tightly, and bake in a moderately hot oven. Serve in squares.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

KIBITZERS.

Kibitzers may be divided roughly into two classes: The kind that breathes down your neck, and the type that peers over your left shoulder. One of the former nominees for oblivion went so far the other night as to virtually take the cards out of my hand and play them for me. The payoff came when he suggested that the lead of the seven of spades might insure my four heart contract—a lead that I, myself, was just on the point of making. I had to follow his advice, much to my subsequent regret, for he has given the impression ever since that he and I are sharing some dark, fascinatingly wicked secret. "Remember that four heart contract?" he will prod. "I guess I helped you out of a tight spot."

The only defense I could muster was to tell him the following anecdote. The scene was laid in a mining town in the west, about 1900. The characters are six sombreroed, bespurred draw poker players and a few odd hangers-on. The time is midnight.

The pots had been comparatively small—not more than $200 or $300 changing hands. Finally the consistent loser picked up his dream hand—a ten full pat. Assuming a nonchalance he did not feel, he managed to coax all the other players into the pot. It made quite a tidy sum and, as he raised, the others dropped out one by one until only a sinister looking individual across the table from him was left. This man seemed undaunted by the pat hand. It was his turn to bet, and with one gesture he shoved all the chips in front of him into the pot. Our hero hesitated. Then he noticed one of the hangers-on, who was seated directly behind the better, raise four fingers in the air and form with his lips the fatal words, "Four aces." He did this several times, and finally the holder of the full house dejectedly threw in his cards. Fortunately for his peace of mind, his opponent exposed his hand. There they were—four aces, a truly beautiful sight.

Afterward, meeting at the bar the man who had tipped him off, the loser muttered some halting words of thanks.

"O, that's all right," said the kibitzer airily. "If I had sat behind you, I should have done the same thing."

"But why on earth——?" asked the loser.

"Because that's just the kind of dirty so-and-so I am!"

Experts Scoff at Fetish of Ignoring Baby

Insist He Actually Needs to Be Handled.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Don't you love it when, instead of gangsters, it's babies who "make" the front page? When, instead of the hard visage of Public Enemy No. 1, we are confronted with the starry eyed, chubby countenance of Public Delight No. 1, or perhaps just now I should say numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5! Our mail has been so filled with babies in the last months that we simply must give these up and coming young things more space.

What I want to talk to you about today is a new idea in baby care that is old, too—old as common sense, and mother love, and the rightness of warm, natural impulses. The subject is the question of handling the baby.

In this matter of handling the baby we have swung from one extreme to the other and now are in about the middle of the arc. A few generations back the baby was often an exhibition piece, and the toy of a host of admiring relatives and friends.

Then some of the newer groups came along and so scared the poor parents that they scarcely dared touch their babies sufficiently to get them fed and washed and clothed! "You mustn't hold the baby. He'll get to depend on it." Of course many of us laughed at these bugaboos and enjoyed our babies. But many heeded these direful warnings! We are now on good, safe, middle ground.

A baby needs handling, the experts announce—not to mention the mother's need and desire for doing it! He actually needs the handling. And if you need convincing, we shall give you the reasons tomorrow, since we haven't the space today.

Circular Quilt Pattern Created in New England

Puritan Maiden.

BY NANCY CABOT.

When our forbears designed a quilt pattern requiring circles, semi-circles, etc., they had no draftsman's compass at hand. They resorted to cups, saucers, pie plates, or whatever fitted their needs. "Puritan Maiden" was first designed during that era, in 1840, in a village near Plymouth, Mass. Red, printed lavender, and brown formed a lovely color arrangement at that time, but modern tastes would find it scarcely suitable, preferring gay prints or delicate pastels.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

Persistent Writing or Telephoning Never Won Indifferent Boy

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Wad some power the giftie give us" womenfolk to avoid heartache after heartache! We refer to bombarding the male with more and more letters, the first of which he ignores. Or, adding phone call to phone call, after one has been told the man is not there.

Daily that plaintive note appears in our confessional here. The girl keeps on writing, thinking perhaps her mail has gone astray, or so she argues with herself, that perhaps the man is not aware that she has phoned. The sad truth is that our postal deliveries are to be counted on almost as fatally sure as rent day or any other predicament upon which no escape can be built. Telephone calls, while not so sure of delivery through a second party, generally are revealed to the person called.

If a man isn't heart and soul interested he will not write. So when a young woman gets that busy signal, whether it is an unanswered call or an unanswered letter, the only way she can save her face and more heartache is to call another number or write a letter to some other address.

LOST FAT
Fooled Gossipers

Mrs. J. R. McCausland of Pittsburgh writes: "I took off 8 lbs. in two weeks with Kruschen. I ate as usual and feel fine." You, too, can safely reduce as Mrs. McCausland did if you'll only have a mind of your own. Pay no attention to gossipers who wouldn't want to see you the slender woman you can be if you'll only take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a cup of hot water every morning (tastes fine with juice of half lemon added).

Kruschen is SAFE—it's a health treatment and when your body abounds with Kruschen fitness — excess fat leaves. Jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle—any drugstore.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., June 2.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt returned to the White House tonight after a week-end cruise down the Potomac on the Sequoia. Mrs. Roosevelt is spending the week-end in New York and will be in Orange, N. J., tomorrow to spend the day with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parish.

The French ambassador and Mme. de Laboulaye went to New York today to meet Mme. Lebrun, wife of the president of France, who will arrive there tomorrow for a short visit in this country. They will return here with her Tuesday, and President and Mrs. Roosevelt will receive her Tuesday afternoon at the White House and will entertain at dinner for her that evening.

The secretary of war and Mrs. Dern have as their guests for ten days the latter's sister and nieces, Mrs. Randall F. Curtis and her daughters of Sioux City, Ia.

...FOR 61 JUNES—NEW HOMEMAKERS HAVE CHOSEN BOWMAN SERVICE

BOWMAN DAIRY COMPANY

The Milk of Superior Flavor

ESTABLISHED 1874

● Not lightly will a bride choose things that may serve her for a lifetime. Her sterling pattern, for instance . . . her dinner china and crystal. And, in one of the most important of such decisions, she has only to follow tradition. The best in dairy service is assured her the day she starts with Bowman.

To Bowman, dependable service means far more than delivering milk promptly. It includes also the constant inspection of carefully picked dairy herds, ever advancing methods of sanitary control, uninterrupted watchfulness 365 days a year!

This June, hundreds of brides in the Chicago territory will choose Bowman as their source of milk supply. And like the thousands of brides of other Junes, they will continue to rely upon Bowman service throughout the coming years.

THE GUMPS—CRUMS FOR THE GUMPS

TIGERS POUND FOUR PITCHERS FOR 14 HITS

Detroit Gets Split in Series.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., June 2.—One inning was all the Title Holding Tigers needed today to put a temporary halt to the sufferings they have experienced at the hands of the White Sox. They landed on Whitlow Wyatt and Les Tietje in the third, scored seven runs and then coasted to victory before 23,000 for an even break in the two game series. The score was 10 to 5, giving the Tigers their second victory in eight struggles with the Chicagoans this season.

The lightninglike conclusion of Wyatt's first start came after he had been jolted with a single, a homer, and a triple in the third. The demonstration convinced Manager Jim Dykes that Wyatt's fast ball was not suited to the occasion. A few minutes later Dykes learned that whatever it was Tietje was throwing was equally lacking in deception. So Joe Vance was summoned with six runs already home and he managed to stop the riot after one more Tiger scored.

The General Buckles Down.

Into the dizzy inning there were crowded seven hits and three bases on balls, these being the contribution of thirteen men who batted before Vance fanned Goose Goslin for the third out. One of the three hits off Wyatt was a homer by Charley Gehringer with a man on base. The only hit off Vance in the inning was a double by Manager Mike Cochrane, who started the rumpus originally with a single off Wyatt.

Two of the three walks were given up by Tietje and both became runs. He also wild-pitched a runner in from third. Outside of all this, it was a quiet inning.

The sad foldup of Wyatt came after the Sox appeared well fixed for slipping a sound beating to old man Alvin Crowder, who appeared to have nothing more than a prayer. They rode over him roughshod in the second and third innings for a collection of four runs which put them in front, 4 to 1. But after falling heir to a big lead, the foxy old fellow took a new lease on life and yielded only four hits in the last six innings.

Another Robber, Eh, Zeke?

The Sox nearly scored in the first inning. Washington doubled with two out and Bonura whacked a hard liner toward short, but Rogell leaped up and speared it. To celebrate this escape, the Tigers hammered home a run off Wyatt in their half. Fox opened with a single to left, was sacrificed to second by Cochrane and scored when Gehringer hit the right center field bleacher for two bases. The next two men rolled to infielders.

Haas opened the second inning with a two base drive over first base and the Sox were soon ahead, 2 to 1. A pass to Appling came next. Dykes fanned and when Sewell grounded into a forceout the chances for run production became mighty slim. But Crowder helped out by walking Wyatt, filling the bases. Radcliff promptly singled to left, scoring Haas and Sewell. Hopkins flied to Goslin for the third out.

Sox Have Good Intentions.

After Wyatt had experienced a close call, caused by two walks in the Tiger second, the Sox bounced up with two more runs in the third, giving them a temporary 4 to 1 advantage. Bonura started this by singling with one out. Haas singled to center, and when Walker fumbled the ball Bonura went to third and Haas to second. Bonura scored and Haas took third on Appling's long fly. Haas scored on a single by Dykes, after which Sewell flied to Fox to end the inning.

The big collapse of Wyatt, not to mention Tietje, in the home third started with a single to right by Cochrane. The next step was Gehringer's homer into the bleachers. Greenberg hit the scoreboard in left

BIG GOLF SCHOOL OPEN TOMORROW! BRING A DRIVER

Women and Girls Take First Lesson.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The bell opening the third annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE will sound tomorrow night over thirteen courses of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association for the first classes of the largest group instruction project golf ever has seen.

The enrollment to date indicates a registration of more than 15,000 pupils who have enlisted for the series of six free lessons given by the professionals of the Daily Fee association. The first class on Tuesday night will be a joint session for women and girls. They will have their classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays for three weeks. Men and boys will be given lessons on Wednesdays and Fridays.

Mail the Coupon.

The registration coupon, which has been appearing in THE TRIBUNE for the last week, is printed for the last time today. If you wish to be registered officially as a student in the school, fill it out with name, address, and age [18 is the limit for boys' and girls' classes], check the course at which you intend to take your lessons, and mail it today to the golf editor, CHICAGO TRIBUNE. This coupon has not been carried as a regular entry blank, filling out of which is compulsory, but rather as a check on the likely enrollment of the school. Any man, woman, or child in the Chicago district who is interested in golf and wishes to take the lessons may become a pupil merely by appearing at one of the thirteen courses tomorrow or Wednesday nights.

Classes at the three inner courses—Mid City, Evergreen, or Big Oaks—will begin at 7 p. m. promptly, and at the ten outlying classrooms—Big Run, Cog-Hill, Elmgate, Indian Head, Mission Hills, Northbrook, Techny Fields, Vernon, Wabansee in Aurora, and Westgate Valley—will start a half hour later in order to allow pupils time to reach their courses.

The Program Schedule.

The complete time schedule of the school follows:

Tuesday, June 4—Opening classes for women and girls.
Wednesday, June 5—Opening classes for men and boys.
Thursday, June 6—Women and girls.
Friday, June 7—Men and boys.
Tuesday, June 11—Women and girls.
Wednesday, June 12—Men and boys.
Thursday, June 13—Women and girls.
Friday, June 14—Men and boys.
Tuesday, June 11—Women and girls.
Wednesday, June 19—Men and boys.
Thursday, June 20—Women and girls.
Friday, June 21—Men and boys.
Friday, June 28—Final form contest.
Saturday, July 6—Final medal play contest.

The program for the series of six lessons follows:

First lesson—Each pupil is requested to bring a driver, or to borrow one. This will be devoted to the grip, stance, and pivot.

Second lesson—Each pupil is requested to bring a brassie. The backswing and the finish of the swing will be concentrated on here.

Third lesson—Each pupil is requested to bring a midiron. This lesson will be devoted to the swing in general, taking in all phases of it.

Fourth lesson—Each pupil is requested to bring a mashie. This lesson will be grounded on the short iron game.

Fifth lesson—Each pupil is requested to bring a mashie and a putter, since chipping and putting will be the basis of this lesson.

Sixth lesson—Each pupil is requested, if possible, to bring all of the clubs used in the preceding five lessons. This will be the final lesson of the series, in which all of the fundamentals will be reviewed.

The final competitions, form on June 28 and medal play tournament on July 6, will be decided on courses to be announced later. The star graduating class of 52, which will compete in these two commencement exercises, will be named by the professionals at each course on the nights of the final lessons, June 20 for women and girls, and June 21 for men and boys. Winners will be named from each division—men's, women's, girls', and boys'.

These 52 will meet for the first time in a form contest, based solely on a judgment of their swings by eight of the game's leading professionals, including Tommy Armour of Medinah, Horton Smith of Oak Park, Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, Jock Hutchison of Glen View, Ky Laffoon of Northmoor, Denny Shute of Westward-Ho, and Dick Metz of the Millroad Farm course.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

JOHNNY WHITEHEAD, who never had seen a major league park until he joined the White Sox this spring, has established a record for rookie pitchers. . . . As far as baseball veterans can recall, no pitcher ever has won his first eight games in big league competition. . . . The Scotch parliament in 1457 passed an act discouraging "golfe," because it interfered with the practice of archery, national weapon of defense. . . . When Roy Henshaw is pitching for the Cubs the average age of the nine regular players is 25 years. . . . With all the veterans on the field—Hartnett, Cuyler, English, and Root—the figure still is only 28, from which you may gather that baseball is a young man's game. . . . John Nicholson and Conrad Jennings, track coaches at Notre Dame and Marquette, respectively, were breaking bread together in a South Bend restaurant on the eve of their dual track meet ten days ago. . . . A waitress informed them she had a young brother finishing high school this year who could high jump 6 feet 5 inches. . . . Nicholson threatened to have her discharged if she didn't send him to Notre Dame and Jennings was all for enrolling him at Marquette. . . . In a corner sat Tarzan Taylor, football line coach at Marquette, laughing at another of his practical jokes. . . .

Lew Fonseca says Wes Ferrell of the Red Sox is the smartest pitcher in baseball. . . . Experienced track followers doubt if Jesse Owens ever will duplicate his brilliant track performances in the Big Ten meet. . . . Conditions were perfect. . . . More important, he was relaxed. . . . From now on he always will be trying to live up to his reputation. . . . That strain may tighten him up. . . . Tenth century sanskrit tells of chess. . . . Joe Louis is having special gloves made to fit his long hands. . . . When Pop Warner returned to his home in Palo Alto, Cal., a week ago, he reiterated his statement that Dave Smuckler, his full back at Temple, is a greater player than Ernie Nevers was. . . . When he was coaching at Stanford Warner said Nevers was the best player he ever had, rating him even above Jim Thorpe. . . . Every city in the Southern association is far ahead of last year's attendance figures. . . . The proposed middleweight championship bout between Teddy Yarosz and Paul Pirrone in Cleveland the night of the all-star baseball game has been called off, because Yarosz has not recovered from an operation on his knee. . . .

Clinton Bridges, 1935 international Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion, who made his professional début Friday night at White City, will be world's champion some day if he is directed properly. . . . He made equally as good a showing in the 1935 Golden Gloves tournament as Joe Louis, now a contender for the heavyweight title, made a year ago. . . . Bridges will remain a light heavyweight, however. . . . He was at 170 pounds the night he knocked Mario Anniballi of Italy through the ropes for a count of ten at the Stadium. . . . Dave Clark, Golden Gloves middleweight champion, will start his professional career in a couple of weeks. . . .

Jake Powell, bad boy of the Washington Senators, now is rooming with Nick Altrock, who has been instructed to keep an eye on him. . . . Rainproof tennis courts are the latest thing in Europe. . . . Elmer Layden was eliminated from the Notre Dame faculty tennis tournament in straight sets by Devere Plunkett, who teaches Latin and Greek. . . . Plunkett also put out Chet Grant, assistant football coach. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Bud Taylor defeated Jimmy McLarnin in ten rounds at Los Angeles. . . . The White Sox pounded out a 12 to 7 victory over Detroit. . . . Leo Diegel and Willie Macfarlane were tied for first place with 141 each at the end of the second round of the national open golf tournament. . . . Gene Tunney and Tom Gibbons wound up training for their fifteen round bout at the Polo grounds.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

LEGAL HANDBOOKS.

EFFORTS now are being made to license and legalize handbooks in Illinois so that bets may be made on the races without going to the race tracks. Similar suggestions have been offered in California and elsewhere. So far as we know no enabling legislation has been passed anywhere yet.

There are two aspects to this question aside from its morals phase. Proponents argue such licensing will bring needed revenue to the city or state, impose control over enterprises which clandestinely have flourished from time immemorial with official efforts to suppress them at times vigorous, at times half-hearted, at times nil.

Those favoring handbooks assert there is no reason why a person who wishes to bet should have to go to the race track where the wager may be made legally, but must violate the law if he wishes to place his money downtown. Furthermore, they argue $2 bets are the minimum at the track, while $1 and even fractions of the once mighty dollar may be placed with the handbookie.

These arguments bear the impress of logic. To the lay mind it is difficult to see the difference, legally or morally, between betting at the race track and away from the race track.

The negative, therefore, resorts to public policy and the welfare of horse racing as a sport for its objections.

Certainly open handbook betting to a certain extent will cut down wagering at the tracks. Revenue from wagering is necessary to operation of high grade racing. Past history shows that cities in which handbooks or pool rooms were not suppressed eventually became poor racing cities. That is because of the continuous drain from betters, for a majority of betters must lose to keep the bookies and tracks going.

Now as to public policy. Race track sponsors say that those who cannot afford to go to the track should not bet because they cannot afford it. Opponents say the poor man has as much right to lose what money he has as his brother of more material resources. That is the popular view of things in these days. There seems hardly any doubt there will be greater aggregate of betting than now with legalized handbooks. Therefore, more money will be lost by the public, whether or not it can afford it.

Another part of the negative argument appeals more strongly to The Wake, open-minded on the subject but inclined to think betting should be confined to race tracks so far as possible. That is the effect on the sport itself.

If racing is to be worth while, it should be high class. To offer purses and stakes for high class sport, and maintain attractive plants, tracks must receive gate admissions and betting revenue. Any curtailment in revenue indirectly affects the sport.

One may admit the euphemism that racing is conducted to improve the breed of thoroughbreds for cavalry remounts is more or less propaganda. At the same time, he may believe that all encouragement should be given race tracks and that handbook betting should be made difficult simply in the interest of racing as a sport.

Simply as a medium for gambling, selling platers may answer the same purpose as stake performers. One who enjoys racing as a spectacle and regards his betting as only complementary thereto to give an added thrill, draws the same difference between stake horses and cheap nags as he does between major league baseball teams and sandlot nines.

Whether the right of man to lose his money as he wishes shall prevail, or whether the greater good of racing as a sport shall prevail, seems the issue.

SARAZEN DRILLS ON GREENS FOR OPEN CONQUEST

Early Arrivals at Oakmont Find Trouble.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 2.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen putted 47 times from 25 feet on the ninth hole at the treacherous Oakmont course today before he sank a practice shot just after the course had been made available for the 162 contestants in the 1935 national open golf tournament. He also practiced long putts on the 18th green and later toured the course in a 76—four over par.

"It's too early to try real hard," remarked the two time winner of the title. "We'll have those kinks out of that before the parade starts Thursday."

Roland Mackenzie, young Washingtonian and ex-amateur, stalked off with a broad grin after watching the putting and Gene ambled over for driving practice. Mackenzie posted a sub par round of 70 yesterday. The lowest estimate of the winner's total has been made by Sarazen as four 74's. Many think a 300 will win.

Loos Has Par 72.

Eddie Loos, of Glencoe, Ill., turned in a par 72 today, the best of the reports handed in by those who went around the course. Mark Fry, of Oakland, Cal., and Bob McDonald of Chicago, had 74's, Fry a 39—35, and McDonald, 37—37.

Johnny Goodman, one of the seven former champions who will try for the crown again, turned in 37—38—75. Other scores included Jimmy Thomson, Long Beach, 41—38—79; Jim Hines, New York, 41—38—79, and Willie Goggin, San Francisco, 41—38—79.

Olin Dutra, the defending champion, and Willie Hunter quit after nine holes and did not record their strokes. Dutra said he was having some difficulty with his shots because he shifted only yesterday from one set of clubs back to the group that helped him win the title at the Merion Cricket club last summer.

Mangrum Leads Parade.

The 7,000 yard course, one of the most difficult in the world, was in excellent condition. Visitors wishing to see their favorites tune up must pay $1.10 to get in and after the tournament starts Thursday, they will be taxed $2.20.

Ray Mangrum, the indefatigable Los Angeles private tutor, who has been here a month practicing, has been joined by approximately 50 others, with nearly all the field expected in by tomorrow night.

Those now registered include:

Tommy Armour of Chicago, 1927 champion; Errie Ball, Spring Hills, Ala.; Alex Ellis, Swampscott, Mass.; Mark Fry, Oakland, Cal.; Willie Goggin, San Francisco; Chandler Harper, Norfolk, Va.; Willie Hunter, Culver City, Cal.; Jim Hines, New York; Jim Fogerty, Kirkwood, Mo.; Ted Longworth, Portland, Ore.; Ted Luther, Youngstown, O.; Eddie Loos, Chicago; Danny Goss, Birmingham; Roland MacKenzie, Washington; Bob McDonald, Chicago; Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles; Rod Munday, Santa Rosa, Cal.; J. OUT OF A JOB

Babe Ruth, home run king of baseball, gets release from Boston Braves yesterday, but refuses to go on voluntary retired list.

Babe Ruth Show's Over, but What a Run It Had: 22 Years

Babe Ruth's release yesterday by the Boston Braves brought to an end the greatest and most publicized career in the history of baseball. His playing, his money earning power, his showmanship—in fact, every thing connected with his career of twenty-two years in the major leagues—can be described only in superlatives. Nothing that he did on or off the playing field was ever mediocre. When he was good he was the greatest, and when he was bad he was terrible.

Although he will be remembered whenever baseball records are discussed for his prowess with the bat, it was as a pitcher—and, of course, a good one—that he broke into the major leagues late in the summer of 1914.

He joined the Boston Red Sox after one season in organized baseball with Baltimore and Providence in the International league. In his first full year as a major leaguer he won 18 games while losing only six, with an excellent earned run average of 2.44. He batted .315 in 42 games that season, hitting four home runs, an unusual record for a pitcher.

Gets Outfield Job.

In his second year he was even better as a pitcher with an earned run record of 1.75 and a won and lost record of 23 and 12. He was being used in the outfield, too, to give the Red Sox some of the advantage of his tremendous power at the plate, but he hit only three home runs that season and had an average of .272. He continued to vary his pitching duties with outfielding chores for Boston through the season of 1919, maintaining the same fast pace as a pitcher and improving his slugging steadily until he climbed to the then amazing total of 30 home runs for one season.

At about that time, the New York Yankees had started to build up their second division club into the great machine that dominated baseball throughout the '20s. The Yankees paid the Red Sox $125,000 for their slugging pitcher. The price, like everything else with which Ruth ever has been connected, was amazing. Such a figure for a baseball player never had been heard of at that time.

In his first season with the Yankees [1920] he pounded 54 home runs into the bleachers of the American league, from the Yankee stadium to Sportsman's park in St. Louis. That was a new record. Like Ruth's purchase price and his record salary of $20,000 that season, the figure was amazing, unheard of.

Crashes 59 Homers.

But if folks marveled at that figure they gasped in 1921 when Ruth, pounding out 59 home runs to smash his own record, led the Yanks to the first of three consecutive American league pennants. He slumped, if it may be called that, the next season, and his 1922 home run production was only 35. He followed it with 41 in 1923 and 46 in 1924, hardly up to the grand Ruth manner of doing things.

Then came the season of 1925, the season of his great bellyache and the start of the predictions that the Babe was through. Always an unruly underling, and difficult to manage, he was thoroughly undisciplined that summer and the late little Miller Huggins, the Yankee manager, had his hands full trying to keep the Babe in line. The big fellow let his appetite run riot; his consumption of hot dogs, soft drinks, and other delicacies was even more astounding than his home run production. His hitting fell off and his home run total became, for him, negligible. The Yanks dropped to the second division. Huggins, in desperation, when Ruth collapsed with his stomach miseries in Chicago, suspended him for breaking training, sent him back to New York and fined him $5,000 of his season's salary of $52,000. Even in distress, the Babe was superlative.

But Babe Isn't Through.

Everybody was sure he was through now. But the Babe wasn't. He curbed his appetite and he began a rigid course of training. He bounced back the next season with 47 home runs and a .372 batting average, and he topped it all in 1927 with his highest home run figure, a total of 60 for a major league record which still stands.

And so he went on. Whenever a charley horse, or a cold, or a pulled

COLLINS HITS HOMER WITH 3 ON OFF FRENCH

Rally Wipes Out 4 Run Lead.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs were about to win a ball game from the world champion Cardinals yesterday. It didn't seem possible, but the Chicagoans were ahead 5 to 1 with one out in the ninth. The Cards had made a run only because Tex Carleton had lost control in the seventh and had walked four men. Little did our innocents suspect that 10 minutes later they would be losers by a 6 to 5 count.

Things began to happen after Pinch Batter Bill Delancey fouled to Hack. Pepper Martin started it with his third and the Cards' seventh hit. Then Rothrock got Carleton's seventh walk. The bases were full after Gelbert, who had replaced his distressed manager, Frankie Frisch, beat out an infield hit. Medwick was up. He had struck out his last two times up. No trembling here. Medwick was through striking out, however. This time he singled to right. One run scored.

Jimmy Smacks One.

Vice President Grimm rushed in Larry French to pitch to the left handed Jimmy Collins. The left handed Jimmy Collins forthwith became a right hander by the simple process of stepping across the plate and facing south. He fouled off Larry's first pitch. He knocked the second one over the left field wall, scoring behind Rothrock, Gelbert, and Medwick. The score was 6 to 5 in favor of the Cardinals, and that is the way the game ended when Dizzy Dean came in and retired Fred Lindstrom and Chuck Klein with the tying run on second.

French, once hailed as the answer to the Cubs' 15 year prayer for an able left hander, was the losing pitcher in this sixth straight Cardinal victory. Carleton had loaded the bases with the tying runs, but that smack of Collins' was the winner and it was right on Larry's nose, resulting in the Californian's third loss to the Cardinals and his fifth in the National league. It was the second he has lost by a Cardinal homer, Joe Medwick having licked him 1 to 0 in the first series of the season with a whack over the right field screen.

Cards Help a Lot.

The Cubs, by virtue of Philadelphia's victory over Brooklyn, managed to linger in the first division by a margin of one percentage point. Since returning to their once beloved Wrigley field from their rather successful eastern trip on May 17 the Cubs have lost 12 games while winning 7, said to be an unheard of home record since the pre-McCarthy days.

While yesterday's sad outcome was chargeable to the pitching, the fact remains that the Cubs made only seven hits. Cardinal mental lapses and an error figured in all but one of the Cub runs. But for these circumstances and a series of sensational fielding plays by Billy Herman, the champs would not have had to resort to heroics to lick our poor, powerless fellows.

Herman Stars in Field.

The Cubs developed a scoring chance in the first, but the net result was two men left on bases. Galan opened with a single to left, lingered on first while Herman lined to Rothrock, and went to second on Hack's grounder to J. Collins. Hartnett walked, but Demaree fanned.

Two successive ultraplays by Herman held down the champs in the second inning. Medwick led off with a single to center. Herman then made a great stop back of first to get J. Collins' grounder and threw him out with a toss to Carleton, who also did some nice work to complete the enterprise. Herman again sparkled when he went into right field and captured Davis' potential run producing hit for a putout at first. Medwick died on third when Carleton threw out Moore.

Ah, There, Frankie!

A surprising brainstorm by Manager Frisch helped the Cubs to two

ASK GRANDPAP ALL ABOUT GREAT WESTERN STAKE

It'll Be Revived Saturday After 32 Years.

BY FRENCH LANE.

No one but grandpap can give you any assistance this week if you really want to find out something about the early history of the Great Western handicap, which is to be run for the first time in thirty-two years at the Washington Park race course next Saturday afternoon.

But if he was any kind of a gay young blade in his day you had better make a date with him right away and listen to him tell you how Boatman won the first running of the Great Western way back in 1884. How Yo Tambieu sizzled the track to beat Joe Blackburn in 1892 and how John McGurk at 30 to 1 trimmed the mighty McChesney to win it in 1903, the last time the race was run.

Good Old Days, Eh?

Grandpap no doubt can tell you about a few "hot spots" around 62d street on the south side where the Washington Park race course was located in those days, and where sportsmen and "sports" from all over the country gathered for the June race meeting.

He will chuckle a bit, will grandpap, and tell you about the way he socked the bookmakers when he "went for the works" on Jolly Roger when that 4 year old, ridden by Jim Winkfield, beat Sidney Lucas and Barrack back in 1900.

Ask him about the bookmakers. He will tell you how they made it a point of appearing on Great Western Handicap day resplendent in pearl gray derby hats and checked suits, passing out the tickets—winning tickets and losing tickets alike—from hands clothed in white dress gloves.

Grandpap may have so many reminiscences that you will forget all about this modern 1935 Great Western handicap field. In the old days the Great Western was at a mile and a half but for the revival on Saturday afternoon the distance has been cut to a mile and a furlong. Speed rather than distance for thoroughbreds seems to be the aim of owners and trainers in these racing days.

Top Row May Be Choice.

The Great Western will carry an added money prize of $5,000, which is slightly more than the prize offered in the days of old Washington Park. Every handicap performer of note at Washington is eligible to the race, and if A. A. Baroni's speedy Top Row gets to the post he may rule as the favorite. However, there will be plenty of backing for the Three D's stable Quatre Bras II., for Watch Him, from the barn of Mrs. John Hertz, for the Corsiciana Stables' Blessed Event, Askay stables' Sweeping Light, the Northway stables' Riskulus, L. T. Whitehill's Gusto and Royal Blunder, and for C. V. Whitney's High Glee and the Darb.

Numerous 3 year olds are also eligible for the race. Among them are Tearout, the Latonia Derby winner, Mrs. R. B. Fairbanks' Bluebeard, Warren Wright's Calumet Dick and Nellie Flag, and Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Whiskolo and Gallaclay.

Some Get Test Today.

Several of the Great Western handicap eligibles are to see action in tune-up race at Washington Park this afternoon. Among them are Sweeping Light, Gusto, Our Reigh, Calumet Dick, Blue Armor, and Corinto.

"He plays the greatest second fiddle of all horses I've trained," Bob McGarvey remarked yesterday when he returned to Washington Park with the Milky Way farm stable's Whiskolo, which finished second in the Latonia Derby Saturday.

"Second in the California Derby, second in the Texas Derby, third in the Kentucky Derby, and now second in the Latonia Derby." McGarvey mumbled to himself as he put the son of Diavolo away in a stall deeply bedded in straw.

"Still I think he'll win the American Derby," McGarvey said.

The Seagram stable's good handicap performer, Stand Pat, will be shipped here from Detroit to run in the Great Western handicap Saturday, according to word received at Washington Park yesterday. The Whitney stable candidates for the race, High Glee, Up and Up, and The Darb, also will arrive early this week from the east.

Harvey Beats Wonderbolts; Wins Peel Cup

The Harvey United soccer team defeated the Wieboldt Wonderbolts, 3 to 2, yesterday at De Paul stadium to win the Peter Peel cup.

With a run of victories extending almost two years in the Chicago district, the Wonderbolts were conquered by a team that took advantage of every scoring chance that came its way.

The Wonderbolts opened the scoring after 10 minutes' play, Lillie beating Trodden from a pass by Monroe. Two minutes later Harvey evened it up when Tattem beat Coutts in a scrimmage close in.

Starting the second half the Wonderbolts pressed hard but could not beat Trodden, who was turning every shot aside. Harvey went in front after 15 minutes, Purden giving Coutts no chance with a hard drive. Keenan on the right then crossed for Tattem to score Harvey's third goal.

LOUIS BATTERS SPAR MATES IN 6 ROUND DRILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 2.—A sample of what Primo Carnera can expect in the way of punches when he faces Joe Louis, colored heavyweight sensation, in their fifteen round bout at the New York Yankee stadium June 25 was furnished a large weekend crowd this afternoon.

Louis exchanged punches for two rounds each with Seal Harris, Chicago, 245 pounds; Roy Clark, Philadelphia, 275 pounds, and Leonard Dixon, Philadelphia, 216 pounds. Of the three, Harris was the only one to remain on his feet. The Golden Gloves champion of 1934 was careful, however, evidently remembering his experience yesterday, when he was sent crashing to the canvas.

TILDEN DEFEATS LOTT; CAPTURES AMERICAN TITLE

Orange, N. J., June 2.—(AP)—William T. Tilden, 42 years old but still in high form, administered an 8-6, 6-2 defeat to George M. Lott Jr. today at the Orange Lawn Tennis club to win the American singles championship of the International Players' association.

Tilden won from Bruce Barnes, St. Louis, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3, in the semi-finals yesterday, while Lott eliminated Robert Ramillon, young French star making his American debut in the tournament.

Wall-Eyes Are Hungry Now, and Plentiful

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hayward, Wis., June 2.—Mr. Fisherman, you had better hurry into the north country right away if you want some of the best fishing of the season. The water is right, the weather is right, and the fish are striking.

We visited Teal lake, Lostland lake, and the flowage in one of Wisconsin's well known fishing areas this trip. On these and other lakes [Ghost lake, for instance] nobody armed with a rod and line can complain because the walleyes come a-runnin', and even a number of nice muskies have been fooled by lures.

Get the Limit.

Lester Colby, vice president of the Chicago chapter of the Izaak Walton league, led his party down to the famous Chippewa flowage the other day. Fishing around the old snags and dead heads, the boys had no trouble getting the limit of pike. Several of the Chicagoans in camp on Teal lake found the same kind of snappy fishing.

In their strings of walleyes, all nice sized, was one seven and a half pounder. Muskies have been taken from both Ghost and Lostland lakes. We went down to the flowage the other day with Lyman Barr of Libertyville, Ill., Nelson Ross of the University of Wisconsin, and Cal Johnson, fishing editor of an outdoor magazine, to see what kind of pike fishing this area, flooded by a big dam, can give a fellow at this time of the year.

Nothing To It.

It wasn't much of a trick to hook 8 or 10 pike at one place by casting around the boat. Of course many fish were returned to the water. About 10:30 in the morning, when the sun was shining bright and a brisk wind was whipping the surface of the water, we had one eager walleye come to the top of the water and hit our lure within two feet of the side of the boat.

Within thirty minutes after landing on the shore of Teal lake we had an inkling of how snappy the pike fishing was going to be. With Ross and Barr as partners we chugged away from camp about 9:30 and headed for a bar just off the north end of Raspberry island. This bar isn't more than 3 or 4 city blocks from camp. At this time of the year you can look down in the water and see the long weeds just growing up on the bottom of the bar.

Casting to the edge of the weeds we located a school of pike within five minutes. The first contact brought a double for the boat. We hooked one at the same time that Barr did. From then on there were mighty few quiet moments.

CELEBRON, DUVA MEET TONIGHT ON MARIGOLD CARD

Cohen, Aron and Tinsley Also on Program.

Billy Celebron, 1933 Golden Gloves and National A. A. U. welterweight champion, will meet Carl Duva, the Paterson boxer, in an eight round feature bout at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight. Another eight round bout, the first of a series to be promoted at Marigold this summer by Irving Schoenwald, will bring together Rubin [Bus] Breese and Jackie Sharkey at 135 pounds.

Duva earned the match with Celebron by whipping George Engel and Joey Kleko in previous Chicago appearances. Hhis performance in those bouts indicates Celebron will have to be at his best to win. Billy whipped Sherald Kennard in his last start. Celebron's anxiety to knock out Kennard with one right to the chin was futile. As a result, his showing was unimpressive.

Lenny Cohen, bantamweight, Milt Aron, junior welterweight, and Bob Tinsley, lightweight, three of the most promising boxers in the central states, will appear in preliminary bouts. Cohen is paired with Sam Scoglio at six rounds, Aron will meet Scotty McLean at four, and Tinsley is matched to fight with Le Roy [Sailor] Born at four rounds. A wrestling exhibition will round out the card.

Lorenzo Pack, International Golden Gloves heavyweight king, has been signed to make his professional début in a six round bout on the card headed by his teammate, Clinton Bridges, and Lou Thomas, Indianapolis light heavyweight, at White City Friday. Hugh Allen and Ed Sparrow, Chicago lightweights, quite likely will be opponents in a third match at six rounds. Mike [Little Pal] Primitch, Indiana Harbor junior lightweight, back from a tour in California, anticipates a six round preliminary contest and Walter Matthys, St. Charles featherweight, will appear in a four rounder.

Clinton Bridges will make his third pro appearance at Mills stadium June 13 when Leo Rodak and Wesley Ramey will meet in 12 rounds. . . . Eddie Vlk, Portland, Ore., welterweight, has gone home to have his ailing nose treated. . . . Roy Lazer, eastern heavyweight, who whipped Dutch Weimer in a comeback effort last week, left for Paterson, N. J., where his mother, Mrs. Martha Lazerowitz, is dangerously ill. . . .

Here's why the unique "COOL-HEAT" method brings quick relief to SORE MUSCLES

Muscle (A) due to strain, cold or unusual exertion, feels like a bad bruise. Your nerves telegraph for help. Blood rushes to the distressed spot. But nature needs outside help to supply enough blood to clear up painful congestion quickly.

Minit-Rub is applied to the skin:

1. Its heat-inducing ingredients immediately penetrate to affected parts, quickly causing extra blood to be drawn to the pain area. Thus the congestion is relieved and any poisonous wastes are carried off through the blood vessels (B). (Several applications may be necessary in severe cases).
2. At the same time, Minit-Rub's pain-dulling ingredients soothe the surface ends of the troubled nerves (C).
3. The skin feels comfortably cool while Minit-Rub's penetrating heat is doing its thorough work below the surface.

Use Minit-Rub for quick relief of Sore Muscles, Bruises, Rheumatic Aches and Pains, Sprains, Stiffness, Strains. 35¢ and 60¢.

GIANTS SHUT OUT FOR FIRST TIME; BRAVES WIN, 2-0

Veteran Bob Smith Stops New York on 8 Hits.

Boston, Mass., June 2.—(AP)—Babe Ruth's announcement that he was going on the retired list so enraged the Boston Braves today that they handed the New York Giants their first shutout of the season, 2 to 0. The defeat snapped the visitors' victory string at seven games.

Bob Smith, veteran Boston right-hander, held the Giants to eight hits. The Braves pushed over a run in the sixth when Bill Urbanski walked, went to second on an infield out, and scored on Hal Lee's single. Urbanski hit a homer to account for the final Boston run in the eighth.

Yanks Hit Six Homers; Whip Red Sox, 7 to 2

New York, June 2.—(AP)—The Yankees took a look at the Sunday crowd in the bleachers today and began popping home runs out among the fans to gain a 7 to 2 victory over the Red Sox in the series final and retain their hold on the American League lead.

The Yanks collected six homers for all the earned runs they scored, while Mel Almada hit one for Boston. Bill Dickey led the spree with two homers, bringing his season's total to eight. The others came from the bats of Frank Crosetti, Ben Chapman, George Selkirk and Red Rolfe.

A's, 8; SENATORS, 7.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 2.—(AP)—In a game marked by rousing finishes on both sides, the Athletics beat the Washington Senators, 8 to 7, today. The Senators, in their last time at bat, tied the score at 7 all, but the A's came back to score a run in the last of the ninth.

It was the seventh straight defeat for Washington, and the fourth victory in a row for the Athletics. Benton, who started for the A's, was knocked out in the ninth, and Bean, who began for Washington, failed to last through the fifth inning.

INDIANS, 6; BROWNS, 2.

St. Louis, Mo., June 2.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians pushed St. Louis deeper into the American league cellar today, whipping the Browns, 6 to 2, before a Sunday crowd of 2,000.

Russell Van Atta started on the mound for the Browns, but a four run barrage in the seventh sent him to cover, and Bob Weiland finished the game. Hal Trosky raised his home run total for the season to seven by bouncing the ball off the pavilion roof in the second inning. Earl Averill also hit a home run.

Cubs to Start Root Today in Cardinal Final

The Cubs and Cardinals will play the final of the series this afternoon. Charley Root is scheduled to pitch for the Cubs, and Manager Frisch says he'll probably employ one of his freshmen.

There was considerable kicking by both sides on the ball and strike umpiring of Ziggy Sears. The game was held up five minutes while the Cards beefed on pitches to Herman. No one suggested that Umpire Stewart take Ziggy's place behind the plate, however.

Collins' homer, batting right handed, was the second of the kind made off Chicago lefties in two seasons. He nicked Roy Joiner after switching his stance last season.

for a triple. The services of Wyatt were dispensed with immediately.

Tietje strolled into the vacancy and his first contribution to the mêlée was a wild pitch on which Greenberg scored. Goslin lined into Appling's hands for the first out, but it was quite a stretch before the second was recorded. Rogell walked and took third on Walker's single. The latter stole second, so with first base occupied Tietje purposely walked Owen. It wasn't a good idea. Crowder let loose a single on which Rogell and Walker scored. Fox singled to score Owen and out went Tietje.

Vance was welcomed by Cochrane, who doubled to right, scoring Crowder and Fox, but the latter had to return to third because a spectator reached out and picked up the ball. Gehringer was passed, filling the bases. Greenberg bounced to Hopkins, whose throw to the plate forced Fox. Then Vance escaped from the mess by fanning Goslin.

Were They Stunned.

It took the Sox several innings to recover from the shock. They couldn't touch Crowder for even a lone hit in either the fourth or fifth. However, they improved slightly in the sixth and scored one run. Sewell led off with a pass, but was doubled up on Vance's roller. Then Radcliff singled to left and took third on Hopkins' single to center. The former went home on a wild pitch. Gehringer threw out Washington.

After three innings of fairly efficient work, Vance was touched for a run in the seventh. Owen's drive skidded off Appling's foot for a double. Crowder rolled to Dykes and Fox fanned. A funny twister off Cochrane's bat hopped over Hopkins' head for a double and Owen scored. Another run went home in the eighth, while Phelps was working. Singles by Goslin, Walker, and Owen did this.

runs in the third. Herman singled to center with one down. Then Hack bounced a grounder to Frisch. Seeing that Frisch was planning to tag him and then double Hack at first, Herman fell flat on his tummy and played 'possum. Thinking Herman had fainted, Frisch threw to J. Collins and hollered for the return of the ball so he could tag Herman, whom he believed to be unconscious. Frisch's throw was too late to get Hack, and Frankie's chagrin deepened when Herman jumped up and ran safely to second. By this time Frisch suspected he had been the victim of a hoax.

Gabby Hartnett expressed his appreciation of Frisch's dream play by doubling to left, Herman scoring and Hack stopping at third. Demaree was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Then Cavarretta sent a long fly to Moore, Hack scoring. Cuyler fanned.

Leave Plate Unguarded.

The Cubs made a run in the fifth on two walks and a hit to the catcher. Herman walked and was forced by Hack. Hartnett also walked. Demaree then tapped in front of the plate and toward first. Davis' throw was too late to get Demaree and Hack was able to score from second when the plate was left uncovered while Davis was about his fielding chore. Cavarretta walked, filing the bases. Then Cuyler hit into a double play, Frisch to Durocher to J. Collins.

The Cubs picked up their fourth run after two were out in the last half of the sixth. After Jurges and Carleton had been disposed of, Galan and Billy Herman walked. Hack then singled to right to score Galan. Hartnett ended it with a pop fly to Durocher in short center.

Walks Let Cards Score.

Carleton blew his shutout in the seventh without the necessity of a fair ball. Moore walked and then Durocher flied to Demaree. Orsatti batted for Walker and bounced out to Cavarretta. Cavarretta's throw to double Moore caromed off Jurges into left field, Moore reaching third. Then Carleton walked Martin, Rothrock and Frisch to make it four passes for the inning. Frisch's pass put Moore across the plate with the run that wrecked Tex's shutout hopes.

After Demaree had fanned to start the seventh against Harrell, Cavarretta singled to left and reached second when Medwick fumbled the ball. Cuyler singled to center, scoring Cavarretta. Jurges and Carleton flied out. Cuyler singled to center, scoring Cavarretta. Jurges and Carleton fled out.

Hallahan came in to pitch for the Cards in the ninth. Hartnett started it with a walk and Stainback ran for him. Demaree sacrificed him to second. J. Dean then came up on the scene as the Cards' pitcher. Lindstrom batted for Cavarretta and fouled to Davis. Klein batted for Cuyler and ended hostilities with a fly to Moore.

Chinese Stars and Mills Split Double Header

The Chicago Mills divided a double header with the touring Chinese All-Stars of Hawaii at Mills stadium yesterday. Johnny Kerr pitched the All-Stars to a 7 to 5 victory in the first game, while the Mills pounded Nalua and Vickery to win the second, 15 to 8.

GRAYS AND GIANTS SPLIT.

Chicago's American Giants and the Homestead, Pa., Grays, split a double header at Cole's park yesterday. A six run rally in the seventh inning in which Pitcher Ralph Brown tripled with the bases filled, broke a 2 to 2 tie and gave the Grays the first game, 8 to 2. Sterns home run, his second of the day, helped Ted Trent win the second game, 7 to 4. Scores:

Babe Ruth Gets Release from Braves

play with Haverhill against the Braves. We're going to use a kid pitcher, and if Ruth can hit him it will be a surprise.

"I have given him his unconditional release."

Meets Reporters in Clubhouse.

Ruth, in a spotless white uniform that showed he hadn't so much as engaged in batting practice since it was laundered, met the press in the trainer's room of the clubhouse during the game. Closing the door, he began:

"Fellows, you all know me, and we're pals. It hurts like hell to say what I'm going to tell you. I'm through with this club. I am going to ask to be put on the voluntarily retired list tomorrow night.

"Understand me, I am not through with baseball if I can get anything worth while to do. I love the game. I still want to be a manager. But I positively won't be associated any longer with this man Fuchs.

"I thought in Pittsburgh when I hit those three home runs everything would be nice, but I was hurt in Cincinnati and couldn't get going again. Fuchs was nasty about it, but I was hurt and that's all there was to it.

"Tomorrow I've got to go to Haverhill, Mass., with the club to play an exhibition game. Here's what happened: I got an invitation to go to New York to attend a celebration on the arrival of that French boat—you know the one I mean—the—the—yeh, that's it. The Normandie. I thought it would be a great thing for baseball, the publicity, and all.

"I called up Fuchs and told him I thought it would be a great thing. He snarled at me and said: 'Nothing doing. You get out in uniform with the club for that exhibition game.' What do you think of that? I can't work with that kind of a guy.

"Earned His Money."

"I've been in baseball 22 years and what money I got out of it I earned. I certainly don't owe Fuchs anything, and I don't think I should have to put up with this kind of treatment."

"Then you've had words with Judge Fuchs?" a writer suggested.

"Words? Ha ha, words—you're damn' right, I've had words. He thinks he's smart, but he isn't, not really."

"If Fuchs were out, would you come back to the club?" Babe was asked. "There is a report that Fuchs will be out in a couple of weeks, that the club will be reorganized."

"You bet I'll come back. Just watch me."

Ruth declared he hadn't been able to get into Fuchs' office to see the Braves' president, but said he had sent his resignation by messenger. He not only resigned as a player but at the same time relinquished his $35,000 berth as assistant manager and vice president.

"Vice president, ha, ha," he laughed mirthlessly. "Fuchs can take that vice presidency and—well, he knows what he can do with it. What the hell did it ever mean, anyway? It was a joke, a gag."

Ruth said he would not hold Fuchs to the civil contract which he obtained from the Braves' boss in addition to his regular player's contract.

"He can tear that contract up," snarled the Babe. "I don't want another damn' thing from him—the dirty double-crosser. I don't want to have anything more to do with a man like that. He says he loves baseball. Yes, he does—like hell he does!"

No Trouble with McKechnie.

Babe said reports that his real trouble was with Bill McKechnie, Braves' manager, were untrue.

"I've been getting along fine with Bill," he said. "He knows me now and he knows I'm a gentleman. I wasn't trying to steal his job like a lot of people said. Bill is my pal."

"What about jealousy among the other players?"

"That's baloney, too. When I told them I was 'quitting today' they gave me a ball with all their names autographed on it. They think a lot of me." The interview was ending when McKechnie and Rabbit Maranville, Babe's old side kick, came into the dressing room.

"Sorry to see you go, Babe," said Bill, thrusting out his hand.

"Me, too," said Babe. "You know it wasn't anything I had against you, Bill."

"I think that the Babe should have retired," declared McKechnie tonight, "so that he wouldn't get hurt. I asked Ruth recently to write his resignation and apparently Babe was on the verge of so doing when given his release."

RUTH SHOW ENDS, BUT WHAT A RUN IT HAD! 22 YEARS

tendon put him on the bench for a few days, everybody was sure he was through now. But he kept on breaking up ball games with his home runs and piling up the amazing total, which mounted to 714 for his entire career.

He became a little slower afield, a little slower on the bases, but his average was still above .300, and he was still pounding out those homers, 54 in 1928, 46 in 1929, 49 in 1930, 46 in 1931, and 41 in 1932.

Makes $80,000 a Year.

He was piling up more and more records. He was winning world series for the Yankees. He was earning more money in baseball than any man ever had before. He was off a little from his peak years of 1930 and 1931, when his yearly salary was $80,000, but he was still baseball's highest paid in 1932 at $75,000.

They thought he was just about washed up when the Yankees won the pennant that year, although his 41 homers and his batting average of .341 would seem to give no reason for that belief. When the Yankees came into Wrigley field that October the Cubs were among those who believed it, and they made the mistake of trying to convey the impression to the Babe.

Babe Tells 'Em Where.

It was in the third game of that series that the Babe's showmanship reached its height, and one incident epitomized his whole career.

In the first inning of this game the Babe busted one to score three runs. He came up again in the fifth, with the score tied at 4 to 4, and for some unknown reason, the Cubs decided he was through. Charley Root threw him a strike and the Cubs on the bench howled and jeered. Babe held up one finger, signifying one strike. Root threw a second strike. The Cubs howled louder. Ruth held up two fingers and then pointed to deep right center field. In any one else it would have been braggadocio, but not in Ruth. Root pitched again and Ruth planted the ball just where he had pointed, over the wire fence in the deepest corner of the field.

Really on the Skids.

The Babe was still at it in 1933, but not so actively. He hit 34 home runs and batted only .301. Last year he was down to 22 home runs in 125 games and his average down to .288 and his fielding was off, a long way off.

The Yankees gave him to the Braves, to be vice president, player, and ultimately manager. He started off as usual. He hit his opening day home run and drove in four runs to win the game for the Braves against the Giants. But thereafter it was evident he was through, at last. Now and then the old spark flamed up again, but it was sporadic.

It was obvious that he couldn't, wouldn't go on much longer. And the reason he gave for quitting was as true to character as any he might have given.

Only a man who had made $337,000 in salaries alone in his major league career could afford to throw away a $35,000 job because the boss wouldn't give him a day off to go see a boat.

Good News, Skinny!
"JIMMY" BRADDOCK ...TELLS YOU HOW HE GAINED 26 LBS. IN 6 WEEKS ON KELPAMALT!

SOLD AT ALL WALGREEN DRUG STORES

Never Could Gain Before—Challenger Amazed and Delighted—Startles Sports Writers—Urges All Skinny, Rundown Men and Women to Put Faith in Kelpamalt!

Here at last "Jimmy" Braddock reveals for the first time his newly discovered training secret that has enabled him to add in 6 weeks 26 needed pounds of good, solid flesh and a new driving, shattering power behind his punch, all without sacrificing an ounce of speed.

Always light for his fights, Braddock, at the suggestion of a noted conditioner of famous athletes—tried Kelpamalt. This new mineral concentrate from the sea gets right down and corrects the real underlying cause of skinniness—IODINE STARVED GLANDS. When these glands don't work properly, all the food in the world can't help you. It just isn't turned into flesh. The result is, you stay skinny.

The most important gland—the one which actually controls body weight—needs a definite ration of iodine all the time—NATURAL ASSIMILABLE IODINE—not to be confused with chemical iodines which often prove toxic—but the same iodine that is found in tiny quantities in spinach and lettuce. Only when the system gets an adequate supply of iodine can you regulate metabolism—the body's process of converting digested food into firm flesh, new strength and energy.

Braddock, in a recent interview at his training camp at Hurleyville, N. Y., says: "I have now been taking Kelpamalt for six weeks and I can truthfully say I have never felt better. Gained 26 lbs. and feel full of pep, and while no doubt I will train off some weight, I will enter the ring 10 lbs. heavier than for any former fight. You can use this to tell any skinny, underweight man or woman anywhere that Kelpamalt's the greatest weight and strength builder there is."—James J. Braddock.

To get NATURAL IODINE as well as 12 other needed body minerals in convenient, concentrated and assimilable form, take Kelpamalt—now considered the world's richest source of this precious substance. It contains 1,300 times more iodine than oysters, once considered the best source. 6 Kelpamalt tablets contain more NATURAL IODINE than 436 lbs. of spinach or 1,660 lbs. of beef. More iron and copper than 2 lbs. of spinach or 15 lbs. of fresh tomatoes. More calcium than 1 doz. eggs. More phosphorus than 3 lbs. of carrots.

Try Kelpamalt for a single week and notice the difference—how much better you feel, how ordinary stomach distress vanishes, how firm flesh appears in place of scrawny hollows—and the new energy and strength it brings to you. Start Kelpamalt today. If you don't gain at least 5 lbs. in 1 week the trial is free.

100 Jumbo size Kelpamalt tablets—four to five times the size of ordinary tablets—cost but a few cents a day to use. Get Kelpamalt today.

SKINNY GIRLS, TOO
Add 5 Lbs. in 1 Week or No Cost
Thousands of thin, rundown, underweight girls are amazed and delighted with quick gains of flattering new lbs. on Kelpamalt. If you are ashamed of your figure in a bathing suit by all means let Kelpamalt prove without risk you can put on new shapely pounds quickly.

NASH ASSAILED BY DR. THOMPSON IN WAR ON VICE

Pastor Demands Political Boss Quit Rule.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

In a sermon last night in the Chicago temple, Dr. John Thompson, the pastor, stepped momentarily from his clerical status and as a citizen demanded that Patrick A. Nash, Cook county Democratic central committee chairman, be shorn of his power.

The pastor of the famous skyscraper loop church cited the city's and the county's "rampant vice conditions" as one reason for his demand. Another reason Dr. Thompson gave was the unseating of former State Senator Arthur J. Bidwill, charging that in ordering Bidwill ousted Nash not only had proved himself a dangerous dictator but also had brought about the "disfranchisement of nearly 60,000 voters in the Seventh senatorial district." Dr. Thompson added that he could not understand how Mr. Nash as a leader with "public interest in mind could oppose the honest election law providing permanent registration of voters."

Political Bosses Overshoot.

"I have known political bosses—Lorimer, Brennan, Lundin, and Nash," Dr. Thompson declared, "and I have always wondered where they got their dictatorial power. Apparently these bosses become drunk with power, and sooner or later they overshoot the mark. This was surely the case with the unseating of Senator Bidwill. I one time was sent to Springfield to plead a moral cause, and I was told I needed to see only four men; they could deliver all the votes. How do these bosses gain power to deliver a whole party?"

Mayor Kelly's proposal to legalize gambling, Dr. Thompson called "the nadir of statesmanship."

Chicago's moral condition, the preacher said, is worse than in a quarter of a century. He declared reports had come to him from various reliable sources that a visitor could see more offensive vice than he could thirty years ago. "Under the shadow of great near north side churches women and girls stand beneath the lights, smiling alluringly at men who pass by," he said. "They smile, but their lives are pitiable and sad."

Fears Dictator Threat.

Dr. Thompson then referred to the Supreme court decision which held the NRA unconstitutional. President Roosevelt's rebellious reaction again raises the threat of dictatorship, he asserted.

Church people and decent citizens, said Dr. Thompson, are bewildered by the whole scene. They would like to do something to cleanse the situation, but none of us know just what to do.

Then Dr. Thompson appealed for a small select group of men possessing "poise with momentum" to study current situations and to make recommendations in the interest of good politics.

The group, unlike the Anti-Saloon league or the Better Government association, should not enter political campaigns, but should depend for power solely upon "common sense recommendations based on thorough but disinterested studies," Dr. Thompson explained, adding that "the committee should have no paid secretariat of professional uplifters."

E. A. Colby, Electrochemist and Inventor, Dies in East

Maplewood, N. J., June 2.—[Special.]—Edward Allen Colby, electrochemist and inventor, died unexpectedly of a heart attack today. In 1887 Mr. Colby invented an induction electric furnace for the melting and casting of metals. For this invention he received a medal and diploma from the Franklin institute in Philadelphia. The invention is the basis of the present electric steel melting industry in America.

Dr. C. St. Clair Drake Dies; State Hospital Manager

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—(AP)—Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, managing officer of the Jacksonville State hospital, died here today of heart disease after a long illness. He entered the state service in 1912 and resigned after Gov. Frank O. Lowden's term expired to become medical statistician for the American Medical society. He was reappointed by Gov. Emmerson in 1928.

Sir Harold Boulton, 75, British Music Figure, Dies

LONDON, June 2.—(AP)—Sir Harold Boulton, 75, who was widely known in musical circles and for his hospital work, died today. He was a director of the Royal Academy of Music, editor and part writer of various song miscellanies, and former president of the Scottish Literature and Song association.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Hal Kemp's sponsors are trying a new stunt on their next two broadcasts. They plan to use college students to read the commercial continuity. Next Wednesday Kemp and his bandsmen will be playing an engagement at Washington and Lee university at Lexington, Va. There the young announcers are to be recruited from a wing of the promenade. Following week the same thing will be done when the Kemp unit appears at Hampden-Sydney college, also in Virgina.

Gale Page, local NBC contralto, flew to New York yesterday to be guest tonight with Harry Horlick on his Gypsies broadcast. She will fly back tonight in order to be on hand tomorrow night for her regular appearance with Fibber McGee and Molly.

President Roosevelt will be heard over the networks on June 12 when he addresses the graduating class of the United States Military academy at West Point. . . . The National open golf tournament at Oakmont, Pa., is to be carried on the networks beginning next Thursday.

Weirdest fan letter seen to date is one that Don Bestor, Jack Benny's musical director, is exhibiting. It says:

Dear Mr. Bestor: I am quite old; confined to my bed, destined soon to die, and frankly somewhat bored with radio. However, I do tune in your Sunday night program regularly. I like it so much—the music, Jack Benny's droll wit, Frank Parker's singing and all, that I have written a clause in my will stipulating that a loud speaker worked by remote control be buried with me. My heirs have instructions to tune you in whenever you're on the air so that, if after death, I am permitted to enjoy anything, I want it to be your program. Cordially,

DANIEL FERGUSON,
Shamokin, Pa.

Oddly enough, one of the pet musicians of radio stars isn't on the air himself. He is Louis Prima who conducts a mad jazz unit in New York's café Famous Door. He plays a hot trumpet, sings in a husky voice and his outfit is reminiscent of some of those Memphis blues specialists. Here many a big shot of broadcasting sits and listens until the dawn. Guess it must be the contrast to the smooth, suave harmonies of the airways.

Falls to Death While Washing 2d Floor Window

Mrs. Bertha Locher, 62 years old, was killed yesterday when she fell from the window of her second floor bedroom at 7911 South Loomis street. Her husband, Severin Locher, a retired gardener for the South Parks, said his wife was washing the woodwork and apparently had a dizzy spell to which she had been subject, and fell.

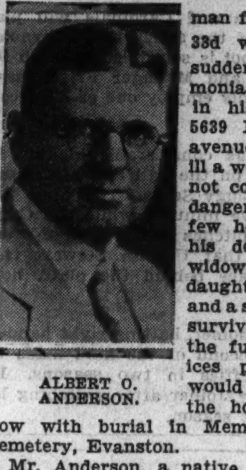
A. O. ANDERSON, POLITICIAN AND REALTOR, DIES



ALBERT O. ANDERSON.

Albert O. Anderson, 62 years old, city civil service commissioner and formerly alderman from the old 33d ward, died suddenly of pneumonia yesterday in his home at 5639 Kenmore avenue. He was ill a week but was not considered in danger until a few hours before his death. The widow, Alma, a daughter, Alberta, and a son, Lyman, survive. They said the funeral services probably would be held at the home tomorrow with burial in Memorial Park cemetery, Evanston.

Mr. Anderson, a native of Chicago and a Republican, served in the city council from 1918 to 1928. In 1922, he instigated an investigation of paving frauds. He fathered a bill which rid the city of a multiplicity of tag days.

He devoted himself solely to his realty business at 4436 Fullerton avenue from 1928 to 1933, when Mayor Kelly appointed him minority member of the civil service commission. Last November Mr. Anderson was defeated for county commissioner. For a time he was president of the Swedish Societies' Old People's home in Evanston.

LEE F. ENGLISH FUNERAL WILL BE AT 11 TODAY

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock this morning for Lee Fairfield English, for 35 years attorney and special counsel for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad. The rites are to take place in the family home at 1007 Greenwood avenue, Wilmette. Burial will be at Monroe, N. H. Mr. English was 70 years old. After 18 months' illness with heart disease, he died Saturday in the Evanston hospital following an operation. He was born in Lisbon, N. H., in 1864, and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1888. He lived in Wilmette for 29 years. The widow, Mrs. Martha English, and a son, Ralph, survive.

W. H. Truesdale, Former Railroad President, Dies

Greenwich, Conn., June 2.—[Special.]—William H. Truesdale, former president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, one of the last of his generation of American railroad leaders, died at his home here tonight after a week's illness of bronchial pneumonia in his 84th year. He suffered a general breakdown four years ago.

MRS. ELIZABETH PAVLIK FUNERAL SERVICES HELD

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Pavlik, a pioneer settler in the north shore towns of Kenilworth and Winnetka who died on Saturday, were held yesterday afternoon at the Bohemian National cemetery. Mrs. Pavlik who was 73 years old, died in the St. Francis hospital, Evanston, after a long illness.

With her husband, Frank, who died several years ago, Mrs. Pavlik settled in Winnetka in the early '80s. About 1900 she moved to Kenilworth, where she lived at 562 Green Bay road.

Mrs. Pavlik was survived by her daughter, Mrs. Florence McArthur, and three sons, Frank Jr., George and Roy.

BUILDING SETTLES; PERILS CHILDREN.

The foundation on one side of an unoccupied two story frame building at 1118 South Racine avenue, crumbled yesterday and allowed the building to drop about two feet on that side, endangering children playing about it. The building did not collapse.

SLIGHT EFFECT SEEN FROM AAA 'CROP CONTROL'

Nature Still Is Chief Influence on Prices.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Crop control measures undertaken under the agricultural adjustment program do not appear, after a year of experiment, to have had a material influence on the trend of prices of principal grain crops. The effect of the AAA planning was insignificant last year beside the great drouth which resulted in the greatest crop failure in the country's history. What credit belongs to the AAA for reducing wheat production appears at best a doubtful honor.

The short grain crop of 1934 brought a comparatively high price level last winter. The prospect of good crops this summer has likewise brought a severe downward readjustment of prices.

AAA Effect Meager.

The AAA contribution to the higher prices which were witnessed in recent months was meager nor does it appear that its effect on prices during the next few months will be any greater. The course of grain prices has demonstrated what was known before the AAA was dreamed of—short crops mean high prices and good crops mean low prices.

The President's warning that scrapping of the AAA would mean a return of 36 cent wheat was made after the wheat market had been declining for several weeks notwithstanding the AAA. If present prospects are maintained it appears likely that wheat will be reasonably cheap during the coming season.

If good prospects for the spring crop disappear, wheat is likely to move up again. In neither case is the AAA likely to cut much of a figure.

If an exportable surplus is produced this season it is difficult to see how high prices will benefit farmers. Unless the surplus is sold it is of no worth to anybody.

LARGER CITIES SHOW SALARIES NOT BEING CUT

Of more than 250 cities in the United States having a population of 30,000 or more, 14 reported on March 1 of this year that they had not reduced any salaries since 1930 and 110 reported restoration of salary cuts either in full or in part, according to an announcement just made by the International City Managers' association.

The fourteen cities that have kept the same salary schedules throughout the depression are Baltimore, Md.; Albany and Troy, N. Y.; Miami, Fla.; Reading and York, Pa.; Wilmington, Del.; Council Bluff, Ia.; Newark and Springfield, O.; Oak Park, Ill.; Quincy, Mass., and San José and Santa Monica, Cal.

Seventeen cities whose entire corps of employés are now getting their full-sized pay checks are Boston, Worcester, Brookline and Lynn, Mass.; Philadelphia, Erie and Allentown, Pa.; Fresno, Cal.; High Point, N. C.; St. Louis and St. Joseph, Mo.; Manchester, N. H.; Marion, O.; Pensacola, Fla.; Racine, Wis.; Denver, Colo., and Savannah, Ga.

Six other cities have made full restoration to specific groups of employés and partial restoration of pay-cuts, ranging from 25 to 75 per cent of the original cuts, have been made in 87 cities.

HOLIDAY, NRA UPSET AND RAIN HANDICAP TRADE IN CHICAGO

Business in Chicago last week deviated from its upward trend through the influence of the Decoration day holiday, the NRA decision, and heavy rain, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Adverse weather left the biggest mark on the city's retail trade, the association states, with the expected improvement in sales of summer merchandise failing to materialize. In the wholesale field the NRA situation, with uncertainties of future price trends had a serious effect upon future commitments.

The general opinion seems to be that this unsettled buying attitude will continue until congress adjourns, the association says. Some unrest during the week was also noticeable in the local manufacturing industries, although most concerns indicated their intention of maintaining wages and forces at status quo.

Rents are still stiffening, particularly in the better class neighborhoods and suburbs. Construction of one-family homes in outlying areas is also improving, the association reports.

BLUE STREAK TO ST. LOUIS

Faster Trains Save 9,609 Hours a Year

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Chicago was brought considerably closer to a number of other important middle western cities yesterday when eight railroads made sharp reductions in the running time of their crack trains. These time reductions will result in a saving of approximately 9,609 hours a year for passengers traveling betwen Chicago and St. Louis, Minneapolis and St. Paul, and Duluth and Superior.

The four railroads running between Chicago and St. Louis, the Alton, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Illinois Central, and Wabash put into service trains which reduce the fastest time between the two cities from 6½ to 5½ hours. The Alton is running two 5½ hour trains. This means a saving of 10 hours a day or 3,650 hours a year for the five trains.

Saving to Twin Cities.

Between Chicago and the Twin Cities the North Western has cut 1 hour 50 minutes from the time of the Viking-Mountaineer, a total saving of 1,338 hours, and 2 hours from the time of the southbound North Western Limited, a saving of 730 hours. The Burlington added another Zephyr trip between the two centers, which saves 2,736 hours a year. Before the advent of the Zephys the fastest run was 10 hours 15 minutes and the Zephyr makes it in 6½ hours. The total saving between the two centers thus is 4,804 hours a year.

The North Western looped 1 hour and 10 minutes from the northbound trip of its limited train to Duluth and Superior, making a saving for a year of 730 hours.

Between Chicago and Detroit both the Michigan Central and the Pennsylvania cut the running time of their crack trains, the Twilight Limited and the Detroit Arrow, from 5½ hours to 5 hours, for a total saving of 730 hours.

The Wabash started out its Banner Blue Limited on the St. Louis run with a celebration. Franke Masters, Chicago orchestra leader, cracked a bottle of champagne over the front of the engine, painted a royal blue for the new service, just before it pulled out. The road recently reconditioned three engines at considerable expense for the St. Louis service and painted them blue to match the color of the coaches.

5 Minutes Ahead of Time.

The Alton Limited, which leaves Chicago at 12:30 p. m. standard time, arrived in St. Louis five minutes ahead of time and northbound it came into Chicago two minutes ahead of time. Its afternoon train arrived on time at both cities. Each of the trains averages 54 miles an hour for the 284 mile run.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois train, Century of Progres, came into Chicago four minutes ahead of time.

The Illinois Central's Daylight came into Chicago two minutes ahead of time. This train changes engines at Clinton, Ill., to save seven minutes in refueling and watering.

Officials of all four roads reported that they carried substantial numbers of passengers on the first day of the new fast service.

$245,393,700 HOLC Bonds Reported as Exchanged

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said tonight that $245,393,700 of called Home Owners' Loan corporation 4 per cent bonds have been exchanged for the corporation's new four year 1½ per cent bonds. The new bonds offered in exchange for the $325,000,000 outstanding issue are guaranteed by the government as to both principal and interest.

EXPECT U. S. DEFICIT ON JUNE 30 MAY BE UNDER 3½ BILLION

Washington, D. C., June 2.—[Special.]—The latest estimates indicate that the treasury's deficit at the end of the fiscal year on June 30 may be under $3,500,000,000, as compared with a forecast of $4,869,000,000 made by President Roosevelt in the budget message which he sent to congress in January. Receipts have assumed encouraging proportions and probably will equal or exceed the President's January estimate of $3,711,650,000.

The outflow of funds has been held down in a large measure by the sharp contraction in activities of the Reconstruction Finance corporation which added but $340,450,000 to the expenditures for the fiscal year up to May 29, as compared with $1,430,000,000 in the same period one year ago. On the same date total expenditures were $6,452,900,000 as compared with $6,350,000,000 last year, but the deficit at $3,124,000,000 compared with $3,637,000,000 in the previous fiscal year.

The public debt on May 29 was $28,638,000,000, an increase of $2,480,000,000 from the same day in the previous fiscal year, but $2,448,000,000 under the total which was estimated in the January budget message.

So-called emergency expenditures on May 29 stood at $3,220,000,000, making it apparent that for the full fiscal year they would fall far below the $4,645,000,000 which had been estimated.

EDISON ELECTRIC INSTITUTE OPENS MEETING TODAY

Atlantic City, N. J., June 2.—(AP)—Prominent utility executives from all parts of the country were drawn here tonight to attend the annual convention of the Edison Electric institute and prospects were bright that a vigorous offensive would be launched against critics of the industry during the three days' meeting.

In marked contrast to the complete silence maintained on all questions concerning federal legislation and other matters that were in a formative stage when the institute held its meeting last year, early arrivals were extremely free in discussing the pending Wheeler-Rayburn bill and the Tennessee Valley authority, but preferred to await their turn on the speakers' platform before going on record.

The initial session tomorrow will be devoted principally to technical discussions, including a report on sales promotional problems. During the afternoon Bernard F. Weadock, vice president and managing director of the institute, will address the gathering and the organization's president, Thomas N. McCarter, head of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, will be the speaker at the initial session Tuesday.

URGES TAXES ON TRADE BY ALIENS BE ABOLISHED

New York, June 2.—[Special.]—Nonresident aliens should be made exempt from taxes on profits made through trading in commodities or securities in order to stimulate our trade with other nations and to increase domestic business, according to a report to be presented on Thursday at the monthly meeting of the chamber of commerce of the state of New York.

As a result of the law taxing aliens on their profits in this country, many have transferred their activities to other countries, according to a committee of the chamber which has investigated the effects of the law.

SALES CANCEL LARGE PORTION OF STOCK GAINS

Only Utility Shares Escape Decline.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 2.—Week-end comment by Wall street market students indicates a widespread disposition to view sharp reaction in stock prices which followed the Supreme court's decision invalidating the NRA and all its works as a psychological affair, with the court ruling as an excuse rather than the direct cause of the selling wave.

Proponents of this view point out that the market had been on the advance almost continuously since March 18, having risen a total of 15¾ points to the best figure in some thirteen months. Such a sustained recovery movement, they hold, had carried the list into a technically weak position where a correction of substantial scope was obviously overdue, especially when the backwardness of trade and the threat of widespread crop failures due to drouth and flood in the middle west and south were taken into consideration.

Expect Further Selling.

Some commentators, following this line of reasoning, foresee considerable further selling before the market has established a firm basis for whatever fall recovery there may be in store for it. Others, however, look for some new action on the part of the New Deal, with the customary flurry of speculative buying and a consequent temporary upturn in prices. Rumors that some such development is on the griddle were responsible for the curious little rally in the last few minutes of trading yesterday morning.

Whatever its basic reasons, the shakeout to date has proven one of the most severe the market has been called upon to weather for many months. Starting late Tuesday afternoon, after the speculative fraternity had spent the better part of a day in trying to digest the court's decision and estimate its probable effect, the selling wave had borne the averages down approximately 5 points up to the close of yesterday's abbreviated dealings. This wiped out in a little more than three sessions nearly one-third of the laborious gains run up in the ten preceding weeks.

Only Utilities Escape.

Only the utilities escaped the wholesale liquidation, the secret of their resistance being a belief among power and light corporation executives that the Wheeler-Rayburn holding bill will now be either thrown overboard after other pet reforms of the New Deal or so radically modified as to render it toothless so far as its original purposes are concerned. So hopefully has this opinion been entertained, in fact, that the utility stocks as a group have actually forged ahead, while every other section of the list was giving ground day by day in face of a steady stream of selling orders.

Railroad shares as a division fared somewhat better than the industrials, finishing only a point or so below their closing level for the preceding week.

The rails are pinning strong hopes on the passage of legislation at this session of congress to improve their competitive position and their ability to economize by coöperative action. Delay in the President's transportation message to congress has been a disappointment, but at the same time it has contributed to delay in various bills sponsored by railroad labor and opposed by the carriers.

N. Y. Leaders Urge Wages, Hours Be Held

New York, June 2.—[Special.]—The Merchants Association of New York and the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, through their presidents, today advised employers not to take advantage of the Supreme court's NRA decision to reduce wages and increase working hours.

Louis K. Comstock, president of the merchants' association, counseled the association's members through their official bulletin, "Greater New York," to make no changes in hour or wage schedules until the present industrial situation is clarified.

Lawrence B. Elliman, spoke for the New York State Chamber of Commerce, of which he is president, in a forum discussion with Joseph P. Ryan, president of the Central Trades and Labor Council, and Jacob J. Javits, attorney.

Warns of Strikes.

Mr. Ryan warned that labor "cannot, will not, and should not stand for lowered wages and increased working hours," and that millions of workers would rally to an American Federation of Labor call for a general strike in forty-eight states—a step which, according to Mr. Ryan, labor does not wish to take and which causes labor to "shudder."

Mr. Javits proposed that congress, by legislation, should grant immunity for the anti-trust laws to employers engaged directly or indirectly in interstate commerce who would agree not to engage in specified unfair methods of unfair competition.

"No Hasty Action."

In his statement to members of the merchants' association, Mr. Comstock said:

"It is to be hoped that there will be no hasty action in discarding those features of the NRA which are constructive. The Supreme court decision has given to business the opportunity to prove that, with liberty of action, it will function efficiently and with the best interests of the country in mind. I believe that business will live up to its responsibilities."

RESIDENTIAL BUILDING REPORTED AS MAKING SUBSTANTIAL GAINS

New York, June 2.—(AP)—Residental building showing large gains over a year ago continues to lead all other branches of construction activity, the F. W. Dodge corporation reported today. For the first half of May, according to the corporation's survey, contracts let for residential work were approximately 80 per cent ahead of the total shown in the corresponding period of last year.

For the 37 states east of the Rocky mountains the total of residential construction reported for the first 15 days of May was $22,072,500, compared with $20,610,900 for the first half of April, and $12,421,500 for the first half of May, 1934.

Contracts for all classes of construction, inclusive of residential buildings, amounted to $60,961,300 for the initial half of May as against $61,969,500 for the first half of April, and $67,181,400 for the first 15 days of May, 1934.

The April construction contract volume exceeded the total for March by a small margin. A loss from the volume reported for April of last year was shown, however, due to a falling off in awards under the old PWA program. April contracts totaled $124,098,000 as against $122,940,000 for March and $131,157,000 for April, 1934.

Despite the loss from a year ago in total construction residential building contracts during April, said the corporation, were higher than for any other month since the closing months of 1931. Private construction in April, as apart from public work, made the best showing in more than three years with only one exception.

PWA FINANCING OF SCHOOLS WILL TOTAL $191,000,000

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(AP)—Asserting it is financing most school construction in the country, the public works administration reported tonight that 300 of the 1,000 school buildings it has supplied funds are completed and 400 others are under way.

PWA said the total cost of these will be more than $191,000,000, including 980 grade and high schools and 151 college buildings.

In addition, it said, 162 schools are being built by the office of Indian affairs and other federal agencies at a cost of $13,000,000.

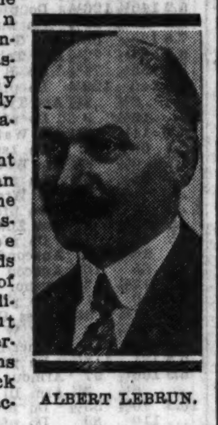
France Ready to Consider Stabilization

REIMS, France, June 2.—(AP)—President Albert Lebrun, voicing for the first time the new "golden franc" government's policy, asserted today France is ready to talk stabilization.



ALBERT LEBRUN.

The President asserted in an address at the national wine festival, "France eagerly defends the principle of monetary stabilization, without which commercial transactions cannot win back their former activity.

"She is ready to engage in conversations to lead back exchanges from a dangerous road. Let us hope that these efforts soon will be crowned with success."

Hopes for stabilization of the franc had often been voiced by ministers in the cabinet of Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin, which fell last week after the chamber of deputies refused to grant the premier dictatorial financial powers to defend the currency.

First Since New Cabinet.

President Lebrun's speech, however, was the first since the cabinet of Fernand Bouisson took office.

United States Ambassador Jesse I. Strauss was present at the wine festival, dedicated this year to champagne. President Lebrun expressed hope that Strauss would keep the interests of this champagne capital in mind during forthcoming Franco-American commercial negotiations.

United States Ready to Talk.

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(AP)—The United States has been placed on record by at least one of its cabinet officers as prepared to talk over such monetary stabilization as was suggested today by President Lebrun at Reims, France.

Secretary Morgenthau enunciated this attitude in a recent radio address in which he said this country was willing at any time to entertain stabilization consideration with other powers. The treasury secretary, however, added that the United States would not initiate a parley of this nature.

CHICAGO FIRMS ASK ROOSEVELT VETO LABOR BILL

Communications were addressed to President Roosevelt last week by 1,005 Chicago companies speaking as individuals and as groups in specialized lines of industry, urging him to veto the Wagner labor disputes bill, the Chicago Association of Commerce has announced.

Thirty-five other major lines of Chicago industry have the anti Wagner bill program of the Association of Commerce under consideration and are expected to announce their stand before the measure leaves the house of representatives at Washington this week, the association stated.

HOLIDAY BRINGS 1½ POINT DROP IN STEEL OUTPUT

Production Falls to 42½% of Capacity.

A decline of 1¼ points to 42½ per cent in steel ingot output last week was due more to the holiday influence than to the Supreme court's decision on the NRA, says the magazine Steel. On the surface, the market was little affected by the decision. Prices, uncontroled for the first time since Aug. 18, 1933, were apparently as steady as any time during the codes, the journal states.

Producers and consumers were keenly alert to potentialities of a suddenly unrestrained market, the review says. "First reaction from buyers was a flood of inquiries for 'real' or inside prices," the journal says. "Some offered to place orders at lower figures. A tempting tonnage of steel sheets was held before a Pittsburgh interest. A few even claimed to have received lower quotations on steel strip.

Believe Changes Inevitable.

"The general opinion is that the industry is about to make certain changes which were considered inevitable in any normal process of recovery, and that these will be completed during the dull summer months, preparatory for a vigorous upturn in the fall. Leading steelmakers now believe that more steel will be made during the last half of the year than in the first."

There was a lighter volume of iron and steel specifications last week, as actual consumer requirements were lower. Automobile assemblies declined 36,000 units to a total of 65,000 for the week, a reduction below that ordinarily attributed to the holiday.

Structural shape awards were down to 5,047 tons, although bids were opened on three western public works projects requiring a total of 25,000 tons. An inquiry by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad for 5,125 freight cars and five locomotives calls for 65,000 tons of steel.

Detail Regional Changes.

The operating rate during the week declined 2 points to 36 per cent at Pittsburgh, 1 to 43 at Chicago, 2 to 48 in Youngstown, and 6 to 62 in Wheeling. In New England, production was up 3 points to 63 per cent, and other districts were unchanged.

Light supplies of scrap have made prices strong, but in beehive coke and coal, where numerous code violations had been reported recently, the price structure is weaker. The magazine's iron and steel price composite has advanced 2 cents to $32.43 a ton, due to a rise in some grades of scrap. The finished steel index is unchanged at $54 a ton and the scrap composite remains at $10.50 a ton.

38 ISSUES ON CHICAGO MARKET NOT REGISTERED

Thirty-eight of the 295 companies listing securities on the Chicago Stock exchange under the temporary registration with the securities and exchange commission failed to apply to the mart for permanent registration by the June 1 deadline last Saturday. Exchange officials said half of the number now have bonds listed and the other half have stock registered.

Of the 257 corporations asking permanent registration, 214 filed on regular forms, while special forms were used by 43. In his annual report Friday, Michael J. O'Brien, president of the Chicago mart, said those to drop from listing represented only 1 per cent of the trading volume.

BANKERS URGE INSURANCE PLAN FEE BE REDUCED

Also Suggest Action on Title II Be Delayed.

New York, June 2.—[Special.]—The New York State Bankers' association sent today to its members a statement of recommendations for changes in the proposed banking act of 1935 calling for a reduction in the amount of the annual fee for deposit insurance and for postponement or modification of title II. of the measure.

The statement, which was prepared by the association's committee on federal legislation, of which George V. McLaughlin, president of the Brooklyn Trust company, is chairman, suggested no changes in title III. of the bill.

Want Assessments Act.

With respect to title I., dealing with deposit insurance, the committee made four recommendations, as follows:

1. The maximum assessment for deposit insurance purposes should be fixed at one-sixteenth of 1 per cent per annum upon total deposits after deduction deposit balances of other banks and of the federal, state, and municipal governments and the instrumentalities thereof.

2. The federal Deposit Insurance corporation should be given discretionary power to fix a lower rate of assessment in any year or to waive or postpone any annual or semi-annual assessment when in its judgment such action is waranted by banking conditions.

Character of Management.

3. The requirement in the original bill that the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, in granting insurance to new banks, give consideration to earnings prospects, character of management, and banking needs of the community [which was eliminated in the house] should be restored.

4. Whenever the funds available for deposit insurance in the hands of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation shall equal or exceed $500,000,000, assessments against insured banks should cease.

In support of these recommendations the committee introduced figures to show that the average net profits of banks of this state, on the basis of operating earnings in 1934, less average net annual losses for the last fifteen years, amount to only .13 per cent, which would leave, after payment of the deposit insurance fee of .125 per cent, virtually nothing for the building up of capital structure of the banks.

Blaw Knox Co. Announces New Construction Division

Blaw Knox of Pittsburgh have just announced that a new division is being formed to be known as the construction equipment division. The new division is a consolidation of the company's several departments now marketing construction equipment and is formed for the purpose of handling more adequately the expected demand from the public works program.

California-Oregon Power.

Investors' Guide: I would be very grateful for any information you could give me on California-Oregon Power 5½s, due 1942.—Miss G. R.

Answer: California-Oregon Power company is an operating unit of the Standard Gas and Electric system. It supplies electricity and some water to about 60 communities in northern California and southern Oregon. The territory is predominantly devoted to lumbering, agriculture, and dairying.

An important division of its business is sale of energy to other utilities under long term contracts.

The margin by which fixed charges has been covered has followed a generally downward trend since 1928. For the twelve months to Feb. 28, 1935, charges were earned 1.27 times. During 1934 they were earned 1.30 times, against 1.32 times in 1933, 1.55 times in 1932, 1.54 times in 1931, and 2.05 times in 1930.

On Dec. 31, 1934, current assets were $1,314,000, and current liabilities were $1,139,000.

The $7,000,000 debenture 5½s, 1942, are the unsecured obligation of the company, subject to $10,560,000 secured liens. About $3,000,000 of the debentures are owned by Standard Gas and Electric. Subordinate lien position and narrowed margin of coverage for fixed charges make the issue more a speculation than an investment.

Producers and Refiners Corporation.

Investors' Guide: Will you please tell me about Producers and Refiners? I do not see it quoted on the exchange any more.—M. L.

Answer: Producers and Refiners corporation was controled by Consolidated Oil corporation. It owed the parent company about $14,000,000, which it could not pay.

It was placed in receivership and its properties were sold at public sale in 1934. They realized about $13,000,000, which was bid by Consolidated Oil.

Since the amount realized was insufficient to pay the company's debts, it appears that the stock is worthless.

American Ship and Commerce.

Investors' Guide: Please let me know what the reason is for the nonappearance of American Shipping Commerce stock on the New York exchange.—T. V.

Answer: Apparently you refer to American Ship and Commerce corporation. In April, 1935, the New York Stock exchange removed the company's no par capital stock from listing on the exchange.

The exchange said that the probability of any equity in the stock was small if reasonable values are assigned to the company's assets [securities of other companies].

BONDS CRUMBLE AFTER DECISION UPSETTING NRA

Industrial Liens Lose Most —Federals Also Sag.

New York, June 2.—(AP)—The bond market was under selling pressure most of last week as traders and investors sought to withdraw from the field until more settled conditions replaced the confusion which followed the downfall of NRA.

Surprisingly calm at first, the market displayed strong resistance to offerings for a time, but finally became jittery when the steady stream of selling orders persisted and utility bonds, the one group that displayed independent strength, became tired and refused to go any higher.

Industrial Bonds Lose Most.

Industrial loans were by far the hardest hit because the companies behind this group of bonds had the largest stake in the NRA deal.

Growing belief on the part of many followers of the fortunes of utility companies that the Wheeler-Rayburn bill would emerge from congress minus some of the provisions that had aroused many of the country's leading power and light executives, was responsible for the revival of interest in this group.

Treasury Adopts New Plan.

The treasury announced an issue of $100,000,000 would be added to the present outstanding 3s and bidders would compete with each other in naming the price above par at which they would buy the bonds. This is the first time such a thing has happened since 1911.

The political and financial crisis in France was reflected in the foreign department to a great extent by a severe drop in the two issues of French government loans traded in on the exchange.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Salesmen.

MEET AMERICA'S MOST OUTSTANDING SALESMAN—T. RUSS HILL—MONDAY, 11 A. M., 3 P. M., OR 6 P. M.—WHO WILL SELECT COMPETENT AND RESPONSIBLE DEALER REPRESENTATION IN THE MIDDLE WEST FOR THIS LARGE INTERNATIONAL COMPANY AND WILL ESTABLISH MEN SELECTED IN A BUSINESS OF THEIR OWN WITHOUT INVESTMENT ON THEIR PART.

We invite sincere men who desire financial independence in the merchandising field to meet Vice President T. Russ Hill, who is directing the sales of this Company internationally to new high levels—giving the public what they want—which includes electrical units that have to do with sanitation, health and better living conditions, air conditioning, priced to sell today; as low as 15c a day.

MAN TO MAN this is not a fly-by-night fooler but a genuine and permanent business for worth while, sound thinking, ambitious men, as these products have been and are being sold to U. S. Government—already in use in the White House, Senate, Bureau of Standards, Coast Guard Stations, governmental hospitals—in fact prominent buildings, institutions, and homes throughout the U. S., Canada, and Europe.

This is the only visit Vice President Hill will make in the middle west for some months to come and he will submit evidence to applicants that will astound and amaze you of the commission profits being paid to our representatives not only in Chicago but all over the world—evidence like the following: W. Metcalf, $1,595 in four consecutive weeks; John Radder, $1,171 in the same four weeks; P. Lecuyer, $1,271 in the same four weeks; H. C. Black, $985 in four weeks.

One new man, J. Terry, earned his first three weeks $336 and has averaged $26 per day for his first sixty-nine days in the business.

Ordinarily a proposition as big as this would require some financial investment or the purchase of expensive equipment in order to start in profitable business of your own, but this Company has found it very profitable to establish their own outlets, financing the business entirely themselves and let their representatives participate in the profits.

Thousands of our representatives are earning in excess of $50 a week, exceptional go-getters have been advanced as rapidly as their ability permitted into responsible assignments which pay them from $8,000 on up to as high as $25,000 a year.

The writer of this ad knows the outstanding sales ability of Russ Hill and believes he is by far the most outstanding authority on present day successful selling available in America. You will feel better for having met this man whether he selects you or not—however, men selected will be invited to a sales lecture that evening which men will attend from all parts of the middle west—any man interested in a job or desiring a better one is a plain "sucker" to pass up this opportunity of meeting real affluence in the sales field.

Apply promptly at 11 A. M., 3 P. M., or 6 P. M., Monday, June 3d, entire 10th floor, 75 E. Wacker-dr., near Michigan. Interviews will be given promptly at the above specified hours.

TRADE SCHOOLS—WOMEN.

would have been your earnings last year had you learned
BEAUTY CULTURE
and received your proportionate share of the $400,000,000 spent by women in the 65,000 Beauty Shops in America.
The quickest and most economical way to get into this profitable business, the third largest in the U. S., is to be PRIVATELY SCHOOLED BY MOLER.
Investigate before State Laws make it more difficult. This good money is not for a chosen few; it's open to any one who will learn.

"Operators Wanted"
Prepare at DeLEE with Mme. Louise
Exclusive beauty shops want operators who have been trained the DeLEE way, under Mme. Louise. Mme. Louise, internationally famous hairdressing and beauty culture expert, will aid personally in training you for a BETTER POSITION and a larger income.
At DeLEE you will find the ideal "setup"—capable instructors who have had years of teaching experience, and up to date 100% equipment. Classrooms are colorful, light, and airy.
A RECOGNIZED SCHOOL.
The DeLEE University of Beauty Culture is the only beauty school which has been permitted to incorporate as a University in Illinois. DeLEE meets all requirements of the Department of Education and Registration. Why be satisfied with an old fashioned "trade school" training when the DeLEE "university type" of schooling is available at no greater cost? Previous experience or a high school education NOT necessary. Day and evening classes. Tuition reasonable and payments can be arranged to suit your convenience.
A visit to DeLEE won't obligate you. It will open your eyes. Come in TODAY.

BURNHAM
(for 64 years the world's largest beauty school)
The easy-to-learn Burnham System quickly enables you to become a skilled beauty operator. Plenty of living models. You learn by doing rather than by studying. Each teacher a specialist. Fewer pupils per teacher. 64 years' knowing how to teach gives you a flying start.
SEE FOR YOURSELF WHY MORE GIRLS ENROLL IN BURNHAM'S THAN IN ANY OTHER BEAUTY SCHOOL.
BURNHAM AWARDS TRIP TO PARIS TO STUDENT. Geneve Huffman, 1601 Thome-av., winner of semi-annual Burnham scholarship for efficiency while in training, sails June 19 on SS. Manhattan with all expenses paid. Burnham's offers opportunities not found elsewhere.
Wonderful opportunity for those who enroll now. Pay for MOST of your tuition after graduating. You can take advantage of many money-saving offers. Our advice to every girl who wants to take up beauty culture is to visit Burnham's NOW. Call, phone or write for Free Beauty Book T. Open every day and on Monday, Wednesday, Friday evenings until 9 p. m.

Search for $200,000 Kidnaping Gang Spreads Over Northwest in One of Greatest U. S. Man Hunts

[Acme Photo.]

RANSOMED BOY SAFE AT HOME—George Weyerhaeuser, kidnaped 9 year old son of Tacoma lumber magnate, smilingly agrees to pose for photographers at family home in Tacoma after his return following payment of $200,000 ransom to gang who held him for 8 days. The abductors were the object of one of the northwest's greatest man hunts yesterday.

TURNS BOY OVER TO PARENTS—John H. Dreher, 40 year Seattle newspaper veteran, who took Weyerhaeuser boy from farmer's car and rushed him home, afterward writing the boy's own account of his experiences with gang.

DRAMATIC HOMECOMING SCENE—George Weyerhaeuser facing throng of cameramen, movietakers and reporters in yard of his father's home in Tacoma on his safe return after 8 day imprisonment by kidnapers, ended by payment of $200,000 ransom. Meantime, authorities are pushing a vigorous manhunt through the northwest.

SELF-ORDAINED CRUCIFIXION—Officers at High Point, N. C., holding up the crude cross upon which J. R. Riggs was nailed by his son, Donald, in the hope that the elder Riggs might win his estranged wife's sympathy.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

HOUSE OF REFUGE—Farmhouse of John Bonifas, father of 10 children, where 9 year old George Weyerhaeuser sought aid after walking for several hours following release near Issaquah, Wash. The chicken rancher fed the boy and then started toward Tacoma with him, turning him over to a reporter before reaching the city.

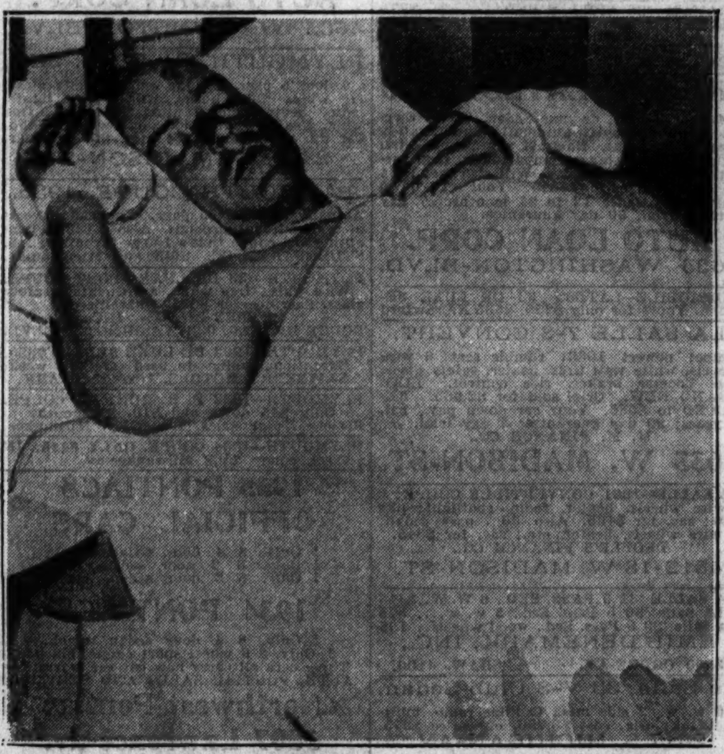
FLASHES WORD—Ernest Blacklund, Renton, Wash., oil station man, who notified police boy was safe.



HIS HOAX IS PAINFUL—J. R. Riggs, 36, of High Point, N. C., in hospital recovering from wounds after having self nailed to cross in desperate attempt to regain wife's love. The crucifixion highly excited the countryside.

TURNS BACK ON FAME—Louis Spiers, woodcutter living near Issaquah, Wash., had a chance to rescue young George Weyerhaeuser after his release by kidnapers, but chased weary boy from his home.

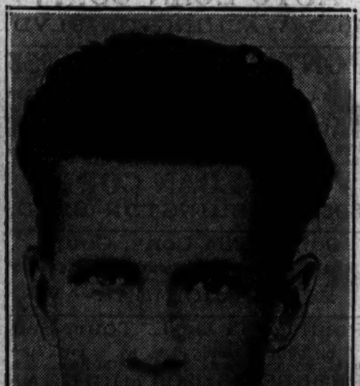
MEMENTO OF $200,000 RANSOM CASE—Ed Walske, gasoline station attendant, shows dollar bill given to him when George Weyerhaeuser bought gasoline for car of farmer who was speeding him homeward. The kidnapers gave the boy the money when they released him.



IN U. S. HANDS—Volney Davis, ex-convict, believed to be man seized by agents here and hustled away by plane.

GROCERY OWNER KILLS ROBBER—Daniel Guskos (left) and Peter Moozikz, owners of grocery at 1143 East 63d street, where youth was shot yesterday in struggle over pint of liquor. Guskos shot intruder after struggle.
